

The coccygeal plexus arises from a small branch of the ventral ramus of S4 and the ventral rami of S5 and coccygeal. It gives rise to anococcygeal nerves, which pierce the sacrotuberous ligament to supply adjacent skin.