

The auricular nerve is a branch of the lesser occipital nerve and supplies skin on the upper third of the medial aspect of the ear.