OUR TENTH ANNIVERSARY YEAR

SEPTEMBER 1979

September Meeting to be Held at Greenbelt Public Library

Our next meeting will be held Wednesday, 5 September, at 7:30 p.m., at the Greenbelt Branch Library, Prince George's County Memorial Library System, 11 Crescent Road, in Greenbelt. Our own Bee Kennard will tell us TALL TALES OF TEXAS GENEALOGY.

Because we have been unable to obtain suitable arrangements at Prince George's Community College for the coming year, we will be meeting at the Library for at least the next four months. The Library is centrally located, near the Beltway, and has a large meeting room and convenient parking. Our seminars were held there last May and June, and attracted 75 to 80 people each night.

If you are not familiar with the Greenbelt area, the easiest way to get to the Library is as follows: Get off the Beltway at Exit 28 (Kenilworth Avenue/Route 201)-one exit west of the Baltimore-Washington Parkway. Go north on Kenilworth Avenue to the first traffic light, then turn right. That puts you on Crescent Road. Stay on Crescent for a mile and a half (through one four-way-stop intersection). The library is on the right hand side of the street. Parking is allowed on the street and in the lighted lot behind the building. The meeting room is on the lower level of the building.

MEET - - - - - - BEE KENNARD

Our featured speaker at the September meeting is Bee Kennard, a tall Texan with Maryland roots. After modestly conferring the name of Beeville on the place of her birth, she removed to the Rio Grande valley where she was reared by her paternal grandparents, the Rev. and Mrs. George Shelby Kennard.

Reverend Kennard built the First Baptist Church in Edinburg, Texas. He and his family came to the Lone Star State during World War I, after he had held pastorates in Kentucky and Virginia. Both of Bee's grandparents hailed from Arkansas, and their meeting at Eureka Springs in 1887 was a "mutual experience of love at first sight."

Fort Hoyle, Maryland, on the Gunpowder River, was the home grounds of Bee's KENNARD ancestors. Her fifth great-grandfather Michael KENNARD was born 19 April 1744 at Havre de Grace, the son of Nathaniel KENNARD who emigrated from Ulster around 1740. Michael KENNARD lived in Harford County amidst his wife's kinfolk, descendants of Captain Anthony DREW, Gentleman Justice of Baltimore County in 1696, and Col. Nathaniel UTIE, the developer and colonizer of the head of Chesapeake Bay. After the Revolutionary War, Michael and Johanna (DREW) KENNARD with their ten children moved to Duplin Co., North Carolina, and thence over the mountains to middle Tennessee.

FROM BILL MILLER - - -

We welcome all of you back for another exciting genealogical year in your Society. And we are indeed starting off with a bang.

Elsewhere in this issue of the BULLETIN you will find the details about our Tenth Anniversary Celebration, including our Reception on September 15 and our Forum on September 22; our next Seminar series at the Hyattsville Library in October and November; and our new meeting place, at least through the end of the year.

Celebrating a tenth anniversary is always an exciting event, but with our membership now approaching 300, we should especially enjoy it because of our remarkable growth and accomplishments in this relatively short time. Ann Lawrence and her committee, assisted now for the Forum by Freeman Morgan, have done a really fine job, and I know you will all want to support both events with your presence if you possibly can. Both will be memorable, and you will be glad you came. It takes a certain amount of courage to plan an event with paid speakers from out-of-town, such as this Forum, and we have counted on an almost full house to balance the budget. You will be getting an unusual value for your registration fee. The speakers are all excellant, and they will give you hard information to assist you in your personal research, wherever you are working on the Frontier areas. A real highlight of the day should be the panel discussion moderated by our own Milton Rubincam to close the day. Don't miss any of the day's activities!

Our Seminar series at Crofton and Greenbelt libraries in June were very successful, and we have been asked to return next to Hyattsville Library where we held our first Seminar series four years ago. This time we are adding another talk, to make a six-part event, counting the closing workshop. Full details in the next BULLETIN, and at the October meeting we will have flyers for you to help distribute. Donald Barnes has accepted the chairmanship of the Seminar Committee and is doing a great job.

The Council decided at its July meeting that we should try some other meeting places for awhile, and for September through December Kay Mayhew has scheduled us to meet at the Greenbelt Library, where our own Don Wilson holds forth. We will have use of the meeting room until 10:30 for a very nominal charge for the custod-ian's time in locking up after us. (He normally would leave at 9:30.)

Finally, let me report on the One-to-One Sessions we have held at six of the area libraries during the summer. Attendance has varied greatly, but in general they have been well attended. The Library System's publicity department had been successful in getting considerable newspaper, radio, and even TV advertising for us. Thanks to our numerous volunteers who have conducted these sessions, it appears that we have helped a lot of individuals with their personal research and that a number of new memberships for the Society will result.

* * * * * * * *

Your new editor is pleased to report that he has recently been hired by the Prince William County Public Library, Manassas, Virginia, to develop a local history and genealogy collection. How this move will affect my ability to continue editing the BULLETIN remains to be seen, although I expect to continue living within the Metropolitan Washington telephone region. Further reports as they become available.[DLW]

SPECIAL EVENTS PLANNED IN HONOR OF OUR TENTH ANNIVERSARY

In celebration of ten years of growth and accomplishment, the Prince George's County Genealogical Society is hosting a series of special events during the month of September.

To kick off the new season, our REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING will be held Wednesday 5 September at the Greenbelt Library. See page 1 for details.

A gala RECEPTION will be held Saturday, 15 September, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. at the Bowie Branch Library, 15210 Annapolis Road (Route 450), Bowie, Maryland. This is the site of many of our regular meetings over the past several years. Past officers of our society and other genealogical notables have promised to come in order to meet our members and to renew æquaintanceships. Current officers will display and describe what activities they are involved in. This event is free and open to the public. Refreshments will be served. Parking is ample.

Donald Ray Barnes, past Editor of the BULLETIN is preparing a special anniversary issue, expected to come off the press sometime this month, preserving several memorable lectures given before our society during the past season.

Finally, the culmination of this planning, is our TENTH ANNIVERSARY FORUM, to be conducted Saturday, 22 September, at the University of Maryland's Center of Adult Education. Distinguished authorities on pioneer migration patterns will speak and participate in a panel discussion. If you have any ancestors who left the eastern colonies heading for the frontier after the Revolutionary War, the speakers at the program should prove enlightening. Registration for this all-day session, including buffet luncheon, costs $15.00, but the discount price to paid members of PGCGS is only $12.00. See details and application blank on enclosed flyer. Please send your registration as soon as possible; deadline is 12 September.

Join us in this celebration of our TENTH ANNIVERSARY. You will be glad you came!

HAVE YOU PAID YOUR DUES?

Annual dues for 1979-80 are due now. As announced in the June BULLETIN, the rate is now $6.00 for individuals and $9.00 for couples (one BULLETIN).

Several payments have since been received at the old rates. This is the first increase in dues we have had in ten years, and is made necessary by increased printing and postage costs and other factors related to inflation.

To assure that you will continue to receive all regular publications, please be sure your dues are paid in full.

BOOK REVIEW

By Shirley Langdon Wilcox, C.G.

DESCENDANTS OF CALEB WRIGHT, 1760-1974, by F. Edward Wright. Published by Family Line, 13405 Collingwood Terrace, Silver Spring, MD 20904. c1979. 279pp. $22 hardback, $16 softcover. A gift of the author to the Society.

The author traces four distinct Wright families, the bulk of the material being on the descendants of Caleb Wright as the title implies. Caleb, son of the immigrant tailor, Joseph Wright, was born ca. 1760 and lived in Caroline Co., MD, most of his life and was married ca. 1790 to Deborah H. Morgan.

Part two covers the Wrights of Bloomery which the author has published previously. This section on the genealogy of Richard Henry Wright was included because he was married to Mary Ellen, a granddaughter of Caleb Wright. Also included in this section is data on Richard Wright's mother who was the daughter of Jacob Wright.

The last group of Wrights is found in the appendix. This family, which came from Delaware around 1865, is of interest because two of the sons married into the Mary (Wright) Todd family, Mary being a daughter of Caleb Wright. The appendix will also be of interest to readers as transcriptions of some early wills and deeds are given. Early photographs throughout the book add to its interest and attractiveness. An index facilitates use of the book. As with any genealogy, readers should verify the data presented. The author realizes errors may occur and asks that when found they be communicated to him.

Today's chuckle

Aunts, uncles, and grandparents become greater with each successive generation, but cousins get removed.

Prince George's County Parish Registers Published

The Prince George's County Historical Society recently announced publication of records from the parish registers in four early Anglican churches in Prince George's County. Prince George's County, Maryland, Indexes of Church Registers, 1686-1885, contains, in an alphabetic arrangement, information from King George's (St. John's), Queen Anne's, St. Paul's, and Prince George's Parishes, as compiled by Helen W. Brown and Louise J. Hienton. This work has heretofore been available only in a few carbon copies.

Published as a two-volume, softcover set, the price is $20.00 from THE PRINCE GEORGE'S COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY, P.O. Box 14, Riverdale, MD, 20840. Availability of copies is limited, since the Historical Society's announcement says that only orders received before August 20 can be guaranteed a copy. If interested you should order immediately.

WINNERS OF GENEALOGY Contest Announced

Miss Helen E. Davis of Newtown, Pennsylvania has been awarded first prize in the Parker Genealogy Contest for her entry, Kindred: Davis-Stanbury Lines. Romaine S. Somerville, Director of the Museum and Library of Maryland History, Maryland Historical Society, announced the winners of the contest, which has been held annually since 1946.

Mrs. Ethel I. Harryman of Douds, Iowa was awarded second prize for her work, Elijah Harryman, His Descendants and Ancestral Background, 1661-1977.

The Parker Contest, administered by the Maryland Historical Society, offers prizes for the best published genealogy of a Maryland family.

After six years of Army life, Bee returned to Texas and graduated from the University of Texas at Austin in August 1947, with a double major in history and English. Then, courtesy of Uncle Sam, she embarked on a grand tour of Europe, while working as a research analyst with G2 (Intelligence, allegedly), the U.S. Forces in Austria. Those far away places with the strange sounding names kept her going for seven years.

Following the signing of the Austrian Peace Treaty, Bee landed back in New York in September 1955, worked with G2, 3d Army, Atlanta, for four years, and finally transferred to NSA (National Security Agency) in October 1959. For almost 20 years she has resided in Laurel, Maryland, where she is the librarian of the Laurel Presbyterian Church and president of the Laurel Branch of the American Association of University Women.

Bee retired from the federal government with 28 years of service in April 1976 and launched her own Bicentennial project, "the pursuit of genealogical happiness." Her observation: "In tracing my family tree I have learned not only my own family history but also my country's history. It's a fascinating tale, a never-ending story. I shall have to write a book."

FROM BILL MILLER - - -

Sorry about that! We really meant to have a great kick-off in September. For those of you that did not get to the Greenbelt Library at all on September 5, we started our meeting with about thirty hardy souls who had braved the elements, but at about a quarter to eight the electrical power went off and stayed off. We had to leave by the light of emergency exit lights and flashlights. We were there long enough to tell that the facilities there at the Greenbelt Library should do nicely, and we are expecting a big crowd of members and guests at the October meeting.

You have a fine set of officers to help me this year again, but we need more volunteers to help them on the committees where the real work gets done. As we start our eleventh year, let us resolve to accomplish more than we have any previous year! There is much to be done. Below is a list of the officers and their phone numbers for your convenience in volunteering. Don't wait to be asked. You know what you can do. Give one of them a call today!

SEMINAR SERIES TO BE HELD, 10 OCT.-17 NOV. AT HYATTSVILLE LIBRARY

As in the past we are offering a seminar in beginning genealogy. In an effort to better serve the public we are adding a lecture this year: Using the National Archives, and extending the sessions by one-half hour. These changes have been approved to more fully cover the records available at the National Archives, to give each lecturer more time for his/her presentation and to allow more time for questions.

Ann Walcher Wellhouse will begin the program with How to Begin, replacing Barbara Crissey Dash. We are sorry that Barbara had other committments but thank her for the many times that she has done it in the past. Bill Miller will offer the session on Using the National Archives. The rest of the lecturers will remain the same. The workshop will be Saturday, 17 Nov., 9 a.m.-12:30 p.m. See me at the Oct. meeting if you can assist. [Schedule of classes on next page.]

Additional Directions to Greenbelt Library

The directions to the Greenbelt Library given in the September BULLETIN were intended to prevent anyone from getting lost in trying to reach the Library: North on Kenilworth Avenue to Crescent Road, then one and a half miles east to the Library, at 11 Crescent Road.

An alternate route is perhaps a bit shorter from most places, but also more confusing if you are unfamiliar with it: For persons traveling on the Baltimore-Washington Parkway or the Washington Beltway, get off at the Greenbelt Road exit (exit 29 North from the Beltway). Then go west on Greenbelt Road over the Parkway and turn right at the first traffic light. That puts you on Southway. Stay on Southway to the second stop sign, then turn left onto Crescent. The Library is a block away on the right hand side. Simple enough?

LIBRARIES CHANGE HOURS

THE D.A.R. LIBRARY, reportedly due to budget problems, has been forced to reduce the number of days they are open. Until October 31, the Library will be closed Mondays of each week. It will continue to be open Tuesdays through Fridays, 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Fees charged non-members are $1.00 per day or for any portion thereof.

THE MARYLAND STATE LAW LIB-RARY, 361 Rowe Boulevard, Annapolis, announces that, beginning October 6, they will expand their hours to include Saturday openings. Their hours will be: Mon.-Wed. and Fri. 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m., Thurs. 8:30 a.m.-9 p.m., and Sat. 9 a.m. -4 p.m. In addition to law materials, they have historical, GPO, and genealogical publications.

BALTIMORE DIRECTORIES AVAILABLE

The Hyattsville Branch Library, 6530 Adelphi Road, has recently added microfilm copies of Baltimore City Directories, 1863-1881, to their holdings.

MINUTES OF THE PRINCE GEORGE'S COUNTY GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY MEETING 5 September 1979

The meeting was called to order at 7:40 p.m. by the President at Greenbelt Public Library. The only correction to the published 6 June 1979 minutes was a typographically added "y" to "account" on page 7 in the last line of the first paragraph. At the President's request, the Secretary read a complimentary letter from Mr. Daniel Schnurr regarding the Crofton Library seminars. Treasurer Ken Clagett reported a checking account balance of $698.56 and savings account balance of $1,785.06, totaling $2,483.62. Also he reported that only 129 members have paid their dues for the 1979-80 fiscal year, out of 282 listed members.

Routine committee reports were given and of interest:

The President requested members be aware of the Society's missing publicity notebook, apparently lost at Bowie City Hall during the 2 May 1979 meeting.

There have been requests for the name of any local organization whose purpose is aiding adopted adults searching for their ancestors through their birth parents. Freeman Morgan suggested checking with National Genealogical Society.

A summary of the 11 July 1979 Council meeting was given by the President.

General meetings of the Society will be held during October, November and December at the Greenbelt Library.

The next Council meeting will be held on 26 September 1979 at 8:00 p.m. at Bill Miller's house.

Don Wilson, Editor of the BULLETIN, requested that all corrections to the recently published Index be referred to him.

Due to a power failure because of flooding caused by Hurricane David, the meeting was adjourned early at 8:15 p.m.

The Society is a non-profit Educational and Cultural Organization, classified by the Internal Revenue Service as 501/c3. Gifts, contributions, endowments and bequests are tax deductible. Unless otherwise instructed, all correspondence, contributions and genealogical materials should be sent to P.O. Box 819, Bowie, MD 20715.

DONALD BARNES TO SPEAK AT NOVEMBER MEETING

Our meeting at the Greenbelt Public Library, Wednesday, November 7, at 7:30 p.m., features Donald Ray Barnes, C.G., who will explain how to use Chancery Court Records in tracing your ancestry.

Don is a Past President of our Society, was editor of the BULLETIN last year, and has just completed SPECIAL BULLETIN SUPPLEMENT NO. 1, which is enclosed with this issue. He will also speak at our Seminar series at Hyattsville on November 14, his topic then being a general overview of courthouse records.

Living in northern Montgomery County, Md., with his wife and three children, he is also active in that county's fledgling genealogical society. In addition he operates a professional genealogical research service, specializing in the records of the District of Columbia and Maryland. In his "spare time" he teaches genealogical courses for Montgomery County Public Schools.

Does he find any time to do genealogical research for himself? you might well ask. Actually, he has made several discoveries recently, including one that pushed his BERRY and STEPHENS lines back into the colonial period in King George and Westmoreland counties, Virginia.

He considers chancery court records one of the most valuable sources for proving lineages. His talk applies to records available in courthouses everywhere, not just Maryland, although the name of the record may vary from place to place. When you come, be prepared to take notes.

SPECIAL BULLETIN SUPPLEMENT IS FINALLY OFF THE PRESS

Enclosed with this BULLETIN you will find our first SPECIAL BULLETIN SUPPLEMENT, the brain-child of Past Editor Don Barnes, and the culmination of over six months of work by many members of our Society.

Shirley Wilcox's paper on HOW TO BECOME A CERTIFIED GENEALOGIST was originally given at our November 1978 meeting. She leaves tips on not only how to become Certified, but how hire a genealogist.

Olive Jones spoke to our group in March about MARYLAND RESEARCH. Her talk includes information that is valuable not only for persons with Maryland ancestry, but for those who live in this region and want to use its resources to seek ancestry elsewhere.

Milton Rubincam's exceptionally thorough analysis of genealogical records in Ontario should help anyone with a Canadian connection.

FROM BILL MILLER - - -

Thanks to all of you who attended our Tenth Anniversary events, the Reception on September 15 and the Forum on September 22. We are sorry that only a few of the special guests the Committee had invited to the Reception were able to come. Especially did we miss George Ely Russell, newly retired from his former work and now a full-time genealogist, the first President of this Society. George did send his best wishes and his regrets that he could not join us. Special thanks are due Mrs. Emerald Miner, who personally made the beautiful cake which you will be partaking of at the next several regular meetings; to Ann Lawrence who served as Committee Chairperson; and to Kay Mayhew who managed the Reception itself. All the officers were involved in one way or another, and many others; so I'll not try to name them all.

