

Intervertebral Foramina

Disease in the region of the intervertebral foramina can cause compression of the emerging nerve roots. The roots can also be compressed at different sites along its path. Presentation of cauda equina or nerve root entrapment will therefore depend in which root is compressed, and where it is compressed.