

The greater auricular nerves supply skin over the lower two-thirds of the medial and whole of the lateral aspects of the auricles, mastoid processes, parotid glands and angles of the mandibles.