The Forum, with its three excellent talks by Robert Clay, Carol Flavell, and John Coddington and its panel discussion moderated by our own Milton Rubincam, was first-class all the way, and we have heard nothing but words of praise from those who attended. Even the speakers themselves apparentlh enjoyed themselves considerably. While they were doing so, the rest of us were learning much valuable material from them. Attendance at the Forum was almost eighty, and financially it made a few dollars. Since it was planned as an educational event in celebration of our tenth anniversary and not as a fund raiser, it was highly successful in that it did not cost our treasury anything. It even paid for the cost of the Reception and still made something.

Now let us move oninto the next decade. As our membership approaches 300, which is a very large number for a County genealogical society, it becomes more difficult to involve all members and to meet their needs. We know that we could do a better job and will be wrestling with the problem. One of the ways we can do a better job is to have the suggestions and help of the newer members. You know that we want you to volunteer to work on our committees, and they all need help; but even if you are not able or ready to do that, you have ideas for how we can do a better job, and we sincerely want those ideas. Please do communicate them to us at your earliest convenience!

PREFACE

On the occasion of our tenth anniversary year we thought it fitting to publish three of the outstanding talks presented to our Society during the year. Accordingly, we offer SFECIAL BULLETIN SUPPLEMENT NO. 1, which we trust will be the first in a long line of publications.

It is our goal in future special bulletin supplements to offer previously unpublished genealogical material on Marvland research, as well as some of our excellent talks presented during the year. In this way our out-of-town members may benefit more fully than has been possible heretofore.

I wish to thank our speakers for generously offering their material, and Donald Wilson, Freeman Morgan, and my wife, June, for their invaluable assistance and support in preparing this material for publication.

Your comments will be appreciated and will influence us on future publications.

HOW TO BECOME A CERTIFIED GENEALOGIST by Shirley Langdon Wilcox, C.G. Transcribed from a tape made by Bill Taylor, and edited for publication

The Board of Certification for Genealogists was incorporated in June 1964, the purpose being to formulate standards for genealogists and to establish a register of persons who would be willing to do research for a fee for others. Originally this was confined only to researchers who were willing to do research in American genealogy; since that time it has been expanded to include Canadian genealogy. There are three categories, one being the certified genealogist, and this person puts the C.G. after their name; another category is for certified American lineage specialist; that person is allowed to put C.A.L.S. after their name; and the third category is for certified American record searchers, and they put C.G.R.S. after their name. So if you have seen these abbreviations and were not quite sure what they stood for, that is what it is all about.

If you are interested and decide to apply, there is a $10 application fee. The term for certification is for five years. At that point if you care to continue in that capacity you must renew your certification. At the time that you make your application you are asked some very basic questions such as your genealogical research experience, any genealogist training that you've had (have you taken any genealogical courses for instance), your education (let me note, though, that you do not have to have a college degree for instance, but this is one of the questions asked); have you published anything, and once again it is not mandatory that you have had an article published somewhere, but this is a question that is asked. And they also ask for references of persons for whom you have done work.

The person receiving certification, if they desire to renew after the five-year time period, can change their designation from one designation to another. You can begin as a certified record searcher and five years later change to a certified lineage specialist or a certified genealogist, or the other way around; you can become certified as a certified genealogist and then later change to be a certified record searcher. The certified genealogist is one who should be able to start with a person and develop the lineage backwards and make a complete genealogy, whereas the records searcher (this does not mean the person is not capable of it), but the records searcher's job is to research a particular record for a client with the client directing how the research should proceed, whereas the certified genealogist is more on their own in deciding what records should be searched. The most demand, the area where most people are needed, is in the field of record searching, because as you know there are places where it is impossible to go yourself, the records have not been microfilmed and you need some help and you want someone to search the records for you. If you know they have been certified you know and can expect that they will do a good and accurate job for you. I don't think there should be a hierarchy, and you shouldn't feel that just because someone is a

C.G. that they are better or know more than someone who is a C.G.R.S. for instance. I think people tend to think along this line and it should not be that way. I'd also like to say too, that there are plenty of people in the field of genealogy who are just as capable as the people who have their C.G. standing, but don't care to do work professionally, and therefore get this rating. It seems like when I received my C.G. everybody thought I was an authority on everything, and we have loads of people in our Society who know just as much as I do, and in a lot of areas they may know more than I do. Just because you have passed certain specifications it doesn't mean that other people can't do just as well; I'm not an authority on anything.

If you are interested in becoming certified yourself, the executive secretary of the Board of Certification, said that at the present time it takes about three or four months for processing, from the time you send in your forms and you receive word from the board as to whether or not you are accepted. After you have paid your ten dollar application fee and obtained your application, and that formality has been accepted, you are then asked to send in the fee which covers the five years. For the certified genealogist the fee is 100; for the lineage specialist the fee is 75 and for the record searcher it is 50. This fee is not refundable should they turn down your application; at one time it was; it no longer is.

The material you are asked to submit is sent to a qualified judge, who looks over the material and writes a critique. It comes back to the executive secretary. If for any reason the material coming back to the executive secretary says absolutely no, she will then mail it back to you, giving you an idea of where the problem is and allowing you to correct it, before it goes on to further judges. The material is viewed by three people, I believe, so this gives you a second chance. You then have a chance to make amends and make any corrections if the first material that you sent was not acceptable. The material that you submit as part of the requirements for a certified genealogist must be in a format similar to what it would be if you were to publish a genealogy. In other words, you cannot submit family group sheets. You need to know how to write up a genealogy as it would be should it appear in a publication.

The requirements for the original application and for renewal are the same. To become a certified genealogist you have to submit a copy of a documented genealogical work you have prepared during the past five years, preferably a prepared multi-generation study; you must submit samples of analytical work and a statement explaining the kind of work you have done. The second requirement is that you submit copies of reports made to three different clients or a recent publication or manuscript. The third requirement is to abstract a document which they send out to you. The certified American lineage specialist must submit copies of six lineage papers which they have prepared during the past five years with full documentation, they are to indicate if photocopies of original source material were unavailable, the exact nature of the material used, and they also are asked to abstract a document that was sent out to them. Those applying for, certified genealogical record searcher are asked to submit copies of reports made to three different clients and they are also asked to abstract a document. The genealogists are also asked, after they are accepted, to subscribe to the genealogists code which sets down in black and white very common courtesies and playing by the rules type of thing.

There are at the moment about 625 persons within the three different categories. The executive secretary, Donna Hotaling, said that within the next month or so there should be an additional, perhaps 50, added to the three categories. It has been expanding very rapidly within the last year. Those 625 certified persons break down into about 200 who have been certified as certified genealogists, 77 who have been certified as lineage specialists, and 350 who have been certified as record searchers, and I believe I mentioned before that the category for which there is the most need is the record searcher.

If you are interested not from the end that you want to become a certified person, but that you want to hire someone to check some records for you because you cannot get to that area yourself, I'd like to remind you to use common courtesy and enclose a selfaddressed, stamped envelope (SASE). According to Mrs. Hotaling, if you don't receive a reply and you didn't put this SASE in, that may be why. Some searchers receive so many inquiries, that if you have not shown enough courtesy to put this SASE in you may not receive a reply. She said that at the present time businesses estimate that the average cost of a typed letter is $6.00 so that when the person responds to you just answering your letter, it costs them $6.00 and they are not receiving any pay for it. A lot of people do shop around for someone, and that is fine, but do have the courtesy to put in your stamped envelope. I'll give you the board's address if you care to write to them and ask for further information: Board of Certification for Genealogists, 1307 N.H. Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Summary of Answers to questions:

When you send in the required multi-generation study you do not need to send in photocopies of the actual proof. You need only to cite your sources just as you would if you were writing an article for publication. If there were some reason to suspect fraud, they could come back and ask for that type of proof, it is assumed, but this would not normally be required.

Researchers specializing in a non-state category such as Quakers or German Americans, are not listed as such on the list put out by the board. It might be possible to write and inquire if the executive secretary or board could recommend a researcher. The list put out by the board is for U.S. and Canadian researchers and the listings are by state. For instance if you need some research done in Alabama you look under that state for names of persons who either live in Alabama or have knowledge of that area and are willing to do research there.

RESEARCHING IN MARYLAND AND A FEW TIDBITS MORE

By Olive Kniesche Jones March 1979

For researching in Maryland, there are several places where primary sources of information can be found, besides the local county courthouses. Outstanding among these is the Hall of Records, on the St. John's College Campus in Annapolis. It was created in 1934 as an agency of the State of Maryland as part of the celebration of the 300th anniversary of the founding of Maryland. By law, all state records created prior to April 28, 1788 were required to be sent to them. In return, the counties were given photostat or microfilm copies of the records. Thus you can refer to these early documents either at the Hall of Records or at the local courthouse of your particular interest. Since then almost all wills and deeds up to 1850 have been microfilmed -- in fact many up to a much later date have been done -- either through the microfilm project of the Mormon Church or by state financing. The book, The County Court-houses and Records of Maryland, Part II, the Records, is an excellent guide for locating the various records either at the Hall of Records or at the local county courthouses. Bulletin # 17, "A Guide to the Index Holdings at the Hall of Records", is also quite helpful. (It is now being revised and updated.)

The Circuit Court has charge of land records, and also has such records as: mortgage records, descent records (commissions to divide estates), plat books, court minutes, judgments, criminal dockets, bond records, equity records, divorces, insolvent records, naturalizations, marriage licenses, poll books, manumissions, Certificates of Freedom, slave statistics (which was a register of slaves in each county as of Nov. 1, 1864), and original papers.

Basic records of the Orphan's Court include Orphan Court Proceedings, Orphan Court Dockets, Administration Dockets, wills, Administration Bonds, Letters Testamentary, Letters of Administration, inventories, Account of Sales, Administration Accounts, distributions, Releases, Equity records, indentures, Certificates to Free Negroes.

Two sets of probate records, theoretically identical, have been preserved from the Colonial period. These papers, filed with the Deputy Commissary for the county, were to be forwarded to the capital where they were recorded in the records of the Prerogative Court. In 1776 the first Maryland State Constitution abolished the Prerogative Court and the General Assembly of 1777 provided for an Orphan's Court for each county presided over by a Register of Wills. After the Revolutionary War, the General Assembly ordered the original documents of the Prerogative Court sent to the county of origin and there to be recorded by the Register of Wills. Thus two sets of probate records were created for the Colonial period. There is a card file index at the Hall of Records titled "Probate Records" in which the "Index to Testamentary Proceedings" contains every name found in the records of the Prerogative Court. There is another card file index for the central agency Colonial Probate records. The names on the cards are those of decedents, except for Accounts, where there are also some cards naming Executors and Administrators.

You must keep in mind when using these records, there were only sixteen counties in Maryland in 1777. The other seven counties and Baltimore City were formed from these. You must search the files of the parent county to find the needed records. Fires in several courthouses have destroyed many records. Having this double set of probate records has preserved these records of our Colonial period, whereas many, such as the land records, have been totally destroyed in these disasterous fires. Colonial inventories, listed the personal property of the deceased, which in early Maryland, were signed by "the two persons nearest of kin." It is often quite possible to find a clue to family relationships through this. In the "Balance of Final Distribution Books" for the period 1751-1777, you can sometimes find all of the heirs listed.

The land records are among the most valuable records for a genealogist. The Early Settlers Index refers to patent records which contains most of the names of early Maryland immigrants. Warrants, Assignments, and Certificates are also to be found at the Hall of Records. They are indexed either on cards or in each volume.

Since the proprietary form of government for Maryland required the payment of land rent, the records of these payments is recorded in the Rent Rolls. They are recorded by tract names in each county. The Debt Books list the names of owners, name of tract, and acreage. The land records recorded by the Clerks of the Court for the various counties and Baltimore City are at the Hall of Records through 1949, either in the original or on microfilm.

Marriage licenses were required in Maryland as early as 1777. However, "Marriage by Banns" (i.e., notice of marriage given in church, without securing license) was permitted as late as 1941. Up until 1890 these marriages did not have to be reported to the state. Marriages are recorded in the records of the Clerk of the Circuit Court of the county where the marriage took place. The license must be secured in the same county where the marriage is to be performed. Not all the records were preserved, so if you cannot find a particular record, it does not necessarily mean your ancestors were living in sin, give them the benefit of the doubt and continue looking. Official state records (i.e., Bureau of Vital Statistics) for marriages did not begin in Maryland until 1951.

Other vital statistics such as birth and death records do not officially begin until 1898, except for Baltimore City, which are supposed to start in 1875. However, many were not recorded, since the law was not enforced. It was not until 1914 that state-wide recording of these vital records really began. Some counties have birth and death records beginning in 1865 and then continuing for anywhere from two to 20 years. Charles, Kent, Somerset and Talbot counties have birth and death records from the mid 1600's and continuing for 25 or more years. All the counties had the same laws governing recording of these records, but not all the records have survived. One of the few places to find early vital records is in the various church registers. The Hall of Records has since 1950 had an ongoing program to try to assemble as many of these church records as possible. Very few are indexed or alphabetically arranged, but with a lot of diligent searching you may be well rewarded.

Another area of search at the Hall of Records which might prove beneficial is in the Military Service Records. Most of this type of information is at the National Archives, but the Hall of Records does have a card file and accounts of pay for the Colonial Wars (1732-1772); the Revolutionary War (1775-1795), and the War of 1812, with the index covering the years 1794-1824.

Other good places to search are the Census of 1776, Census of 1778, Assessments of 1783 and the Oaths of Fidelity taken in 1778. These are all indexed in card catalogues at the Hall of Records.

A second outstanding place for researching is the Maryland Historical Society in Baltimore. It was founded in 1844. Its library has many outstanding features, including a large collection of genealogies, much genealogical data such as births, deaths, and marriages from newspapers indexed in the Dielman File. The Wilkins File is a large collection of genealogical notes collected and filed by Mr. William Wilkins. Altogether they have approximately 70,000 books, 1,400 bound volumes of Maryland newspapers, almost two million manuscripts, and 1,400 rolls of microfilm. They have many transcripts of church records, compiled from the original records by various people. They also have Baltimore City Directories 1796-1964. (See Mary K. Meyer: "Genealogical Research in Maryland -- A Guide," 1976.)

Nearby is the Peabody Library, located at 17 E. Mount Vernon Place. It is operated as a branch of the Enoch Pratt Free Library. They have about 275,000 books. An outstanding feature is their collection of British county histories and parish registers, one of the largest in the United States. So you may not have to go to New York or London for your English data -- it may be right in Baltimore.

Another library with a good collection of genealogical material is the Maryland State Library in Annapolis. Although primarily a law library, they have a wonderful collection of history books covering most states; also maps, newspapers, and a microfilm collection. One book there titled Newspaper and Newspaper Men of Maryland, Past and Present, published in 1905, tells the history, owners names, and policies of the various newspapers which have been published in Maryland. The first paper to appear in Maryland was the "Maryland Gazette" first published in August 1727. Only 20 copies are known to exist, all of which belong to the Maryland Historical Society. After a few years publication was discontinued until publication resumed in 1745. Previous to the Gazette only five papers had been published in all of the colonies. 6

The second paper published in Maryland was the "Maryland Journal and Baltimore Advertiser" which was first issued August 20, 1773. This was the lineal predecessor of the "Baltimore American", which is still published in Baltimore. This book has Newspaper--Editor and/or Press Associations, names of newspapers published throughout the state, where published and the dates. For instance, the Peninsula Press Association which began in 1875 lists many newspapers for Delaware and the Eastern Shore. Among the original newspapers bound into books and on the shelves at the Maryland State Library are "Baltimore Gazette" 1729-1837; "Maryland Republican" 1835-1840; "The Fredericktown Herald" 1802-1804; "The Sun" (of Baltimore), from the first publication Nov. 17, 1837 to Dec. 31, 1885; "National Intelligencer" (first Washington, D.C. paper) 1819-1852; "Albion" (of New York City) 1827-1853; "Aurora" (of Philadelphia) 1807-1811, and "Richmond Inquirer" 1823-1830.

On microfilm, they have the Baltimore Sun from its first publication to the present; "The Virginia Gazette" 1736-1780, and the "Evening Capital" (Annapolis) 1884-1913. Small local weekly newspapers are a gold mine of genealogical data.

The Maryland State Library has all Maryland Federal census records from 1800 to 1900 on microfilm and published indexes from 1790 to 1850. They also have the original agriculture schedules for 1850 through 1880, manufacture schedules for 1850 and 1880 (1850-1880 on microfilm) and mortality schedules for 1850 through 1880. These various schedules can supply you with a tremendous amount of data about your ancestors. They tell how many acres were farmed, what crops were grown, and in manufacturing, what was produced, number of employees, number of items produced, etc. The mortality schedules give name, age, place of birth, cause of death, etc.

One important set of books on Marylanders in World War I, titled Maryland in the World War, Military and Naval Records, 1917-1919, gives name, birthdate or age at enlistment, place of residence, dates of service and engagement participation. Since so many of these records were burned in the fire at the Pittsburgh, Kansas, Federal Record Center and the records are officially available only to the veteran or his next of kin, this can be a very valuable source of information. Many states have published such books and it might be worth your while to investigate such publications for states of your particular interest. Another book titled Wingate's Maryland Register, published in 1857, lists by name the municipal officers of Baltimore, the state officers for each county, such as judges of Circuit and Orphan's Court, Commissioners, Collectors of Taxes, Commissioners of Primary Schools, Justices of the Peace, Constables, Road Supervisers, etc. For Frederick County, the list includes the Market Master and Hay Weigher, Clock Winder, and the Lamp Lighter. Names of Federal Government employees, such as at the Custom House, Naval Office, Surveyor's Office, Light House Keepers, Post Offices, with letter carrier's names, all practicing lawyers, physicians, ministers, with names of churches and their location for all major denominations are also given. It gives the name and location of all newspapers published in Maryland in 1857. This book was also published for 1860-61 and another for 1874-75-76, with varying amounts of information given.

