

The ventral rami of C2 to C4 connect with the spinal accessory nerves (XI cranial nerve) via communicating branches located within the sternocleidomastoid muscle, the posterior triangle of the neck and deep to the trapezius muscle.