Among books of interest at the Maryland State Library to those of you who are researching in other states are: Pennsylvania Archives, beginning with the Third Series; New Jersey Archives; Delaware Archives; a series of books: Documents Relating to the Colonial History of the State of New York; New York in the Spanish American War; Vital Record Books of Massachusetts to 1850; Records of the State of Connecticut -- two volumes, 1776-1780; Vital Records of Connecticut--five books; Kansas Historical Collection--three volumes; Michigan Biography--three volumes; Illinois Historical Collections; Michigan Pioneer Collections; Michigan Pioneer and Historical Collections; Howe's Historical Collections of Ohio; Biographical Annals of Ohio; Roster of Ohio Soldiers in War with Spain-1898-1899; Roster of Ohio Soldiers - Civil War--two volumes; Indiana Battle Flags and Organizations--Mexican, Civil and Spanish American War (this book does not have names of soldiers, just where various units served and their history); Georgia's Roster of the Revolution; Confederate Records of the State of Georgia; Colonial Records of Georgia; Revolutionary Records of Georgia--three volumes; Historical Collection of South Carolina -- two volumes, and Publication of North Carolina Historical Commission. For Virginia: Wills and Administrations--1632-1800; Nugent's Cavaliers and Pioneers; Calendar of Virginia State Papers; Virginia Historical Collections--two volumes; Virginia County Records--six volumes (a quarterly with all kinds of early Virginia records); Index to the Wills of New Jersey--three volumes; Officers and Men of New Jersey in the Revolutionary War; Maine: Vital Records to 1892; Maine Historical Society--Collections of York County Deeds; Massachusetts: Records of the Massachusetts Colony, beginning in 1623; Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolutionary War; Massachusetts in the Army and Navy in the Civil War--nine volumes; books on most other states including histories of most. Also books on England, France, Scandinavia and Ireland. This was all noted from a rather quick survey of their shelves. Imagine what treasures await the really diligent researcher!

Other places with much helpful data are the Mormon Library at Silver Spring, the Maryland Room at the Hyattsville Library, Enoch Pratt Free Library in Baltimore, and many county libraries which have good collections, particularly on their local areas.

For finding needed information in more unusual sources, try to find a local newspaper of the time period in question. Quite often newspapers published in small communities have more details about individuals than those published in large cities. Even current newspapers have items about an event giving three or four generations of a family.

Local histories, although not always 100 percent accurate can give you quite a few clues to follow through on. Many local communities have books or articles published about them. For instance: The Fells Point Story, Belair In Bowie, Quays of the City, etc. Even though they may not name one of your ancestors, they still give a good background as to where and how they lived.

Now to go back to the place where the primary sources of information are found--the county courthouses. How many of you have tried to look up a record on one of these courthouses, only to be utterly dismayed by the various indexing systems used? Perhaps an explanation of some of them will help make your next searching venture a little easier and more enjoyable.

General Indexes: These generally refer to an entire series of records and are listed separately, usually following the records to which they refer.

Liber Index: These were the earliest general indexes and combined all the indexes to separate volumes so that all the index entries for each letter of the alphabet were grouped together.

Burr Index: These entries were divided into sub-alphabetical groups for each letter of the alphabet, such as: AU-AV; AY-AZ.

Vowel Index: Entries are arranged by the initial letter of the surname and the first vowel following.

Campbell Index: Indexes are arranged alphabetically by initial letter of the surname and by the initial letter of the given name. The guide sheet with the desired surname initial letter has the letters of the alphabet with numerals under them. The numerals refer to the page where the entry will be found as listed under the initial letter of the given name.

Russell Index: Surnames are indexed on the basis of certain key letters following the initial letter of the name. The key letters are: L, M, N, R, and T. All other letters are ignored. For example, persons whose surname begins with "B", the following names would be listed under the key letter "M", when "M" was the first following letter of the key letters: Bump, Bowman, Bymers, Beman. The given names are arranged alphabetically by initial letter similar to a Campbell Index.

Cott Index: There are four main basic groups, but many other varieties in this indexing system.

1. Cott Key Table: These indexes have complete alphabetical references at the top of each page.

2. Cottco Universal: In this indexing system the alphabet is divided into sections or units, each independent of the other and which may combine just one or several units in a volume. Each unit has a tab sheet showing the letter (or part of a letter) it covers. A sub index sheet gives the page reference for every possible combination of letters within the unit with which a surname might start and for every "set out" name. "Set out" names are those of sufficient frequency which justify assigning them a special page. The entry sheets are numbered to correspond with the sub sheets.

3. Cott Family Name: Every surname is given a separate entry page. The index is divided into units of the alphabet, with each unit preceded by a sub index sheet showing the pages on which the names appear.

Paul Company Key Table Index: In this index names are arranged alphabetically by the first three letters of the surname only. Thus all surnames beginning with "BAS" would be in one group, those beginning "BAT" in another group. The names are arranged chronologically within the group. A key table giving the page reference to each letter group is within the front cover of every volume. (See: Radoff, Skordas, Jacobsen: "The County Courthouses and Records of Maryland, Part II the Records," 1963.)

In conclusion, may I just offer this bit of advice. If you find something out about a family member which is not just what you would wish it to be, don't give up on your research. You may delay researching for a while, but don't give up. Always remember the traits and actions of the good people always, by far, outweigh the bad. Dr. Elias Jones paid such a fine tribute to our ancestors when he wrote in his History of Dorchester County, Maryland (p. 275) the following:

"The noblest heroes that the Creator ever made are the dutiful, toiling masses. To this class of our ancestry, fathers, and mothers, sons and daughters, of the industrial fields of manual labor, the county owes its true worth and financial greatness. Many of our grand and great-grandparents were born in humble homes, lived without honorable mention, labored without public notice or praise, died with an untold history, and now rest in long-ago-forgotten graves. To them we owe a great share of gratitude for our present surroundings and happiness."

GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH IN ONTARIO

By Milton Rubincam

A Talk Given at the Prince George's County Genealogical Society April 4, 1979

Last year Winny Moran gave us an excellent talk on genealogical research in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. I want to talk to you tonight about the province where so many Americans settled (in addition to Nova Scotia and New Brunswick), namely, Ontario. Ontario was actually founded by Americans, primarily Loyalists, and later on of course a great many Americans went to Ontario and settled in different parts of the province.

Historical Sketch

To understand the records of Ontario you need to know the historical background of the province. In 1763 Canada was conquered by Great Britain. As you know, Canada was previously a French colony. The French were very indifferent administrators; they were more interested in trying to convert the Indians than in doing anything to improve their province. The home government was most lax, most indifferent, and consequently the colony did not get the support it deserved from the government in Paris. Then came the French and Indian War in which we as British subjects helped our cousins from the British Isles to defeat France; and in 1763 the Treaty of Paris very definitely assigned Canada to British rule. There was set up in Canada a province known as the Province of Quebec. The present Province of Ontario was the western portion of that province. Between 1763 and 1791 there was not much of an immigration to this wilderness and it was indeed a wilderness: Α few trappers went in, a few traders. Some missionaries went in to convert the Indians to Christianity. But there was no real settlement in the western part of the Province of Quebec. Then by the Constitutional Act of 1791, the Province of Quebec was divided into two provinces, Upper Canada and Lower Canada. Upper Canada is now the Province of Ontario; Lower Canada is now the Province of Quebec, and a completely new system of government was installed, quite different from the previous one. The first Lieutenant Governor of Upper Canada was John Graves Simcoe, formerly Lieutenant Colonel in command of the Queen's Rangers, a British military unit during the Revolutionary War. He was an empire builder of the first order. He built towns, erected forts, constructed roads, built bridges, and encouraged the immigration into his province of the best type of American and British settler. The Loyalists from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick left those provinces in droves and settled in Upper Canada, chiefly in the vicinity of Toronto and they moved north along a long road known as Yonge Street (which incidentally is the longest street in the world, because it was continued to the upper part of Canada and then went over toward the Hudson Bay area). Upper Canada was divided into districts in 1789. There were only four districts in that year: the Eastern District, the Western Dis-trict, the Home District (where my mother's family lived), and the London District (in western Ontario), but as the years progressed, as more settlers came from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, and from the United States, they had to create other districts.

There were a great many other settlers there. Around 1800 there was a Quaker and Mennonite migration from the United States, chiefly from Pennsylvania and New Jersey, into Upper Canada, and a great many other people of diverse nationalities wandered into the Province and made their homes there.

Upper Canada had a turbulent history. It was governed by a group of people, by an oligarchy really, which was called the Family Compact. Lower Canada (that is, Quebec) was also governed by a Family Compact, and the result is that these people were all related to each other. One man might be Attorney General, his brother would be Solicitor General, his nephew would be General in the Army or Colonel in the Militia, a cousin could be Minister of War, and so forth. It was a family affair, governing Lower Canada and Upper Canada. This resulted in considerable chaos. In 1837 there was a rebellion in both provinces. The one in Upper Canada was led by William Lyon Mackenzie who was one of the most radical of the rebels. He led an abortive attack on Toronto; they met some militiamen and the rebels fled in all directions. Mackenzie managed to escape to the United States; a great many others came to the United States and have descendants living in this country today. One of my own ancestors was a Rebel of 1837, and I am happy to tell you that he went to jail for his rebellion. But the rebellion made the British Government think, and so they sent the Earl of Durham to Canada to investigate conditions, to report back on what he found, and to make recommendations for the improvement of the Government in both Canadas. The result of the Durham Report was that in both Upper Canada and Lower Canada a complete reorganization of government was effected. Their names were changed in 1841: Upper Canada became Canada West, Lower Canada became Canada East, but they were two separate parts of the Province of Canada. Then in 1867, the Dominion of Canada, which we have today, was created, and the names of the two provinces were changed to Ontario and Quebec; and Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were included in the Dominion. Then at later dates the other six provinces came into existence, the last one being Newfoundland in 1949.

Land Records

Now let me tell you something about the records of Ontario. In any genealogical research, whether in this country or in Canada, land records have played an extremely important part. Many of you have worked with land records and know how valuable they can be, how they can sometimes give you a line of descent if land descends in a single family for several generations until it is sold out of the family. But in Canada the situation was different. At about the time of the organization of Upper Canada, land boards were set up to grant land to settlers who were coming in, or to the Loyalists who were moving over from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Finally, after a few years, they made the procedures a little more complicated by setting up land committees of the Executive Council. The Executive Council was of course the governing body of Upper Canada.

When you search land records in Ontario you don't have the easy way of finding the land your ancestors owned as we do here. We can go to a court house and search the indexes to the land records (deeds, mortgages, releases, and the various other records) and they will refer to a certain volume and page, and you get that volume down from the shelves, turn to the proper page, and before you is a copy of the deed whereby your ancestor bought or sold land. In Upper Canada (Ontario) you don't do that. You have to know first of all what concession the land was in (because the land they sold was divided into concessions), and second what the lot numbers were. If you walk into a Registry Office (which corresponds to our Recorder of Deeds Office) and don't know the concession and lot numbers, you are out of luck. They just can't help you.

There are ways of ascertaining the concession and lot numbers. One is that early directories of Ontario/Upper Canada/Canada West will frequently give the concession numbers and lot numbers of the people who live in the country. Early atlases, published in the 1870's and 1880's, will also give you that information. I have one here, a reprint of the atlas of York County for 1878. My mother was born in York County and her ancestors lived there from Simcoe's time. This atlas, of course, has a great many pictures, a great many maps of towns. In the towns are the lot numbers for the towns; I don't think they were divided into concessions. But toward the end of the volume is a long list of early settlers arranged according to borough, township, and city, and so on, in which are not only the names of the early settlers but also their concession and lot numbers; so if you know that your ancestor lived somewhere near Holland Landing say, in what was then York County, you could check for Holland Landing and the chances are good he would be listed with a lot and concession number. Then you could go into the Land Registry Office armed with this information.

The land petitions for Upper Canada are located in the Public Archives of Canada at Ottawa. These are the records of the original lands granted by the government to the settlers. Once the Executive Council alienated the land from the Crown (the King was supposed to own every square inch of Upper Canada), the government lost interest in it and you would have to go to the Registry Offices or other offices to find the land. But the original land petitions for Upper Canada and Canada West covering the years 1791 to 1867 are in existence. They are located, as I said, in the Public Archives of Canada, at Ottawa, and there is a nominal card index to them (thank God for that). I have with me for your inspection several of the land petitions that relate to my own family, which they found very easily when I wrote to the Public Archives. They sent me a list of them and I borrowed them through the Library of Congress interlibrary loan system. I made note of the documents I wanted and for a very nominal fee the Public Archives sent me copies of a large number of petitions. I only brought a few of the more interesting ones to show you. These land petitions contain valuable informa-If the man who bought the land or to whom the land was grantion. ted had served in the Revolution in one of the Loyalist regiments, his service record is often mentioned in the land petitions. He took pride in the fact that he had served in, say, the Loyal American Regiment and that he had been captured at some place in America (the United States), during the Revolution, and was finally released. They often tell you where he was born. Now my Loyalist ancestor bore the ungodly name of Johnson, and I didn't think I would ever find where he came from on this side of the border. But in his land petitions he stated that he had resided, before the year 1775, in Philadelphia, which is my birthplace and where I specialize in records. One of his sons, Abraham Johnson, in his land petitions, said that his father Lawrence Johnson was U.E. Loyalist (United Empire Loyalist) who had formerly lived in Philadelphia and had gone to New York in 1776 because of his loyalty to the Crown, and joined the Royal Standard there. Another son, Joseph Johnson, who was my great-great-grandfather, was even more informative about himself, certainly. He said that he was born in Philadelphia, and from the family Bible I knew the year in which he was born. After the Revolution the family went to Nova Scotia. By 1793 he had gone with the family to Upper Canada. He was now applying for land. He also said in one of his petitions that he was the first settler at Holland Landing, a little place 31 miles north of Toronto. Holland Landing is where my mother was born. So you see, the contents of these petitions can give you valuable information. Now I've read a great many others of families not related to me; their ancestors were just as informative, but in many other cases some of them didn't give anything except to say that they were loyal to the King and had witnesses to prove it. At any rate, the land petitions in the Public Archives of Canada are not to be ignored. Even if your ancestor did not serve in the Revolution, if he came over from England in 1850 and applied for land, that record would be in the Public Archives of Canada and you can get the microfilm through interlibrary loan.

The Archives of Ontario at 77 Grenville Street in Toronto contain many other records such as the Crown Lands Department records. When the land was alienated from the Crown, it was registered in the form of memorials of deeds and other documents. Many of them are on microfilm in the Archives of Ontario, but many more such records are in the so-called Township Papers in the Archives of Ontario. The Township Papers have a variety of documents. They will not only provide you with information about the people who bought and sold land, they will give you data about disputes over land when they had to go to law to try to prove their right to the land, especially if the original landowner failed to take steps to satisfy the settlement requirements, such as to cultivate the land and improve it. It may have escheated to the Crown. So that you can get a great deal of information from the Township Papers. I even found a case where land that some of my Johnsons were in dispute over had a rival claimant for the same land. The rival claimant didn't succeed in getting the land, but interestingly enough the head of the family and his wife were both named, and all of their children were named, including their ages. In order to use the Township Papers you have to know the township in which your ancestor lived, of course, and the concession and lot numbers.

Now you have a problem sometimes. (Who doesn't have a problem in genealogy?) You may have three registry offices in the same county. That makes it dandy, because you may not know exactly which registry office contains the land records of your ancestry. Using York County, my ancestral county, as an example, there is the North Riding Registry Office at Newmarket, which is near to Holland Landing where my mother was born. There are two registry offices in Toronto for other parts of the county. Other counties sometimes have two or three registry offices. One must study the history of the ancestral county to determine the location.

There is another set of records, namely the Heir and Devises Commission records. This Commission was established to clarify land titles and to hear claims of those who held land as heirs, devisees, or assignees of the original owners of the land. The records for 1795-1805 are in the Public Archives of Canada and those for 1804-1911 are in the Archives of Ontario. Claimants to land were required to submit evidence concerning their relationship to the original owner and in many cases wills, genealogies and other documents were submitted and are filed with the Commission records. There is a microfilmed index to the records by claimants' names. Sometimes fascinating stories appear in these papers, as for example, the case of two sisters named McCandlish who married two brothers named Johnson (my great-great uncles) and how they were defrauded of their property, which had been granted to their deceased father, a soldier in the 79th Regiment of Foot.

Probate Records

In 1793 there was an act of the Upper Canadian legislature establishing a Probate Court for the Province and a Surrogate Court for each of the districts of Upper Canada. I mentioned earlier that Upper Canada was divided into a number of districts from 1788 to 1849, and as the people moved into the province, they had to create more districts, and each district had a Surrogate Court. Now those of you who know New York and New Jersey genealogy will remember that the Registers of Wills in New York and New Jersey are called Surrogates. The same thing applies in Upper Canada. Then in 1859, the probate court was abolished, and the present county surrogate courts were established in Upper Canada or Canada West as it was then. Many wills, however, were not probated in either the Probate Court or in the Surrogate Court. They were perfectly valid wills, but they were just never proved in either of the courts, although they should have been, no doubt. Instead they were filed in the Land Registry Office. That was one of the pitfalls I fell into, be-cause I kept visiting Surrogates' offices and couldn't find anything on any of my Johnsons or other relatives, and so I finally discovered that they were in the Land Registry Office, and I got photocopies of wills from the Land Registry Office at Newmarket in what was then York County, Ontario. So you would have to go not only to the Surrogate Courts but also to the Land Registry Office. However, there is one easy way out. In one sense the Province of Ontario is trying to give you your ancestry on a silver platter. They have on microfilm at the Archives of Ontario Probate Court records from 1793 to 1859, and Surrogate Court records for all of Ontario from 1859 to 1970.

Vital Records

Vital Statistics on a province-wide basis was established as of July 1, 1869. Births, marriages, and deaths were required to be reported to the Registrar General in Turonto. If you write to them for a death record, or birth or marriage record, the fee is $3.00. At one time they xeroxed, or photocopied the original documents, and that was wonderful. I have here a photocopy of the death record of my great-grandfather Alexander Sutherland, who lived at Holland Landing. It's not exactly accurate. The informant in this case was a son-in-law, and what do sons-in-law know about their fathers-inlaw? But at any rate, I have here the complete record of the death of Alexander Sutherland: the date he died, whether he was male or female, his age (which, incidentally, is wrong), his occupation, the year of birth (which is also wrong), how long he had been ill ("three years"), the name of the informant, the date, his religion (which we don't have on our certificates), and the name of the Registrar. I was lucky to be able to get that. They had not changed their system in the Registrar-General's Office at the time I requested the certificate. They no longer photostat or xerox the original death record, or birth or marriage record. They give you an abstract, which tells you very little. I regret that I did not know until much later the date of death of my great-grandmother, Ann Sutherland, his wife, otherwise I would have gotten the same kind of document for her. But this is what the abstract shows: her name, the date of death, her age, which is wrong; where she was born; and the registration number. And then the date of the administration of her estate, which is new, and the date it was sent to me. But it wasn't what I wanted. I wanted more detail such as was on her husband's certificate.

There are marriage records for Ontario. The early records. marriage bonds and marriage licenses for Upper Canada/Canada West from 1816 to 1845 are in the Public Archives of Canada at Ottawa. But some years ago the Registrar-General found in the basement of his office 80 books of marriage records they didn't know existed. Eighty books! They cleaned them up and repaired those that could be repaired and transferred them to the archives of Ontario where they are available on microfilm in the search room; you can go to the cabinet and pick them out for yourself. I've consulted the marriage records for York and Simcoe Counties where my family lived and got a great deal of information from them. They are not necessarily complete; remember there were only 80 volumes found. There must have been many, many more which have been lost over the years, but at least they have this much to offer us and they range in date from 1816, which is early, to 1869. I should hasten to explain that very few really go back to 1816; most of them begin in the 1840's and go on to the 1860's, but nevertheless they are extremely helpful.

Canada has census enumerations, just as we do. Theirs is in an odd year, ours in an even year. We have the census of 1870, Canada has the census of 1871, and so forth. There are some early censuses that have been preserved and now are in the Archives of Ontario, but most of them begin with the national census enumerations in 1842. These very early enumerations do not contain all of the information we want; they are mostly aggregate or statistical. For the most part the censuses give the name of the head of the household and how many people are in his family; we have that problem in our own early census records prior to 1850. But beginning in 1851, the Canadian censuses all contain the data we want. the name of the head of the household, his wife, his children, their ages, the head's occupation, the religion (which ours don't give) -- it might be Wesleyan Methodist, or Anglican, or Roman Catholic -- it will tell you also if they have any feeble-minded members of the family (ours do that too), and a great deal of other data. The microfilm of these census records are in the search room in the cabinets where you can go and help yourself. In addition to the census enumerations of families and individuals, there is also the agricultural census enumeration which will tell you how many acres were wild, I think it also gives something about his livestock and so forth. This can be most helpful in rounding out your family history and also what is even more important, in the agricultural census enumerations they give also the head of the household's concession and lot number, so that if you didn't know that before, you will look at the agricultural census for 1851. 1861 or 1871; and get the necessary information to go to the Land Registry Office. The census for 1881 have just been opened for research, after a long struggle on the part of genealogists and historians.

There are military records in Canada both at the Public Archives of Canada, in Ottawa, and the Ontario Archives, in Toronto. They are very few and far between. There was no real attempt to keep military records until the Twentieth Century so that if you had an ancestor or another relative who was in the Armed Forces of Canada -- the National Army or the Canadian Militia -- you may not find his record although you know he was in the service. My mother's older brother was a corporal in the Canadian Militia. How do I know he was a corporal in the Canadian Militia? I have a photograph of him taken in uniform with the corporal's stripes on his sleeve. But that's my only record of his service. I had a friend search in Ottawa, and I've searched in Toronto without success, trying to find his military record.

The Public Archives of Canada also has the Loyalist Muster Rolls and Payrolls. Now these are available in the United States. The Library of Congress has photostatic copies in the Manuscripts Division in Washington. In Trenton I have seen a card index which the State Archives of New Jersey prepared for New Jersey men who served in the Loyalist Corps during the Revolutionary War.

Church records are generally in the hands of the clergy. The Archives of Ontario and the Public Archives of Canada have a large number of church records, originals, transcripts and microfilm, but there are also church archives. The United Church of Canada has a church archive at Victoria University, part of the University of Toronto. The United Church of Canada was formed in 1925 of the Methodist Church, the Congregational Church, and about two-thirds of the Presbyterian Church. All these records are in the Archives of the United Church of Canada, at Victoria University. You have to be sure you know what denomination your ancestors belonged to in order to search the records, but I found the church archives officials very cordial and they brought out their registers of baptism and other records for my inspection. I must admit I didn't find my family in them, but at least I have had the satisfaction of eliminating that type of record in future trips to Canada. The Anglican Church has a number of archives in the different dioceses of Ontario. The archives of the religious Society of Friends, the Quakers of Canada, have been microfilmed by the Archives of Ontario at the request of the Society of Friends. These microfilms are available in the search room, and they make very interesting read-I went through them last year when I was in Toronto, and they ing. are the complete records of the Quakers who settled in Upper Canada from around 1800, perhaps a little before, down to a late period. Some of these records have been published in the York Pioneer and Historical Society's publication, The York Pioneer. There are other church archives too.

There are hidden gems in the basement of the Registry Offices. Those of you who have heard me before in this Society will remember how I urged you to go into the basements and the attics of court houses here, because you never can tell what you will find. Our county clerks often say they don't have anything there but if you can be a little persistent and very courteous, maybe you can wear them down so that you can go into the basements here. I didn't have the problem of encouraging these people to let me go down in Canada; they insisted I go down and look at their basements, and I was not slow in following their advice. I found, among other things, a tremendous volume, the Newmarket Cemetery Company's records which contained deaths of people buried in Newmarket Cemetery beginning in 1869 and coming down to around 1900 or perhaps a little later.

Printed Works

For over a century many publications on Ontario's local history and genealogy have been published. These include county histories of York, Simcoe, Wentworth, Northumberland, Ontario, and so are being made available once more to interested researchers. Two of the best local histories are Patricia W. Hart's Pioneering in North York (1968), and Dr. G. Elmore Reaman's A History of Vaughn Township (published posthumously, 1971); both are based almost entirely on source materials. Ethnic studies are being published, of which one of the best is Dr. G. Elmore Reaman's The Trail of the Black Walnut (1957; reprinted a few years ago by the Genealogical Publishing Co. in Baltimore); this is the story of the great Pennsylvania German migration to Ontario. Edward Marion Chadwick's Ontarian Families (2 vols., 1898, reprinted in 2-vols.in-1 by Hunterdon House, Lambertville, N.J. 1970), is a useful but not definitive work. For a few years, beginning in 1956, George T. Heath published a magazine called Pedigree: A Genealogical Quarterly, but it soon died a natural death due to lack of support.

Genealogy got a real shot in the arm in 1961 when the Ontario Genealogical Society was organized. In the pages of its periodical, first called the Bulletin but later Families, it has published a vast amount of valuable genealogical material. Recently, George Hancocks of Toronto has founded a periodical intended for national coverage, Canadian Genealogist; the first two issues have appeared (1979) and meet the highest standards of research and writing. In 1976, the Ontario Genealogical Society published a useful manual, Some Ontario References and Sources for the Family Historian, by Marion C. Keffer, Robert F. Kirk, and Audrey L. Kirk, U.E. The Canadian Genealogical Handbook: A Comprehensive Guide to Finding Your Ancestors in Canada, by Eric Jonasson (2nd ed., 1978) is a splendid guide for all of the Canadian provinces. The Ontario Historical Society's periodical, Ontario History (formerly called Papers and Records), does not provide much genealogical information but it has a wealth of information concerning the historical backgrounds of the Province and its localities.

There are numerous county historical societies, I've mentioned the York Pioneer and Historical Society; there's a Norfolk Historical Society, and similar societies in other counties. Many of these societies have manuscript holdings. The Archives of Ontario has started a program of calendaring records of the historical societies. I've seen the one for Norfolk Historical Society in the Library of Congress. The amount of original material that one society has in the way of records of families and individuals is truly amazing. I hope the Archives is microfilming them, but at least they are publishing calendars of their records. Last year I attended the Conference on Ontario Genealogical Sources, and they published recently the papers that were given at that conference. The papers include "Genealogy for the Beginning Ontario researcher", "Genealogical Research in the Public Archives of Canada", "Deciphering the Upper Canada Land Books and Land Petitions", "Values and Limitations of Passenger Lists", "Court Records as a genealogical source in Ontario", "Approaches to U.S.-U.E. Loyalist Research", "Reassessing Anglican Church Records as Sources", "Scottish Migration to Ontario", "Emigration from Ireland", "How Computers Can Help the Genealogist", "Microfilming Ontario Records", etc.

A very popular book is the one bearing the misnamed title,. The Old United Empire Loyalists List; it was first published under a longer name in Toronto in 1885 and has been reprinted twice (1969 and 1976) by the Genealogical Publishing Co. It is not entirely a list of Loyalists, although a great many of them appear in it. It includes names of settlers, discharged soldiers from British regiments, Hessian and other German mercenaries, etc. The original list, in Toronto, is the Crown Lands Department List, preserved in the Lands Administration Branch, Ontario Ministry of Lands and Waters; I have seen it there. The authoritative list of Loyalists, however, was prepared for the Executive Council, and it is preserved in the Public Archives of Canada at Ottawa.

You will note from my remarks that the American with Ontario ancestors will find a wealth of information in the Archives of Ontario, the Registry Offices, the church archives, and other depositories. It takes time, thought, study, and persistence but in the end the researcher will be richly rewarded. THE PRINCE GEORGE'S COUNTY GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY P.O. Box 819 Bowie, Maryland 20715

FACTS ABOUT THE 1980 CENSUS

The Constitutional purpose of the census has not changed since the first census in 1790: to provide the basis for fair apportionment among the States of seats in the House of Representatives.

Census data also are used to guide the distribution of billions of dollars in Federal funds to State and local governments and the distribution of additonal billions of dollars in State funds.

Every household in the U.S. will receive a census questionaire in the mail on March 28, 1980, and will be asked to answer the questions.

Approximately four out of five households will be asked to answer the 19 questions on the short version of the questionnaire. The remaining households will answer the longer version with 46 additional questions.

Most of the 1980 census questions were also asked during the 1970 census, including subjects such as age, race, sex, marital status, type of housing unit, education, and occupation. This census will gather more information about racial and ethnic origin, national energy usage, and journey-to-work patterns.

After the questionnaires have been checked in the district offices, they will be shipped to three major processing centers in Indiana, Louisiana and California. After processing through high-speed microfilming equipment, the data will be transmitted electronically to computers at Census Bureau headquarters in Suitland, Maryland. No names or addresses from the questionnaires will be transmitted to the computers. (The Census does not ask for Social Security numbers.)

More than for any prior census, the Bureau is seeking to enlist widespread public, business and news media support for the 1980 census.

MARYLAND...AT THE BEGINNING, by Lois Green Carr, Russell R. Menard and Louis Peddicord. 38 pp. A gift from the St. Mary's County Historical Society Genealogical Committee.

The publication of this pamphlet was funded by the Maryland Bicentennial Commission. The three writers who are responsible for its contents are all knowledgeable in the field of early Maryland history. They have put together a fine history of seventeenth century Maryland and the area which became St. Mary's County. We are told how the Catholic Calverts envisioned this new settlement and also how and why the colony differed from that which the Calverts had planned. The social and political structure of the society is examined as it went through changes during the seventeenth century. The writers have presented their material in an easily read format and this reviewer found it impossible to simply skim through the material, as I soon found myself reading every word.

GENEALOGICAL HISTORY OF OUR ANCESTORS, by William Kenneth Rutherford and Anna Clay (Zimmerman) Rutherford. 1970. 552 pp. indexed. A gift from the authors.

This book is divided into chapters, each covering a different progenitor of the authors. There are sixty-nine families covered, thirteen of which had immigrant ancestors that settled in Maryland. Copies of wills and other important documents are often given in full and there is footnoting throughout much of it to primary source material. Readers are always advised to verify data given however, especially when secondary sources are cited. Those with Prince George's County ancestry will be interested to know that the following families with roots in this county are covered: BARNES, BEAVEN, BOONE, CRAYCROFT, DYER, GARDINER, and SPALDING.

This publication was revised and expanded into two volumes in 1977. Readers should compare data presented and use their own judgement. A spot check of the STILLWELL family showed vastly different data on the early generations given in the earlier and later publications.

GENEALOGICAL HISTORY OF OUR ANCESTORS, by William Kenneth and Anna Clay (Zimmerman) Rutherford. 2 vols. 1977. 822 pp. and 926 pp. indexed. A gift from the authors. $40 per set or $25 per volume. Order from the compilers, P.O. Box 85, Lexington, MO 64067.

These two volumes constitute a revision of the earlier 1970 book reviewed above. The authors note that additional research disproved three of the lines in the previous book and added an additional forty-two lines, bringing the total to one hundred-eight family lines. The revised edition contains twenty-one immigrant ancesters who settled in Maryland.

Volume I contains the direct ancestors of the compilers, whereas Volume II shows those of allied lines. It is therefore necessary to use both volumes when searching a particular surname. This causes some repetition, but as both volumes are indexed the inconvenience is minor. In addition to the seven families cited in the earlier edition as having roots in Prince George's County, the revised Volume I shows EDELEN, GREENE, HAGAN, JONES, and PAGE. In the allied lines found in Volume II the BOARMAN family is also shown with families who at one time resided in Prince George's County. Some sections have more documentation than others. In a number of instances it appears that large amounts of data were taken from previously published genealogies on various families, although this is not clearly stated.

CAN GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH BY MAIL BE SUCCESSFUL AND FUN? COME TO OUR DECEMBER MEETING AND FIND OUT

In the spirit of the Holiday Season, members are urged to come to our December meeting with something to share — FXPERIENCES. The topic of the forum will be Genealogical Correspondence Show-and-Tell.

Some researchers think that doing research by mail is difficult and expensive. What do you think? Have you located long-lost relatives through genealogical query services? What "gems" have people sent you through the mail? What tactics do you use in corresponding with distant libraries and government agencies? Do you always send a SASE (self-addressed stamped envelope) and a check? (Why? or Why not?) Have you had success requesting materials through interlibrary loan? Have you had dealings with professional genealogists by mail? Have you attempted direct-mail advertising for a book or newsletter you publish or a business you operate? What kinds of genealogical "junk mail" have you received? What are your experiences with the U.S. Postal Service?

The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, December 5, at the Greenbelt Branch Library, 11 Crescent Road, Greenbelt, Maryland. Refreshments will be served. The public is invited.

Come and share. We think you will leave with more than you brought with you. [DLW]

PRINCE GEORGE'S COUNTY GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY BULLETIN

A LETTER FROM THE EDITOR - - - - - - - - - Don Wilson

Now that volume 11 of the BULLETIN is four issues old, we (the editorial "we") are wondering what direction this publication should take in the coming months. We certainly appreciate the material that has been contributed so far. Editing the BULLETIN would be much more difficult without the help of so many active participants. This month, for instance, we have news items contributed by Freeman Morgan, Jim McCafferty, and Kay Mayhew. Jerrv Bowersox edits the minutes of our latest meeting. Sarah Fleming keeps the mailing list up-to-date and gives us changes to publish. Jean Sargent collects and edits the genealogical queries. Shirley Wilcox reviews books submitted to the Society. With this issue, Donald Barnes becomes our Exchanges Editor, giving Kay Mayhew a well-deserved breather from that chore.

The question now is, are we publishing what you want and need? We are not getting a lot in the form of genealogical source records and vour editor now has little time to go foraging, due to his new career demands and geographic location. We welcome comments from our members/subscribers as to what features you want to see more of and what vou could live without. Please advise.

If you have material in the following categories to submit, we would be happy to consider it for publication:

(1) BRIEF GENEALOGIES OF PRINCE GEOPGE'S COUNTY FAMILIES, preferably the generations before 1900. You may also submit corrections and additions to previously published works. If your work is incomplete, you may submit a copy of your progress to-date. A volunteer (perhaps yours truly) can attempt to add to your work and prepare it for publication as a collaborative effort. As in all good research work, of course, sources of your information should be completely and accurately stated. The final appearance of the work will probably resemble other genealogies we have published during the past year.

(2) ABSTRACTS OF PREVIOUSLY UNPUBLISHED GENEALOGICAL SOURCES, such as cemeterv, church, courthouse, and family Bible records. Preference will naturally be given to Prince George's County research sources, but unusual records of neighboring areas and any family Bible records of unkncwn province would be welcome.

(3) YOUR ANCESTOR TABLE. See the WHITESIDE tables in the October BULLETIN as examples of the format we use. It doesn't matter if you don't have Maryland ancestry--neither do a lot of our other local members, and you may find a cousin among them as a result of publishing. The more dates and places you mention in your table, the more likely you will interest other readers.

(4) If you have NEWS OF A GENEALOGICAL OR HISTOPICAL EVENT in the Washington, D.C., region, please tell us and let us publicize it. Deadline is the 10th of the month for events taking place in the following month. And of course, don't fail to take advantage of the many free lectures and training sessions that are announced in the BULLETIN. Elise Jennings is our Society's funnel for such news.

Overall we think we have a good publication, but we need everyone's help to make it even better. Don't be shy—we are willing to listen.

THIS IS ABOUT THESES

In your genealogical research, have you thought about checking Master's and Ph.D. theses as valuable history sources? Our attention has been called to the 1970 publication of the Maryland Historical Society: Masters Theses and Doctoral Dissertations on Maryland History, by R. R. Duncan and D. M. Brown.

A second and greater reference is the Comprehensive Dissertation Index from/by Xerox University Microfilms, Ann Arbor, Michigan. From them can be purchased microfilm and/ or hard cover copies of works contained therein.

Society Offers Members Book Purchase Privileges

The Prince George's County Genealogical Society's Education Committee carries in ready stock popular general references such as Greenwood, Researcher's Guide to American Genealogy; Doane, Searching for Your Ancestors; Everton's Handy Book; and Babbel's Lest We Forget, as well as popular genealogical forms and pamphlets. These are sold somewhat below established prices but enough above wholesale prices to give the Society a profit margin we use to buy books for our library. This way, members benefit in two ways: a small cash saving and a better Society library.

Additionally, the Education Committee can get for Society members substantial discounts on many other genealogical reference books (but not usually on family genealogies or other books published by individuals, as contrasted to genealogical publishing houses). If you are thinking of buying a book, contact the Education Committee Chairman, Mrs. Elise Jennings (6324 Brightlea Drive, Lanham, MD 20801; phone 459-6244) to see what discount might be available. MISFILED PROBATE RECORD CAUSES CONSTERNATION

By Phyllis A. Luskey Cox

The Scene: Upper Marlboro, Maryland; The Courthouse Third Floor; Register of Wills 10 May 1979

Evidence: Administration File No. 302, HENRIETTA E. WEBSTER, 14 Sept. 1854. Recorded in Liber JH No. 1, folios 477 and 478.

I went through the file in the search for the parents of my ancestor Mary Ann WEBSTER, born ca. 1830, Md. (Mary Ann Webster, age 20, listed in household of John PALMER, census of 1850). I think Henrietta E. Webster is a sister of my ancestor. A tombstone at St. John's Church, Broad Creek, Md., says Henrietta E. Webster died 9 Jan. 1854 in her 20th year.

The file was voluminous—big—whatever you want to call it—and I thought this very odd for a 20-year-old girl. However, most of the papers in the file were those of HARRIET WEBSTER and the petition was dated 20 June 1873. This is an entirely different person. Harriet WELLING was married in Washington, D.C., on 16 April 1833 to James Gibbs WEBSTER, Jr. They are aunt and uncle of Mary E. JENKINS SURRATT (James Gibbs WEBSTER, Sr. is the latter's grandfather). Both Harriet WELLING WEBSTER and James Gibbs WEBSTER, Jr. are probably descendants of Philip LEWIN [an early resident of PG Co].

Anyway, in the file is a family fight as to who took care of mom and who is due the real estate of 25 acres worth about $25 an acre. The land is located in Oxon Hill contiguous to meetinghouse on the road to Washington City distant about 6 miles, next to land of A. STRECKER (that's the hill on Livingston Road at Portabello Apartments [Oxon Hill, Md.]), Wm. F. ROLAND, and the late B. F. MARBURY with two small tenements. It mentions Harriet WEBSTER died at 'Notley Hall', the house of her son-in-law, Thomas FLAHERTY, in 1870 of consumption. In this file is LOCAL HISTORY and gossip, GENEALOGY, and illegitimacy. (Daughter Georgianna WEBSTER had an illegitimate child, which is listed in St. John's, Broad Creek, Parish Register with father's name.) Also mentioned in the file, the phrase "In the Orphans Court sitting in Equity, No. 6". This seemed unusual as Orphans Court seemed to only handle personal property estates, not real estate. I later checked the Equity File Index.

I took up the matter [of the misfiled papers] with Clerk Robin Stoneman (EDELIN descendant) and was referred to Miss Leitch, Chief Deputy. The Register of Wills was not in. Miss Leitch assigned me to her clerk. We consulted the files and index and as I recall there was another Harriet WEBSTER file in the 1900s. However, after this research Miss Leitch refused to remove the file of Harriet WEBSTER from that of my ancestor Henrietta E. WEBSTER, file no. 302, since they had no number to file the papers under and it was an old record -- which the office and clerks know nothing about. This was the result after I had spent time and gone through the file separating the papers for the two individuals.

Endorsed 1 Aug. 1709, proved by oaths of witnesses before Edw'd WILLETT, Depty Com'ry of PG Co.

Thomas FFEDRICKS will. [The double FF, written in lower-case letters, looks very much like upper-case H. MCW shows the name as FEDERICK. In most places in this copy of the will the initial letter is clearly an F. The question arises, however: Did a copyist misread the original will? The surname HEDRICK or HEDERICK seems somewhat more likely. A family of that name is found in the St. John's Parish Register during the 1750s and 1760s.]

QUESTIONABLE GENEALOGICAL MATERIAL BEING ADVERTISED BY MAIL

[Following is a reprint of a news item in Federation of Genealogical Societies Newsletter, October 1979, p. 10]

We have received several letters from members telling about solicitation letters they have received from a Beatrice Bayley of Sterling, PA. Mrs. Bayley is offering several books for sale including the Frary Directory and several others called Family Heritage Book under several surnames.

We would suggest that members read these letters carefully before sending any money. We wrote Mrs. Bayley for an explanation of certain claims but have received no answers from her. We doubt that these books could be classed as genealogies.

If you have received any solicitations from Mrs. Bayley, we ask you to forward them to President George E. Williams, P.O. Box 305, West Hartford, CT 06107.

MINUTES OF THE PRINCE GEORGE'S COUNTY GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY 7 November 1979

The meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. by President Bill Miller at the Greenbelt Library. The minutes of the meeting held on 3 October 1979 were approved as printed in the BULLETIN. Ken Clagett, Treasurer, reported a checking account balance of $442.49, and a savings account balance of $2,810.92, totaling $3,253.41.

Secretary Jerry Gray-Bowersox read a letter sent by George E. Russell. As our Society's first President and a founding member, he sent a brief personalized history of the initial meetings and congratulations on our 10th Anniversary! [See p.43]

Committee Business:

Programs: Our December 5 meeting, to be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Greenbelt Library, we will have a Christmas Party—Show and Tell. Chp. Kay Mayhew invited all members to bring anything which had been especially helpful in their research to share at that time. Nova Boyer was introduced as being in charge of our refreshments calendar.

Membership: Chp. Sarah Fleming introduced the following ten applicants for membership. All were unanimously accepted: Eleanor H. Poole, Margaret E. Miller, Ms. Gene S. Crawford, Nancy Davis Myers, Minnie Callis Myers, Ann E. Brown, J. Evelyn Miner, James and Rosalie McGinnis, Jr., James and Mary Jo Winston, Jr., and Susan Pamplin Stevens.

Sarah also reported that there were 241 paid members as of the November deadline, and 191 previous members who had not yet renewed their dues for 1979-80.

Regular Publications: Don Wilson, Chairman, recognized the efforts of Karen Lowman and Mary Beth Abel in mailing out the BULLETIN. They were aided with the November issue, which included our SPECIAL BULLETIN SUPPLEMENT NO. 1, by Mary McErlane Mowbray, Mrs. Bodil Aamot (Karen's mother visiting from Norway!), and Jerry Gray-Bowersox.

Don also reminded contributors that the BULLETIN deadline will be November 14.

Donald Barnes reported that at the four seminars in the series at the Hyattsville Library there had been 42-56 attendees each time. There is a workshop presently scheduled for November 17 at 9:00 a.m. Anyone willing to assist at the workshop was asked to call Don (D.C. work number 727-6460, or home phone 869-1950).

New Business: By-Laws Committee Chairman James McCafferty reported that the first meeting of the committee had been held that evening. He asked that members provide input to the four committee members in order that any proposed changes reflect the entire Society's concerns. Other Committee members are Kenneth Clagett, Doris Perry, and Linda Porter.

After the Show and Tell, there was a brief intermission, followed by our own Donald Ray Barnes, a Certified Genealogist. Don gave an interesting and extremely informative talk on Chancery Court Records.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:45 p.m.

Prince George's County Genealogical Society P. O. Box 819 Bowie, MD 20715

Dear PGCGS Members:

Congratulations on your tenth anniversary. I regret that my distance from you prevents my attendance at your meetings. I appreciated your invitation to the anniversary celebration.

Large oaks from small acorns grow. Only five people attended your first meeting: Barbara Dash, Eleanor Watson, Ann Herbert, Laird Towle, and George Russell. This was in my house at Bowie on September 6, 1969. We talked about holding public seminars at the library, encouraging interest by children, working through the county recreation association, newspaper publicity, use of the LDS Branch Genealogical Library, the annual Institute conducted by The American University, and other matters. We agreed to discuss our individual record-keeping systems at the next meeting and to bring our ancestor tables for distribution. (Barbara Dash didn't bring her's!)

Four months later - in January 1970 - we had grown to eighteen members, and started meeting at the Bowie Public Library. At the March 4, 1970 meeting the By-Laws were adopted and we had twenty-four charter members. On July 7, 1970 we had thirty-five members, enough to get some active committees working, and the future of the Society was assured.

As an outsider observing the accomplishments of your Society, I have been especially impressed with your publication program, and I hope that you are now working on additional significant titles and that more of the county's genealogical source records will be abstracted and published by the Society.

Best wishes for continued growth and good works.

Sincerely, e E. Russell

Gordon Ebersole to Discuss Irish Genealogical Research

Our own Cordon Ebersole will be the featured speaker at the January meeting of our Society, describing GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH IN ULSTER. Although concentrating on problems of research in Northern Ireland, the program should be of interest to anyone with Irjish antecedents. The meeting begins at 7:30 pm, Wed. 9 January 1980, at the Greenbelt Library, 11 Crescent Road, in Greenbelt.

Ebersole is a native of Nebraska, and a civil engineering graduate of Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa (1934). His career has included 23 years with the Bureau of Reclamation, 2 years with the Dept. of State in Korea, and 5 years in the Office of the Secretary, Dept. of the Interior. He served with the Corps of Engineers in India and Okinawa, 1942-1945. Since his retirement from Federal service in 1965, he has served as Executive Director of the Congress for Appalachian Development (1966-1977).

In the 1880s, Ebersole's mother roce to Nebraska from Wisconsin in a covered wagon. Her father arrived from England in the 1860s. Her mother's family came from the Scotch-Irish in County Derry (Londonderry), Ireland, hence his interest in research in Belfast and Dublin. Ebersole plans to join a genealogy tour of Ireland in July 1980 with a Scotch-Irish symposium at New University, Coleraine, Ulster. FROM BILL MILLER - - -

By the time you read this the holidays will have come and gone, and so I will have to be content with hoping all of you had a happy holiday season, except that I am free to prospectively wish all of you a wonderful decade of the 1980s!

In September we celebrated the tenth anniversary of the founding of the Society, and I am sure that the small group that made up the Society on January 1, 1970, wondered what the decade of the '70s would bring, what accomplishments we would point to with pride at the end of the decade. I'll bet not many could foresee the large membership we have, nor the splendid publications we have produced.

Now, as we enter the '80s, we can anticipate greater things for the Society. As many of you realize, such a large Society has a harder time meeting the needs of its members. We must find a way to meet those needs, and one thing we can do, and have talked about for some time but not yet done, is to organize things so that we will hold, on a regular basis, workshops in geographically disbursed parts of the County, providing opportunities for members, wherever they live, to get help from fellow members without having to travel but short distances. We have sufficient members with valuable experience to do this guite successfully, and you will hear more about this soon.

Our publication efforts will continue to be one of our principal challenges and activities. It would be good to produce the WILLS AND ADMINISTRATIONS book soon now and then to move on to other challenges, of which there are many, in this field of endeavor -- the unique way in which we make our mark for many generations to come and assist genealogists scattered far and wide.

Let me urge you all to attend our January meeting, discussed more fully elsewhere in this issue. Gordon Ebersole has been successful in working his genealogy in Ireland, and I'll bet that nearly all of our members have some ancestors who lived in that country, whether north or south. If you are not yet ready to work on your Irish or Scotch-Irish ancestors, come anyway and take notes for use in the future. We'll arrange for extra chairs to handle the crowd!

BOOK REVIEW - - - - - - - By Shirley Langdon Wilcox, C.G.

INDEXES OF CHURCH REGISTERS 1686-1885, by Helen W. Brown. 2 vols. Prince George's County Historical Society. 1979. 355pp and 318pp. Purchased by the Society. Copies can be ordered from the publisher, Box 14, Riverdale, MD 20840. $20.00

Anyone with Prince George's County ancestry will be delighted at the records these two volumes make available. Although not stated in the foreward these records had been transcribed by Helen W. Brown and the late Louise J. Hienton a number of years ago and were only available in typed manuscript form at a few depositories. Now they will be accessible to a much larger group of people and for this we thank the Historical Society.

Volume I contains records of King George's Parish (1689-1801, 1797-1878 [sometimes called St. John's Parish]) and Queen Anne Parish (1686-1777). Volume II has the records of St. Paul's Parish (1831-1885) and Prince George's Parish (PG and Montgomery Counties, 1711-1798, 1791-1845). Each section contains a brief history of the parish which is followed by an alphabetical listing of the data and the page number of the original volume, so that the researcher may easily check the original registers which are at the Maryland Hall of Records. While a few records have been lost over the years, what remains is a very sizeable collection and for this we must be grateful. The publication of these records is sure to be of immense help to many researchers.

ANSWERS TO HOW IS YOUR BY-LAWS 1.0.? (Questions on page 45)

The By-Laws Review Committee wants to call your attention to various parts of the By-Laws in order to familiarize you with them in their present state.

SCORING

All questions with Yes/No response equal one point. Question 1 equals 3 points. Question 9 equals 6 points and question 11 equals two points. If you answer all questions correctly with 20 points total you must have written the original By-Laws. If you score 15-19 points you have read the By-Laws at least once. If you score 10-14 you are better than average. If you score 9 and below, join the rest of us.

- 1. Annual, Life and Honorary Life Members. (Article V, Sect. 2)
- No. Meets once each month September through June; does not meet in July or August. (Article XI, Sect. 1)
- 3. No. Officers shall be elected to serve for one term. (Article X, Sect. 5) President can serve for two consecutive terms only. (Article VI, Sect. 1)
- 4. No. The Society shall publish a monthly bulletin (except in June and July) to promote the objectives of the society. (Article XIII, Sect. 1)
- 5. No. One of the duties of the Education Chairman. (Article VII, Sect. 9)
- Yes. Nominating Committee includes chairman and three members. (Article X, Sect. 1)
- 7. No. Not covered in the By-Laws. Subject to the Society's Council with advice from the members.
- No. The Council shall consist of the officers of the Society. (Article VIII, Sect. 1)
- 9. Program, Membership, Regular Publications, Special Publications, Records, and Education. (Article IX, Sect. 1)
- 10. The Society shall meet in Prince George's County, Maryland. (The Society's members have met elsewhere with other genealogical/historical groups, but as representatives, not as a Society.) (Article XI, Sect. 1)
- 11. Not covered by the By-Laws, but if you said $6.00 single and $9.00 a couple, you were right. Membership dues have risen slightly, but cost of mailing and printing the BULLETIN to a 250-plus membership is kept at the minimum.

12. No. The actual membership year is not set out in the By-Laws but Article X, Sect. 3 states that the election of officers will occur at the regular June meeting.

P.S. If you want to improve your By-Laws I.Q. pick up a copy at the January 9, 1980 meeting or better still arrive at 7 p.m. and give your suggestions for changes (if any). WRITE THEM OUT PLEASE!

COMPUTING YOUR GENEALOGY

Yep, that's the title of an article in the January 1980 issue of INTERFACE AGE magazine. The article is by Mr. Jim Schreier, an associate editor of the magazine.

The article consists of a page and a half of narrative and eight and one-half (8-1/2) pages of copyrighted program instructions. This "MICRO/ROOTS Genealogical System" was composed using the SWTPC 6800 Computer with 20K RAM, the SWTPC minifloppy disk and Disk BASIC v The programs can be run on other small systems, but apparently 3.0. not either the Heath or Radio Shack systems without significant modifications.

The program instructions appear to be carefully prepared and have a "goodly" number of "edits" to eliminate possible data entry errors. The instructions provide for the building of a variable length pedigree chart and the associated family group sheets.

Once you've gotten access to a computer and loaded all your records the programs provided can keep your system going, with your own periodic updates. It's up to you to develop your own programs for any other listings or sequencing of data you might desire.

If you are interested in this subject, please call Ken Clagett, at 971-0051. [KAC] * * *

OUR FEBRUARY PROGRAM SPOTLIGHTS THE CAROLINAS

Ivan and Dorothy Rainwater will speak to our Society on RESEARCH IN THE CAROLINAS WITH SIDETRIPS INTO TEN-NESSEE, ARKANSAS AND KENTUCKY, Wednesday, February 6, beginning at 7:30 p.m., at the Greenbelt Public Library, 11 Crescent Road, Greenbelt, Maryland.

Ivan is retired after 31 years working in plant quarantine for USDA. During his 16 years in Hawaii, they participated in archeological digs, and he was in charge of expeditions in the Islands. Ivan came from Kansas City, Missouri, and went to the University of Oklahoma for graduate work. That is where he met Dorothy.

Dorothy is from Ardmore, Oklahoma. While they were living in Hawaii, she worked as illustrator and museum designer for the Bernice P. Bishop Museum, an anthropological museum begun by the last of the Hawaiian royalty. Dorothy is the author of six books on American silver, and her latest book on American jewelers is in press. Ivan does most of the photography for these. Dorothy, with over 250 magazine articles to her credit, is also a consultant to the Franklin Mint and Time-Life Collect bles Series. Now they are directing their creativity and energy to genealogy, a recently acquired interest.

WILCOXON OF MARYLAND-A PRELIMINARY STUDY

By Donald Ray Barnes, C.G.

The date of John Wilcoxen's arrival in Maryland is not known. He does not appear in the Maryland Archives. His will, 6 May 1712 - 22 September 1716^1 , left his horse Phenex to his eldest son and also named him Executor. The personal estate, $\pm 49.18.0^2$, was to be divided between the widow, Magdalen, and sons John, Lewis and Thomas.

Magdalen, the widow, married William Jervis/Jarvis by 17 October 1716, when she signed (her mark) as next of kin to his inventory.³ William Jervis/Jarvis was in Maryland by 12 October 1713, when he warranted 100 acres called "Warwick". His will (10 June 1719 - 30 April 1720) named his wife, Magdalen as executrix and left her one half of his personal estate. The remainder plus his 100 acres called "Warwick"⁴ was left to his wife's son, William Wilcoxon, who was to be his own master at eighteen years.⁵ As William was not mentioned in his father's will we can assume he was born after 6 May 1712 and possibly after 22 September 1716.⁶

John Wilcoxon, planter, died in Frederick County, Maryland, in 1754 (4 December 1754 - 16 December 1754)⁷ and after special bequests to his daughter, Mary Edmonston, grandsons Peter and Sampson Noland, and granddaughter Ann Noland, he directed that all his lands be sold, debts paid and remainder to his son and executor, John Willcoxon alias Winser who was sole heir. His wife Agnes (maiden name not known) died after 28 August 1745 when she and John sold 300 acres, called 'Coxsons Rest" to John Hankins.⁸

Lewis Wilcoxon does not appear in deed records after 3 July 1739 when he borrowed ± 40 sterling of Great Britain from his brother Thomas.⁹ His wife, Susan (maiden name not known) appears in deeds in 1737 and 1738.¹⁰

Thomas Wilcoxon Sr., born 1693-94,¹¹ died P.G. County, Maryland, 1777.¹² He registered his mark in August 1723,¹³ having previously, in 1721, sold 265 acres callled "the Forrest" to Joseph Punnot.¹⁴ As his wife did not release her dower we may assume he had not yet married. Between 1735 and 1756 Thomas Wilcoxon Sr. and his wife Ruth (maiden name not known) bought and sold various properties in P.G. County.

Ruth Wilcoxon, born ca. 1702/03, ¹⁵ apparently died by 16 May 1779 as she is not mentioned in her husband's inventory.¹⁶

On 7 November 1740, Thomas Wilcoxon, Sr., planter, sold "Warwick" (100 acres) to Randolph Johnson, bricklayer, for ± 25 sterling of Great Britain. Ruth Wilcoxon acknowledged. This would imply that William Wilcoxon, youngest son of John and Magdalen Wilcoxon was either dead, had removed from the area or had sold his land to his elder brother.²¹ There is no further record of William Wilcoxon.

THE THREE DOCTORS HURTT OF PISCATAWAY

By Jean A. Sargent

The original query was to find data on the ancestry of an Edgar D. W. Hurtt, M.D., married to a Harriet Ophelia Edelen, residents of Piscataway in 1900. Over a period of months of casual searching I found bits of information that led to curiosity to find more, and eventually a merry chase through census microfilm, probate records, genealogical books, and correspondence. Eventually I had gathered an interesting, though by no means complete story, the highlights of which I now pass on to you.

First of all I checked our 1850 census book of P.G. County, and in Piscataway I found - not Dr. Edgar - but a Dr. Edward Hurt, age 23, with Mary age 19, and H.M. age 2 days. Were Edgar and Edward the same person, I wondered. However, on the 1860 census I found Dr. Edgar age 30, with $1000 in real estate and $6000 in personal estate, and in his household was Marie E. age 28, and baby Edgar E. age 2. Nearby was Dr. Edward age 35, with $6000 in real estate and $2500 in personal property, and in his household were a Martha E. age 40 and 4 children. Now, who was this older Martha E., and had Mary died?

Well, the 1870 census throws further confusion on the situation, but the families have obviously grown richer. Marthy E. age 60 is worth $15,000 R.E. and $500 P.E., and is head of the household of Dr. Edward's children now in their teens (mary 18, Eugenia 16, E. Thomas 15, and Constantine 12). Was Marthy E., who had aged 20 years in 10 years time, the mother or second wife or what of Dr. Edward (who we assume had died)? Then we find little Edgar E. now age 12 with a sister Mary age 10 and Edgarine age 7 living with Dr. Edward Hurtt age 29 worth $10,000 R.E. and $1000 P.E. Surely this latter Dr. Edward was really Dr. Edgar, but now his wife seems to be missing.

Consulting the book Marriage Licenses, Prince George's Co., Maryland, 1777-1886, by Brown, reveals that Dr. Edward married a Mary M. Young 4-30-1849, and shows that Dr. Edgar married a Marie E. (Maria Eugenia) Young, 14 Oct. 1854, and Harriet Ophelia Edelen, 24 Jan. 1874. So how does Martha E. fit in? Were Maria and Mary Young cousins or sisters?

By checking the 1850 and 1860 censuses of Piscataway we find that Harriet Ophelia Edelen was the daughter of Dr. Richard Edelen. In Charles County Gentry, by Newman, are many pages on the Edelen family, and I could trace Harriet's ancestors back for generations to the immigrant. In addition to Dr. Richard Edelen in Piscataway, I found a Dr. Philip R. Edelen worth $45,000 and a Dr. Horace Edelen worth $45,000 in the 1860 census. I draw two interesting conclusions: The doctors of Piscataway were doing well financially despite their numbers, and the Doctors Hurtt were probably drawn to Piscataway by the Doctors Edelen.

Several breaks in the case followed in the next few months. I discovered in the D.A.R.'s Prince George's County, Maryland, Tombstone Records, that Dr. Edgar Hurtt died in 1917, his wife Harriet died in 1935, and the Martha E. Hurtt died in 1892, having been born in 1809. All are buried in St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church Cemetery in Piscataway. I also discovered a Dr. Thomas D. Hurtt (1802-1863) in Christ Church, Accokeek, Cemetery. A third Dr. Hurtt, what a surprise! And how did he relate to either Edward or Edgar? Piscataway seemed to be loaded with Doctors Hurtt. I had searched early P.C. County census records and found no Hurt/Hurtt names. The Doctors had been born in Maryland, but where? A fellow genealogist from the Eastern Shore heard me muttering one day and said "The Hurtts were prominent in Kent County. Have you looked there?" So I began searching census, probate, and marriage records, and the history of Old Kent County. On the 1850 census I found among many other Hurt/Hurtts a Thomas Hurtt, age 30, farmer, worth $6000, with female Martha E. age 35; female Maria L. age 30; and James W. age 25, laborer. And back in 1840 I found a Martha Hurtt age 30-40 with a male 5-10 and a male 10-15. Her children? About the right age groups for Edward and Edgar anyway. And in 1830 I found an Edward Hurtt age 50-60 with two males under 5, one 5-10, two 10-15, and one 15-20, plus a female 15-20, and one 30-40. Plenty of sons there, I thought.

In checking the wills of Kent Co., I found in 1765 a Henry Hurtt who had a wife Martha and owned land "Philip's Choice". They hadchildren Martha, Sarah, James, Joce, and John. Son John had a will of 1794 and gave "Philip's Choice" to sons John and Edward. But there was no will of Edward and no clues to his estate, though The name was a good clue.

Back to the probate index of P.G. Co. I stumbled across the will of Dr. Thomas Hurtt written 1850 in Kent Co. but proved 6 Jan. 1863 in P.G. Co. (Liber WAJ#1, folios 232, 332), and it opened some doors. Dr. Thomas willed his sister Martha E. the farm "Philip's Choice" of 200 acres subject to paying $40 annually to Maria L. Hurtt widow of Joce Hurtt. After the death of Martha the property was to go to brother Edward, then to the heirs of Martha E. and Edward and Edward lawfully begotten. Brother Edward was willed all of Thomas's right to the farm "Hynson's Desire", the dower of Mrs. Martha A. Jamart, 136 acres in Kent Co. The Edward "lawfully begotten" I later deduced must have meant actually Edgar the half brother. [Ed.: Whether or not the name Edward, repeated, should be read as Edgar, the term "lawfully begotten" in this context seems to refers to the heirs of Martha, Edward and Edward [sic] rather than to any of these siblings themselves.] At this stage I reasoned that Thomas was probably a great grandson of Henry, because of the land connection ["Philip's Choice"].

In response to a letter from me, Mrs. Elizabeth Westcott of Kennedyville, Md., a Hurtt descendant, provided some final clues to tie many of my tidbits together. She wrote that there were three Hurt brothers—John, Cornelius, and Henry—and a friend Pasco Joce who were in Kenty County in the middle 1700's. Later John went to Virginia and Cornelius went to Georgia. Edward was the grandson of Henry and indeed the father of the three doctors, as well as her ancestor. He had married Rebecca Me-ritt in 1806 and they had 12 children, including Thomas, Joce, Martha E., and Edward. Then in 1826 he married his cousin Martha A. Hurtt, and they had James William b. 15 Aug. 1827, and Edgar De Witt Hurtt b. 27 Mar. 1830. Father Edward died 11 May 1830, and widow Martha later married a Michael Jamart. Dr. Thomas Dollis Hurtt never married, but he graduated from Medical School in Baltimore in 1851; Dr. Edgar graduated from University of Maryland Medical and Surgery in 1854.

The various Marthas now fell into place-great grandmother Martha, great aunt Martha, half sister Martha E., and mother Martha A. But one puzzle still bugged me. Where was Edgar in 1850? Considering the medical education of Thomas in Baltimore, I flew to the Baltimore census of 1850. Lo and behold there in the 9th Ward was Edgar age 20 working as a clerk (probably earning education money) and living with stepfather Michael Jamart age 65, a tavernkeeper, and Martha A. age 50 his mother. There seemed to be a number of other Hurts in Baltimore at this time who had apparently migrated from the quiet Eastern Shore to the big city.

FEBRUARY 1980

I haven't dug further into the ancestry of Henry Hurt, though he was not the first Hurt in Kent County. I do know that Dr. Edgar's children were Edgar Eugenia b. 2 Mar. 1858, Mary Coralie b. 1 Feb. 1860, Anne Henrietta Edgarina b. 1863, by his first marriage; and Alma Mary b. 8 Nov. 1874, Clara Eugenia b. 5 Aug. 1878, Blanche O. b. 26 Nov. 1881, Clara Ophelia(?) b. 8 Oct. 1884, and Blanche Theresa b. July 1888. Out of curiosity I would be interested in queries, comments and additions to the Drs. Hurtt genealogy.

Meetings of the Society are held the first Wednesday of each month, September through June (except second Wednesday in January), at 7:30 p.m., at the GREENBELT BRANCH LIBRARY, 11 Crescent Road, Greenbelt, Maryland. Changes of meeting place will be announced in the BULLETIN.

The Society is a non-profit Educational and Cultural Organization, classified by the Internal Revenue Service as 501/c3. Gifts, contributions, endowments and bequests are tax deductible. Unless otherwise instructed, all correspondence, contributions and genealogical materials should be sent to P.O. Box 819, Bowie, MD 20715.

SPRING WORKSHOPS TO BLOSSOM

At the March 5 meeting, the schedule for the March and April workshops to be held in members' homes will be announced. You will have an opportunity to sign up for one each month, preferably choosing the one easiest for you to get to from your home.

At present we are planning for two each month in each of the three areas of the county (North, Central, and South). One of the two will be held in the evening, the other in the daytime.

The workshops will be for all, whether experienced, beginners, or somewhere in between. Help will be available; so bring your genealogical problems with you. Don't expect miracles, but do expect help.

Pat Paulkovich (474-7676) is Chair of the Spring Workshops, which will continue through June. If you can't attend the March 5 meeting, call her for the schedule and to give her your choices.

SHARING OUR RESEARCH EXPERIENCES

Ivan and Dorothy Rainwater spoke on research in the Carolinas in February. The talk included details on motels, coffee shops, and parking, as well as research facilities. Their notes will form the beginning entry for a new Society project: SHARING OUR RESEARCH EXPERIENCES. If you have traveled to do research, will you please send Kay Mayhew some notes on your experiences.

BEE KENNARD HOLDS OUT For Favorable Weather

If you came to our September meeting hoping to hear Bee Kennard talk about TALL TALES OF TEXAS GENEALOGY, you were disappointed due to a freak storm that left the library and many neighborhoods in darkness. Now you have another chance, however, because Bee has consented to be the featured speaker at our next meeting, Wednesday 5 March 1980, at the Greenbelt Public Library, 11 Crescent Road, in Greenbelt, Maryland. The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. After the business meeting, refreshments, and Bee's "tall tales", you will have an opportunity to meet other members and exchange genealogical experiences. We have use of the library's meeting room until 10:30 p.m. The public is invited.

Although Bee has been a resident of Laurel, Maryland, for a number of years, she is a native of Texas, and has traced her family back across the Old South to colonial Maryland. She is fortunate to live so conveniently to the records of her immigrant ancestors.

For our program, however, we expect Bee to give us some of her experiences in tracing branches of her family into and across Texas. This is another program in our series on problems of research in particular geographic regions. Our April program will feature Milton Rubincam on research in Wales. [DLW]

FROM BILL MILLER - - -

As I write this it is Wednesday morning, February 6, the day of our February meeting and our long-awaited talk on the Carolinas by the Rainwaters, and we are expecting 2-4 inches of snow by dark. What is it about the first Wednesday in February that makes it snow that day? Last year we anticipated a good turnout at the Bowie City Hall for Gordon Ebersole's talk on Ireland, and we had to cancel it because of snow. (It was January of this year before we did finally get to hear Gordon!) I am trusting today's storm will be mild so that we can go ahead with the Rainwaters' talk.

Just a word about how we decide whether to cancel or not. In the first place, I always try to work at home all day on meeting days, both to prepare for the meeting and to be available to receive telephone calls. When the weather is bad, please do not hesitate to call and let me know what you think about whether we should cancel or not. Kay Mayhew would welcome your calls as well, I'm sure. The decision is made by the two of us, based on the best information we can get from Weather Bureau, radio and TV, State Police, County Police, members, and anybody else who has data. (We should have cancelled in September due to heavy rain, but did not because the information we got was favorable to holding the meeting, but very few people came to the meeting that day.) If we do decide to cancel, we notify the following radio stations, if we can get through to them: WMAL (AM/630), WGMS (AM/570 and FM/103.5), WRC (AM/980), WTOP (AM/1500), and now WEAM (AM/1390), the last added because it has a large number of listeners now that it has gone Big Band. We will also try to get our announcement on TV Channels 4, 7, and 9 in time for their local evening news broadcasts. Of course, if you hear that the Library System is closed, then we will not hold our meeting but will also try to get our own announcement on as well. Too bad I didn't write this information for you last month.

We, we are counting on better weather next month, and plan to start in March our Spring series of Regional Workshops in members' homes. [See story elsewhere in this BULLETIN.] Pat Paulkovich has kindly accepted our request that she organize these. Pat held several of these in her home last year, and they were very successful, so that many of us are looking forward to expanding these both in frequency and in geography covered. We urge you to car pool to these, even though driving distance will be much less for most, and this will not only save more gasoline but also encourage greater attendance as groups get together to drive.

These will be put into a notebook and brought to all meetings. The notebook will include a list of states/areas and the names of people who have researched there. If you travel to research, please be sure to check the notebook (1) to add your name to the list and (2) to update information or add comments. The reports on research should have notes on:

- 4. personal reactions to facility.
- 5. places to stay.
- places to eat--snacks and coffee as well as meals.

Also please pick up an extra copy of handouts describing library contents to be included in our notebook. Send your material to Kay Mayhew, 4023 Wharton Turn, Bowie, MD 20715, or the Society, Box 819, Bowie; or call Kay at 262-8692. [CMM]

GENEALOGICAL NEWS BRIEFS

Olive Jones reports that Maryland genealogist Mrs. Dorothy H. Smith of Annapolis died on December 16. She was the author of ORPHANS AND INFANTS OF PRINCE GEORGE'S COUNTY and a member of our Society.

Many genealogical societies continue to warn people against ordering the misleading books produced by Beatrice Bayley. One newsletter suggests attaching a brick to her business reply envelope (which would cost Ms. Bayley $8.34 when delivered to her), and wonders how many newcomers to genealogy will be put off the hobby because of her.

It appears that the letter-writing campaign initiated by numerous genealogical and historical societies has succeeded, at least for now, in preventing the National Archives from dispersing its holdings to various regional centers. Letters received from Members of Congress indicate that they are now aware of the concerns of researchers. The Subcommittee on Government Information and Individual Rights is now looking into the activities of the General Services Administrator.

RECORDS PROJECT CHUGS ON; BULLETIN PICKS UP STEAM

Phyllis Luskey Cox, Chair of the Records Committee, is attempting to get the Wills and Administrations Index project moving again so that it can be finally brought to publication. She asks for volunteers who are willing to copy lists of names and dates from records at the Hyattsville Library or the Court House in Upper Marlboro. If you can spare some time for this effort, even a little, please call her at 567-6418.

Don Wilson, Chair of the Regular Publications Committee, reports that we now have a slight backlog of contributions for the BULLETIN and wants to thank all the persons who have answered his call. He says to please keep those items coming, especially if they deal with Prince George's County families or source materials. Karen Lowman, Distributor for the BULLETIN, says "MARY MOWBRAY gets my gold star this time for help in getting the February BULLETIN assembled and addressed. Thanks so much, Mary!" Don says Karen deserves a round of applause for sticking with him and getting the BULLETIN to the members dependably each month.

SOCIETY BY-LAWS FOR THE 1980 DECADE (Subject to review in 1985)

The Prince George's County Genealogical Society, now in its eleventh year, is required to review its By+aws every five years. The By-laws Review Committee sought out the views of the membership and Council. The revisions furnished as an insert in this BULLETIN will be presented at the April meeting of the membership for adoption. In accordance with the current By-laws, a two-thirds vote of those voting shall be needed for adoption. In accordance with Robert's Rules of Order Newly Revised, changes may be made by simple majority vote, provided the entire document is then approved by a two-thirds vote.

On the insert, the current By-laws are presented on the left side for convenient reference and the proposed revisions on the right side.

The revisions may be summarized as follows:

- Article V. Section 2. Additional membership classifications have been provided.
 - Section 3. Covers membership dues for the various classifications on a relative basis. The Council retains the task of fixing the exact figure to correspond with budget needs.
 - Section 4. Establishes the membership year and dates for payment of dues.
 - Section 7. New membership applications are presented in writing to the Membership Chair who then introduces the new members at the next regular meeting. Society vote is not required.
- Article VI. Section 1. Identifies the elective offices. Section 2. Establishes the period of service for Officers and Chairs of Standing Committees.
- Article VII. Sections 1-5. Describe the duties of the Officers. Note that Registrar and Auditor are now appointive offices. (Section 1)
 - Section 5. Provides for adoption of the budget prior to each fiscal year.
 - Section 6. Provides that Officers, Chairs of Standing and Special Committees, and the Registrar submit an annual report to the President. (This has generally been the custom.)
- Article VIII. Section 1. This is really no change in that Council membership remains all Officers and Chairs of Standing Committees.
 - Section 7. Changes the pronoun "his" in the old Section 8 to "the". [Throughout the new By-laws, "Chair" and "the" have been used to replace "Chairman" and "his", to correspond to new language customs.]
 - Section 8. Provides for a current description of duties of Council members for use by the Nominating Committee in its work and by newly elected or appointed heads.

Article IX. Establishes Standing Committees, including a new one, Ways and Means.

Article X. Sections 2 and 4. Drop the Auditor as an elective office. (See Article VII, Section 1. Office is now appointive.) Section 5. Former Section 5 is now part of Section 2, Article VI. The new Section 5 corresponds to most of the content of Section 2, Article VI of the old By-laws. [All provisions pertaining to nominations and elections are now consolidated under Article X.]

- Article XI. Section 1. Permits the Society to meet elsewhere than in Prince George's County should the need arise.
 - Section 2. Raises the quorum from ten members to twenty-five. (Attendance at meetings in 1978 and 1980 has been 75-100. Present membership is over 300.)
 - Section 4. Provides additional flexibility in conducting meetings.
- Article XII. Amendments. Now follows Robert's Rules of Order Newly Revised, allowing any member to bring a proposed amendment directly to the membership and no longer requiring written notice to all members.
- Article XIII. Section 1. Changes "monthly" to "regular" and corrects "June and July" to "July and August".
- Article XV. Reserved for future use so that Article XVI need not be renumbered.
- Article XVI. There is no change in this mandatory article. When approved, the new By-laws must be forwarded to the Internal Revenue Service.

In those cases where no change is shown, nevertheless the language will be changed by replacing "Chairman" and "his" with "Chair" and "the" to correspond to present language practices.

Thanks for everyone's assistance, especially the members of the By-laws Review Committee.

James A. McCafferty Chair, By-laws Review Committee

[NOTE: Members are urged to bring the enclosed copy of the proposed By-laws to the meetings of the Society in March and April.]

Notes from the Tour of the Federal Records Center Concerning Early D.C. Records

[A group of our members toured the Federal Records Center, a division of the National Archives, on 5 Feb. These are some notes they prepared.]

In checking on probate records at the Suitland Records Center, we were given four possible sources of information: (1) Probate Index, No. 1, Administration; (2) Probate Index, Vol. 1, Wills; (3) Old Chancery Rules and Dockets (A-Mc); and (4) 01d Chancery Rules and Dockets (M-Z). These are for the District of Columbia and are listed alphabetically. The old series of administration cases include 1801 to 1878. The old series of wills include those recorded from 1801 to May 1888. [Records prior to 1801 would be in PG or Montgomery Co.] After 1878 for administrations, and 1888 for wills, the new series of court records are in custody of U.S. District Court for D.C., and permission has to be given for these to be seen. The old series of court records are stored at Suitland, and by giving the name and any other information listed in the index, you may see the records in the research room.

The name given at the beginning of the tour was Janet Hargett, 763-7410, General Archives Division, but it was a Mrs.Lacey who helped us. She was the one who seemed to be the most informed about this particular area. She was most pleasant and willing to go out of her way. She also suggested that if all else fails, try RG 351 - Records of the Government of the District of Columbia Land Records, 1793-1863, and possibly a little bit of information might come out of it. Check for these with the Recorder of Deeds for the District. Please write your telephone number on each enquiry.

PHILIP LEWIN-A PRELIMINARY STUDY

By Donald Ray Barnes, C.G.

Philip Lewin was in Anne Arundel County, Maryland, by 1692/94.¹ He had his brand recorded in 1697² and purchased 106 acres called "Philips Folly" 16 Dec. 1698.³ He was a witness to a deed between John Accatamacca, Emperor of the Piscattaway and Col. John Addison and William Hutchison, 4 Oct. 1701.⁴ In 1713 he gave a deposition concerning Piscattaway Manor in which he stated he knew nothing of the land and to his knowledge had never laid eyes on same. Unfortunately the clerk forgot to ask his age but estimated same as about sixty years.⁵

In 1719 he was included in a list of taxables for Piscattaway Hundred⁶, and in March 1722 he was exempted from taxes owing to his great age.⁷ Assuming an age of sixty to seventy years we may assume a probable birth date as circa 1652-1662.

His death occurred in the summer of 1722 and by his will (20 July-15 Aug. 1722) he left his land to his grandsons. . . . to grandson, Philip Gibbs, 1/2 of tract called 'Stone Hill' plus the parcel of land his father now lives on. . . . to grandson, James Jones remaining half of Stone Hill . . . wood-land to be divided between grandchildren, sons of James Gibbs . . . to grandson, James Gibbs son of James, tract called "Philips Folly" laid out on 106 acres. . . . the granddaughters, Mary Anne, Jane and Mary Gibbs, each were to receive a cow when they came of age.⁸

He was survived by one daughter, Elizabeth Jones,⁹ whose husband Edward Jones had died the previous spring.¹⁰ By her late husband, Edward Jones, Elizabeth had had the following children: Levin/Lewin b. ca. 1701 (he signed his mark as the nearest of kin to Philip Lewin's inventory), James, Edward, William b. 17 April 1712,¹¹ John b. 20 Oct. 1713,¹² and Philip b. 16 Oct. 1719.¹³

Mary Gibbs, a daughter of Philip Lewin, predeceased her father.¹⁴ She was survived by her husband, James, and the following children: Philip b. 9 Feb. 1706/07, James b. 23 Feb. 1709, Mary Ann b. 13 July 1712, Mary b. 3 Jan. 1714, Andrew b. 12 Feb. 1717 and Jane b. 31 Aug. 1720.¹⁵ James Gibbs, the father of the above children was dead by March 1724.¹⁶

Elizabeth Jones, the surviving child of Philip Lewin and the widow of Edward Jones married Henry Barnes by May 1723.¹⁷ He was in Prince George's County as early as 1718 when he was paid ± 400 tobacco for keeping an Indian child for nine months.¹⁸ He appeared as a taxable in Piscattaway Hundred in 1719,¹⁹ and was dead by May 1727 when ± 400 bond was posted by his widow, Elizabeth, Christopher Edelin and Levin (Lewin) Jones.²⁰ The total inventory was ± 109 -8-4 including ± 5 for the Rev. William Maconchie for funeral charges.^{21,22}

Elizabeth Lewin Jones had at least two children by her second marriage to Henry Barnes: Mary and Henry. The eldest, Mary, was about five years of age in 1727/28.²³ Elizabeth Barnes, widow of Henry last appears in the records as a taxable of Upper Piscattaway Hundred in 1733. Her children by Edward Jones appear in the same list as does Joseph Barnes.²⁴ REFERENCES [HR = Hall of Records, Annapolis, Maryland]

ENGLISH RESEARCH SPECIALISTS CONTINUE FREE COUNSELING SERVICE

In our February BULLETIN we listed the times that English Research Specialists Corma and Arthur Chapman would be available for free consultation at the Silver Spring Branch Genealogical Library (L.D.S. Church). Mrs. Chapman writes, March 11:

"I have not [set] my exact schedule for appointments at the branch library after March, but I will be there each week up through June and then again next fall.

"Several are calling the Library on Randolph Road for appointments and finding it not open. The following is the schedule of the Silver Spring Branch Genealogical Library on 500 Randolph Road:

Mon. 9-5, Tues. 7-10 pm, Wed. 9-5 and 7-10 pm, Thurs. 7-10 pm, Fri. closed. First and third Saturday: 9-5.

Telephone number: 622-0088.

Please call the library on those hours. Sincerely, CORMA CHAPMAN."

As was stated in the original article, the Chapmans are careful to schedule only as many appointments as they can handle on a personal basis. When you are scheduled, please bring along family group sheets on the lines you are tracing.

The ancestral chart that appears on the next four pages is considerably longer than those we usually print, but it contains so many early Maryland families that we thought it worth publishing in its entirety. Charles E. Moylan, Jr., is Associate Judge of the Maryland Court of Special Appeals, Baltimore, and a new member of our Society. Note that some of the names also appear on the chart of Jane (Dawson) Digerness, published in the February issue of the BULLETIN. [DLW] APRIL 1980

BLANKENSHIP-POWERS FAMILY BIBLE RECORD

The following record was copied from a family Bible belonging to Mattie Blankenship Powers Reynolds of Bluefield, Virginia, and submitted by Theresa Jane Powers, 7174 Donnell Place, Apt. B5, Forestville, MD 20028. Mrs. Powers, a member of our society, did not report the date or place of publication of the Bible (information that would be useful in determining when the data was recorded), but she states that "S.F. (Shirley Franklin) Powers of Campbell County, Tennessee married Mattie Blankenship of Tazewell, Virginia, in 1925. Several of these birth records are not in state vital statistics, hence the value of this record."

THANKS, BULLETIN STAFF!

For this April issue, RUTH STULTZ is filling in for KAREN LOWMAN, who had to be out of town. Ruth is organizing the collating and mailing. Karen reports that for the March BULLETIN, she and her crew were able to get the assembling and mailing done in a single day, with delivery to the Post Office by 5 p.m.! She says, "Hurray for helpers MARY BETH ABEL (who hosted our work session this month) and MARY MOWBRAY!" I want to add my thanks for them and all who contributed material for this In addition to those month's issue. with by-lines: JIM SORENSEN, KAY MAYHEW, PAT PAULKOVICH, MARY CONNER, and ELISE JENNINGS. Thanks!

We are printing this Bible record as a service to our readers, although the families involved do not seem to have a connection to Maryland. Blankenships have been long-time residents of central and southern Virginia; Ralph Blankenship died in Henrico County ca. 1714. The Powers name is found in many places during the colonial period.

We urge our readers, if they have transcripts of unpublished Bible records to make them available to other researchers. The best ways are:

(1) to deposit copies in appropriate genealogical research libraries: the Maryland Historical Society for Maryland families; the Virginia State Library and the Virginia Historical Society for Virginia families; etc.

(2) to submit a copy for publication in an appropriate journal. Our BULLETIN is of course most appropriate for Maryland, especially Prince George's County, families. If we have space, however, we will consider publishing early Bible records whose province cannot be determined. [DLW]

BOOK REVIEW - - - - - - - - - - - By Shirley Langdon Wilcox, C.G.

A HISTORY OF SUITLAND, PRINCE GEORGE'S COUNTY, MARYLAND, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA 1867-1976. C1976. 44 pp. A gift to the Society from Louise Whitehead.

Suitland was named for "Col." Samuel Taylor Suit who was born in Bladensburg in the early 1830's. A brief history of the Suit family and the area in which they lived is followed by a section on early residents and homes. Minutes of the Prince George's County Genealogical Society Meeting 5 March 1980

The meeting was called to order at 7:32 p.m. by First Vice President Catherine M. Mayhew. The minutes of the previous meeting held 6 February 1980 were approved as printed in the March BULLETIN. The Treasurer, Ken Clagett, reported on a check-ing account balance of $216.68 and a savings account balance of $3,050.47, totaling $3,267.15.

Committee Reports:

Programs: The 2 April program will be a talk by Milton Rubincam: An Excursion into the Problems of Welsh Genealogies.

Regular Publications: The newly-revised directory will be included in the May BULLETIN.

Education: There will be a trip on March 15 to the Peabody Library in Baltimore. Elise Jennings is coordinating a car pool to Baltimore.

On February 21, Elise and Pat Paulkovich spoke to the Women's Guild of St. Joseph's Church in Beltsville. There were about 30 attendees, and a donation of $35.00 was made for the purchase of Irish and Scotch-Irish Ancestral Research, vol. I & II.

Regional home workshops have now been scheduled throughout the county in March and April. Pat Paulkovich should be contacted for exact dates and places. [See first page of this issue.]

Records: Phyllis Cox recognized ten volunteers who had assisted in researching our publication #5. They were Mike Cassady, Dorothy and Ivan Rainwater, Bill Miller, Don Wilson, Irene Shrader, Ann Whiteside, Mary Beth Abel, Eleanor Poole, and Jane McCafferty.

Membership: Unanimously, the following individuals were voted into membership: Judith Phillips Wilson, Karen Louise Miles, S. Harry Furman, Cecilia Winlack Mastin, Michael Raymond Cassady, and Edwin Bradford Washington, Jr.

Librarian: A complete card catalog is now available.

By-Laws: The final draft of the By-Law revisions was included in the March BULLETIN, and copies were available at the meeting. Voting will be accomplished at the April meeting.

It was moved and seconded that our Society purchase a book entitled COUNTY BY COUNTY GENEALOGY, published by the Ohio State Library in Columbus, Ohio. It was part of Jane McCafferty's "Show and Tell".

As the initial entry in our Society project "Sharing Our Research Experiences", Ivan and Dorothy Rainwater presented a notebook entitled STATE ARCHIVES AND LIBRA-RIES. Members were encouraged to contribute dated material to keep it current.

For an undetermined amount of time, the material now stored at the National Archives will remain there. If a better method of dissemination can be found, that decision may be reviewed.

After an intermission during which refreshments were available, Bee Kennard spoke on TALL TALES OF TEXAS GENEALOGY.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:35 p.m.

COMMENTARY FROM KAY MAYHEW

Congratulations! You have approved the revised By-Laws. They provide concise guidelines for our Society. This is important because the Council will need to interpret them to meet unforeseen problems.

One time at an annual meeting, the secretary of a social organization was asked to make a judgment on the eligibility of a voter. He rose and declared the man "illegible [sic] to vote." A member questioned what that meant, and another offered that it meant the man could only vote on a voice vote.

Your eligibility to be a contributing member of our Society depends on you. The new By-Laws offer you the opportunity to become more directly involved in the running of our Society. Half of the Council will be appointed. If you want to be a part of this, you can be. It's up to you.

FROM BILL MILLER - - -

The sudden need for me to go back to the old home town because of my aged mother's illness dramatized for me the importance of being careful to interview and tape record the old folks before it's too late.

Aside from the sadness of seeing her deteriorate physically and mentally so rapidly and having to go through decades of belongings and mementoes in preparing the old family home for sale to strangers, there was a real sadness that we had never shared enough together of the memories of the old days she held in her head, memories of traditions about the Civil War, about crossing Lake Pontchartrain in a covered wagon, about numerous cousins, sweet grandmother Sarah, and the like. She held so much in her aged head that may never be shared now, for hardening of the arteries has finally taken its inevitable toll.

The lesson? It's obvious. We have a duty, I believe, to research our own families, so that the information may be shared with our children and they with their descendants. But we have a special responsibility — one which can be borne by no one else: somehow to make sure, if we possibly can, that family information of importance is not lost forever when the older members of the family pass on. Such information, of course, includes stories of the old days, stories about wars, economic hardship, weddings, children lost to disease or accident, injuries in the mill or on the farm, special educational achievements, and the like. Of course, the stories may not be always true, but we are getting good at finding ways to verify or disprove things. . First we must know what to look for, and the older people can be of invaluable help here.

Happily, Marge and I have tape recorded our mothers' memories on several occasions. (I think all of us genealogists ought to have two recorders, because that way we will always have a back-up machine available. In this way, we can avoid having to buy and maintain expensive recorders and make do with the $30-$40 machines, the kind you can purchase at the drug store in the neighborhood. They are perfectly satisfactory for voice recording if not for high-fidelity music.) Happily again, they both like to talk about the old days. Sometimes old folks don't. Then you could use one of the Oral History courses which tell you how to draw out the old timers without tiring them. It's well worth the effort and will add real life to your genealogy. And that's what it's all about!

THE BUSSEY (BUSEY) FAMILIES OF MARYLAND

By Donald L. Wilson

PART 2: DESCENDANTS OF PAUL BUSEY

In a previous article,¹ we described some of the family of GEORGE BUSSEY (1), an early settler of Calvert County with many descendants.² One of his neighbors in Calvert County had a similar if not identical surname, which he also left to numerous descendants. It is not known if PAUL BUSEY (2) and George Bussey were related, but they certainly knew each other. When George Bussey died in 1668, Paul Bussey was listed as owing 55 pounds of tobacco to the decedent's estate.³

If the two men were related, it is unlikely to have been close, for two reasons: (1) The pronunciations of their surnames seem to have been distinct. If the spelling in the Maryland colonial records is BUSHY or BUSSY, one may be generally confident that a descendant of George is referred to. If the spelling is BUCEY or BEUSEY (or, to a lesser extent, BUSEY) it is likely to refer to a descendant of Paul. The spellings BUSSEY and BUSY are possible for either family, because their pronunciations are ambiguous, but I have found that they usually pertain to George's descendants. (2) The names George and Paul gave their children had no common origin. To the end of the eighteenth century George and Hezekiah are tracenames for the Bussey family (in the earliest days, so was Henry); while Paul is the chief tracename for the Buseys. Charles, Samuel, and Edward entered both families during the colonial period, but from different sources.

2. PAUL BUSEY was brought to Maryland in 1651 by his stepfather, Henry Cox, who in a patent dated 24 Jan. 1652[1653], demanded 200 acres "for transporting himself and Paul Busy, son of Elizabeth his former wife into this province anno 1651."⁴ From this document, it appears that Paul's father was deceased before 1651; his mother ELIZABETH (----) BUSEY had married HENRY COX and then she herself died, probably in England since she is not claimed as a headright. We know that Henry Cox was a landowner in Calvert County⁵ and lived there as late as 1689⁶, but I have not tried to trace him further.

Having probably returned to England temporarily, Paul Busey apparently made a second voyage to Maryland in 1655, being claimed as a headright by Theophilus Lewis.⁷ In 1659, Paul Bucey claimed and was granted a warrant for 150 acres of land, based on his own immigration and his having served Henry Cox for a period of years.⁸ I have been unable to identify this land from the patents and rent rolls at the Hall of Records, assuming the land was actually patented. At any rate, Paul Busey seems to have lived near George Bussey's tract called "Popinjay" in Calvert County, on the north side of Patuxent River, in its freshes (its upper regions, away from salt water): When Henry Parrott, a later owner of "Popinjay", sold that tract in 1670, Paul (mark: \mapsto) Bury [sic] witnessed the transaction.⁹

Paul Busey of Calvert County died shortly before 17 Dec. 1685, when his widow Susannah was granted letters of administration.¹⁰ William Selby and Richard Bowen acted as sureties for her bond, suggesting that one or both of them might be her kin.¹¹ The available evidence suggests that Paul Busey's widow SUSANNA was a sister of WILLIAM SELBY. Among Selby's children were a Susanna and a Charles.¹² Paul and Susanna Busey also seem to have a child Charles, a tracename in their family. Proof of this theory is as yet lacking.

Although the names of Paul Busey's children are not reported in the probate records, it is certain that he had at least one son, because the widow requested an allowance of 60 pounds tobacco from the estate "for my sons trouble in coming forward and backward to exhibit an inventory."¹³

Through circumstantial evidence, we can be rather certain that Paul (2) and Susanna Busey were the parents of (30) PAUL, b. ca. 1665, and (31) CHARLES, b. ca. 1670. There may well have been daughters of whom we are unaware.¹⁴

30. PAUL BUSEY, born ca. 1665, was apparently the eldest son of Paul (2) and Susanna Busey. (The coincidence of two Paul Buseys in Calvert Co., Md., in the late seventeenth century makes some relationship a sure bet. That Paul and his brother Charles each named a child Susanna is additional evidence that they are sons of Susanna Busey.) Because he was not appointed administrator of his father's estate in 1685, this Paul was probably under age 21 at that time. Nevertheless he apparently reached his majority by 12 Sept. 1687, by which time he had acted as his mother's legal representative in court (assuming he is the unnamed son mentioned above).¹³ If this conclusion is correct, his birthdate is narrowed to 1664/66.

Paul was a juror in Calvert County as early as 1694,¹⁵ and was living in P.G.Co. when that county was created (1696). He entered his earmark immediately and served a number of times on juries during the next several years.¹⁶ In 1699, "Paul Bewsey, late of Prince George's County, planter", became drunk and got into a fight at the county seat (Charles Town), and was fined 100 pounds of tobacco.¹⁷ He continued to appear in court and land records in succeeding years.

In his will, dated 24 Sept. 1718 and probated 1 Nov. 1718, Paul Busey names his wife Sarah and his six sons: (32) PAUL, (33) JOHN, (34) CHARLES, bapt. 9 Oct. 1698, aged about 9 months, St. James Parish, Anne Arundel Co.; (35) SAMUEL, (36) EDWARD, and (37) JOSHUA, b. ca. 1711. His executors were to be his wife, his son Paul, and his brother Charles (31).¹⁸ His widow's account, in 1721, indicated that Paul was survived by six sons and four daughters (not named).¹⁹

SARAH, widow of Paul Busey, was a daughter of JOHN WHIPPS of Calvert County. In his will, 1716, Whipps gave his daughter Sarah Busey 20 shillings.²⁰ Under her husband's will, Sarah held "Charles Hill" and "Toulon" in P.G.Co. during her lifetime. As Sarah Beusey of P.G.Co. she died testate between 25 Aug. and 2 Dec. 1745, her will naming son Edward Beusey, son-in-law Joseph Richardson, son-in-law and daughter Griffith and Ann Davis, granddaughter Mary Rae, and "all my children living." Her eldest surviving son, John Beusey, was to be executor.²¹

From various records found, it appears that Paul and Sarah (Whipps) Busey had the following daughters: (38) ANN, wife of GRIFFITH DAVIS; (39) [SUSANNAH?] wife of JOSEPH RICHARDSON; (40) SARAH, b. ca. 1714, wife of JOHN RAY; and (41) an unknown daughter, perhaps the wife of --- ALLEN.²²

31. CHARLES BUSEY, born ca. 1670, was apparently a son of Paul (2) and Susanna Busey. He was named as brother and executor of the will of Paul Busey (30), 1718. In 1704, Charles Buesey sold 100 acres in Prince George's County, called "Twyfool."23 This deed recites that he had inherited the land by the will of William Downing, and that Downing had bought the land from William Selby, deceased [Charles Busey's uncle?]; also that the land was not made over legally from Selby to Downing in their lifetimes. (Although not stated, there is a hint here that Selby gave the land to Downing without payment.) A search of the probate index at the Hall of Records has turned up no will or administration for William Downing. His will was probably probated in Calvert County before the creation of Prince George's County from it (1696), and thus it perished with the Calvert County courthouse in 1882. Somehow it also escaped being sent to the Prerogative Court of Maryland to be recorded, a common occurance during the period 1689-1692 when the Provincial government was in chaos. At any rate, the latest record I have found for William Downing is dated 1685, when he and other residents of Calvert County (including William Selby) petitioned the Governor to build a new town on the Patuxent River on land belonging to John Boling rather than on land of Henry Cox. 24

MAY 1980

How was William Downing related to Charles Busey? We have no certain evidence, but I suspect that Downing married (after September 1687) the widowed Susanna Busey, Charles's mother. If Downing were Selby's brother-in-law, that would explain the first conveyance of "Twyfool"; and if Downing were Charles Busey's stepfather, that would explain the second conveyance (especially if Selby had given "Twyfool" to his sister and her husband with the provision that it descend to the nephew Charles). This is all speculation of course. Another possibility is that Charles Busey married (ca. 1692) a daughter of William Downing; but if that were true, Busey's deed of 1704 ought to mention his (deceased) wife as the heir.

There is one complication to this story of the transfer of "Twyfool": In William Selby's will, dated 5 Nov. 1698, P.G.Co., he devises all the tract called "Twyford" containing 100 acres, to his daughter Amee Hucker [Hooker].²⁵ "Twyfool" and "Twyford" appear to refer to the same tract, known as "Twiver" when it was patented to George Collins in 1673.²⁶ It is not clear how William Selby could have devised the land to his daughter in his will and also have conveyed it to William Downing (apparently earlier). Somehow, Downing's claim must have had precedence.

Charles Bussey received 200 acres in Calvert County, called "Dunkirk" from [his brother] Paul Bussey, 1712. This land had been surveyed for William Groom in 1669, but the surviving record does not indicate how Paul Busey obtained it. Charles sold all but ten acres of this tract by 1726.²⁷ Charles Busey apparently owned other lands at the time of his death, and their chainsof title might clarify the relationships of some of his descendants.

The will of Charles Busie Sr. of Calvert County was dated 9 April and probated 17 June 1727.²⁸ It names his wife Dinah and ten children. The four eldest are: (42) CHARLES, (43) SUSANNAH, wife of — BENSON; (44) MARY, wife of — SIMPSON; and (45) SARAH. (46) PAUL appears to be next in age, and then come the "five youngest children": (47) SAMUEL, b. ca. 1708 (apparently over 18); (48) DANIEL, b. ca. 1710 (under 18); (49) ELIZABETH, (50) VILINDER [VERLINDA], and (51) CLARE.

Charles Busey must have been a widower in 1704 when he sold the land in Prince George's County, since no wife released her dower to that property. He apparently soon married, as his second wife, DINAH or DIANA BROWN. Daniel Brown of Calvert County, in his will dated 1726, gave his daughter Dinah Buce [sic] one shilling.²⁹ Dinah was probably the mother of the five youngest children, who were to receive the residue of their father's estate after her death. The four eldest children, receiving one shilling each, were probably born to Charles's first wife. It is likely that they had previously received a portion of the estate; the eldest, Charles, under the law of primogeniture, would automatically inherit any land not specifically willed to the other children. We cannot be certain who the mother of Paul is, although it is probably Dinah: Dinah and Paul were to divide the proceeds of selling a certain tract, according to Charles's will. Paul's estimated birthdate (ca. 1706) also allows Dinah to be the mother.

Dinah (Brown) Busey was married, before 31 May 1728, to John Williams, who joined her in the administration of Charles Busey's estate.³⁰ John Williams died intestate in Prince George's County, ca. 1740, with Mrs. Dinah Williams his administratrix. Belinda [=Verlinda?] Busey and Elizabeth Mason [his stepdaughters?] were listed as next of kin.

BOOK REVIEWS - - - - - - - - - By Shirley Langdon Wilcox, C.G.

JOHN WHEELER, 1630-1693, OF CHARLES COUNTY, MARYLAND, AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS, by Walter V. Ball. 1966. 108 pp. plus appendix. Indexed. A gift from the author.

This soft cover book was sent to the Maryland Historical Society in 1966 and was awarded first prize in their Parker Genealogical Contest. It is obvious that the author spent countless hours searching all types of original source material in order to make an accurate and thorough genealogical study of the descendants of John Wheeler.

John Wheeler is shown to have come to Maryland in 1652. His wife's name was Mary and she was still living at the time of his death. His will, written 11 Nov. 1693, was proved 8 Jan. 1694. Some fo the land he owned was part of the area that later became Prince George's County. Readers are advised that Donald R. Barnes has found further information on John Wheeler Jr. and does not feel that the John who died in 1684 is part of the Charles County family. See Mr. Barnes' article in the March 1979 issue of the PRINCE GEORGE'S COUNTY GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY BULLETIN, p. 8. As Mr. Ball did not know John Wheeler Jr. had children, this does not change any of the lineages given in his book, but the reader should be aware that there is further information on John Wheeler Jr. of Chapter II (p.13) which at this point makes it unclear what, if any, relation exists between this John Jr. and the John who died in 1693.

It should be noted that the second Wheeler error pointed out by Mr. Barnes in his article comparing his findings with a previously published work on the Butterworth family by Walter V. Ball, concerning Ann, wife of Hillary Ball, had already been corrected by Mr. Ball in the book presently under review. As Mr. Ball shows that Ann Wheeler, daughter of James, had married Hillary Ball first, and Mr. Scandrell second. (See p. 14 of the Wheeler genealogy.)

Mr. Ball has advised us that there are no more books left for sale, but that he will be glad to answer questions about the Wheeler family. The author is now 79 years old and lives at 3314 Coquelin Terrace, Chevy Chase, MD 20015.

THE ANCESTORS OF SUSAN WHEELER DECATUR, by Walter V. Ball. 19 pp. A gift from the author.

This is a supplement to the above publication, as it was not until after the John Wheeler genealogy was printed that the author learned that Susan Decatur was a daughter of Luke Wheeler of Baltimore, Maryland, and Norfolk, Virginia. With additional research he was able to prove that Susan was a descendant of Thomas Greene, immigrant to Maryland on the Ark in 1634. Allied lines can be traced to the Marbury and Hanson families.

Using inventory and account books the author shows that Luke Marbury Sr. did not have just one child as stated by Effie Gwynn Bowie in ACROSS THE YEARS IN PRINCE CEORGE'S COUNTY, but instead had eight children. As with the Wheeler genealogy it is apparent the author made extensive use of primary source material and produced a typescript of high caliber.

TOMBSTONE INSCRIPTIONS OF SOUTHERN ANNE ARUNDEL COUNTY, compiled by Marlborough Towne Chapter, N.S.D.A.R. Baltimore, Gateway Press, Inc., 1971. 443 pp. Indexed. $15.00. Purchased by the Society.

In 1967, Marlborough Towne Chapter, N.S.D.A.R. decided to compile a book of tombstone inscriptions for the southern portion of Anne Arundel County south of Annapolis, since stones in this area had never been transcribed. Numerous cemeteries were transcribed, many of them being small private burial grounds. Exact locations are cited so that researchers could easily find the cemeteries at a later date.

The Treasurer, Ken Clagett, reported a checking account balance of $104.76, and a savings account balance of $3,050.47, totaling $3,155.23.

Committee Reports:

Programs: The 7 May speaker will be William Stapp. He will talk on identifying old photographs, and members were urged to bring in their old photos.

Regular Publications: There are now over 400 addresses on the BULLETIN mailing list.

Education: The trip to Peabody Library was taken. The schedule for home workshops is still in effect and those interested should contact Pat Paulkovich.

By-Laws: Ken Clagett, acting chairman of the committee, presented the Proposed By-Laws Revisions for adoption. There was some discussion, after which Mary Jenkins made a motion under Article V, Section 4, as follows: "All officers shall be elected by a majority vote cast by ballot and/or voice vote and officers shall assume office at the end of the election meeting." The underlined portion to replace "... shall assume office upon election." The motion was unanimously passed.

Acting upon a suggestion made by William Bowie, Ken Clagett made a motion to add to the newly-passed Article X, Section 4, the following: "... with the exception of the Treasurer, who will assume office at the beginning of the fiscal year." The motion was passed by a majority of those members present.

Librarian: A new book has been acquired entitled BELLE AIR IN BOWIE.

Membership: Conforming to the newly-approved By-Laws, Sarah Fleming presented eleven new members: Josep A. Norris, Annette Rita Katz Mattern, John Andrew Scott, Charles Frederick Matson, Sharon Carrick, Paul V. Koberg, Ernest Engelkemier, Arthur O. and Corma G. Chapman, Nancy Crayton Dobbins Griffith, and Augustine Process Service Company, Inc.

New Business: Bill Miller announced that the following members have agreed to serve on the nominating committee: Shirley Wilcox, chair; Karen Lowman, Ivan Rainwater, and Tim Conner. They will present a slate of candidates for President, First and Second Vice-Presidents, Secretary, and Treasurer at the 7 May meeting, and voting will be accomplished at the 4 June meeting. Nominations from the floor will be accepted if the proposed nominee has agreed.

After a brief intermission, Milton Rubincam spoke on An Excursion into the Problems of Welsh Genealogies. The meeting was adjourned at 9: p.m.

NEW PLANS FOR GENERLOGICAL HELP

By Pat Paulkovich

Our regional workshops were held in March and April with a degree of success, we hope. Some came looking for a ray of hope, a little encouragement, or even an immediate miracle. I am sure all received hope and much encouragement. The miracles take a little longer.

I want to thank those hosting the workshops and our able counselorseveryone who helped me. Some who came for help also counselled and that's what we had hoped for.

This coming year we are going to try a new approach on counseling. Instead of regional workshops, we will try oneon-one. Our efforts will be put into trying to guide you to someone who is familiar with your area or era of problems. Perhaps a question can be answered by a phone call instead of a meeting. In order to do this we will need willing counselors.

If you wish to speak to someone about your genealogical puzzle, put your name, phone number and address, and enough of your puzzle so we can get a clue as to who to approach to help. If you are willing to give a few minutes of time to counsel, please put your name and phone number down with your specialty. Call Pat Paulkovich, 474-7676, for help in setting up a one-to-one meeting.

Corma Chapman to Talk on Family Research in England

Our final meeting of the season, Wednesday, June 4, will be the scene of considerable business and will feature a slide-talk on English genealogical research by Corma Chapman, English research specialist with the L.D.S. Church. She and her husband, Arthur, currently residents of Kensington, have been providing free individual research counseling at the Genealogical Library on Randolph Road, Silver Spring, for the past few months, in addition to operating the visitor's center at the Mormon Temple.

The business meeting, prior to the talk, will include election of officers for the coming year, from the slate of nominees presented at the May meeting [see p. 115] plus any nominees entered from the floor. Also at the meeting, the Treasurer will present a budget for the coming year, for member approval.

The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. at the Greenbelt Public Library, 11 Crescent Road, Greenbelt, Maryland. The public is invited.

PRINCE GEORGE'S HERITAGE (1696-1800), by Louise Hienton, 1972, is now available at the Indian Queen Tavern, Bladensburg for $13.00. Call Bill Aleshire at 262-5505 to reserve a copy.

ANNUAL DUES OF $6.00 ARE NOW PAYABLE FOR THE YEAR JULY 1980-JUNE 1981. PLEASE PAY WITHOUT BEING REMINDED-IT SAVES US THE COST OF POSTAGE. FROM BILL MILLER - - -

It's time once more to review accomplishments as we come to the end of our eleventh year.

The year 1979-80 began with our most successful Tenth Anniversary celebration. We held a receiption on September 15 and followed it a week later with a genealogical forum featuring three outstanding nationally known speakers. Special thanks for these events are due Ann Lawrence, Freeman Morgan, Kay Mayhew, and, for the beautiful, delicious anniversary cake, Evelyn Miner.

I want to thank personally all the members of the Council for their excellent work during this year as well as the first year of my presidency. They are truly a fine bunch to work with, full of enthusiasm and get-up-and-go.

Kay Mayhew and her Program Committee arranged another set of outstanding programs; found us an excellent new meeting place; fed us well during our social periods (special thanks to Nova Boyer and all those who brought the goodies and fixed the coffee); and secured such good publicity for the Society's activities (Mary Faust being one of the best publicity people I have ever known).

Sarah Fleming's Membership Committee brought us another set of new members this year, about 100, making our total membership now about 340.

Jerry Sue Bowersox, our Secretary, and Ken Clagett, our Treasurer, kept us operating efficiently and kept us out of trouble with the Post Office and the IRS. We are especially grateful to Ken for his new ledger system of accounts, making sure we keep in the black financially.

Always the greatest chores fall on the Regular Publications Committee, and this was a specially difficult year, with Donald Wilson, Chair, having to remove his home to near Manassas, Virginia, early in the fall. But he never failed to meet a deadline, and everybody on the Committee pitched right in to make sure everything came off well. The BULLETIN continues to be a thing of beauty and high quality! See back page for the members of his staff, and thank them personally, all of you, when you get a chance. Special thanks to them all and, of course, to Donald Barnes, special editor, for the BULLETIN SUPPLEMENT published with the November issue. The articles therein, by Shirley Wilcox, Olive Jones, and Milton Rubincam, have helped us share some of our outstanding genealogical programs with a vast audience. Willard Heiss, with permission of course, reprinted two of the articles in his GENEALOGY (published by the Indiana Historical Society). We understand another BULLETIN SUPPLEMENT is planned for the Fall of 1980. These really build the Society's reputation.

The Special Publications Committee, Shirley Wilcox, Chair, continued to market the Society's publications 2, 3, and 4, while readying plans for the publication of no. 5, INDEX TO PRINCE GEORGE'S COUNTY WILLS AND ADMINISTRATIONS, 1696-1971. Their sales of the census volume reached levels beyond expectations during this year, thanks to their advertising efforts.

The Records Committee, Phyllis Cox, Chair, with the help of a number of dedicated volunteers completed the original copy work for the new volume, and is now hard at work on the checking process, so that we can look forward to publication next year, another way we build our reputation as a Society. Jean Sargent, Registrar, member of the Records Committee, continued her fine work in answering queries by mail from a large number of correspondents. She contributes a lot of personal time to this task which frequently takes her to various research facilities.

Elise Jennings and the Education Committee kept us supplied with beginner's kits, publications, and forms; they conducted a number of field trips to area research facilities; Jim Sorenson got the Library into excellent shape, including the card index; and Irene Shrader maintained the surname file in fine condition. Other educational activities during the year included the One-to-One workshops during the summer, the Beginners Seminar series at the Hyattsville Library (with talks by Ann Wellhouse, Shirley Wilcox, Freeman Morgan, Donald Barnes, and myself), and the spring workshops in members homes arranged by Pat Paulkovich. Donald Barnes chaired our seminar committee and did a fine job while also giving help to the new Montgomery County society and editing our BULLETIN SUPPLEMENT, thus showing remarkable stamina. I want to thank all of these people for their contributions of time and talent and also all the others who helped as consultants at these activities.

The final thing which comes to mind is the revision of our by-laws, a major job which comes around only once in five years as a rule. We have only recently paid our thanks to the whole committee, but I want to add a special note of thanks to Jim McCafferty, Committee Chair, for the way-beyond-the-call-of-duty job he did. Jim assured that we always knew just what was going on and always had more than adequate supplies of copies of the old and new by-laws for discussion. Everybody felt comfortable with what was going on, that nothing was being railroaded through. Under his leadership, the Committee solicited all possible ideas for change and tried to accomodate everybody's constructive ideas. We can take pride that the Society's by-laws are in fine shape for the 1980's and our second decade as a Society.

Just a final word. A few weeks ago I had the real pleasure of serving on a panel chaired by Kenn Stryker-Rodda as part of a workshop at the Genealogical Society of Pennsylvania conducted to help new and struggling genealogical and historical societies become successful. What was so much fun was telling about our success in this Society. Much credit belongs to all of you members who have pitched in and met needs as they developed, helping the Council carry out a successful program. I have not by any means named all of you, but I should have done so. Accept my apologies, all of you that I have missed, and Mr. Editor, accept my apologies for taking up so much extra space this time. I have enjoyed serving as President and am now looking forward to working on the Council with your new President, to be chosen at the coming meeting.

WE WELCOME NEW MEMBERS

ENGLISH GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH

By Corma Chapman

[Mrs. Chapman requested the following outline be included in this issue of the BULLETIN, for the benefit of those attending her talk before our Society, 4 June.]

HISTORY OF PARISH REGISTERS AND BISHOP'S TRANSCRIPTS

- 1538 Henry VIII ordered parish registers to be started. A chest with two locks was to be obtained by each parish to keep the register in. The minister was to write every Sunday, in the presence of the churchwardens, all the baptisms, marriages, and burials that had taken place the preceding week. In case of neglect a fine of three shillings and four pence was imposed. Of the 11,000 parishes in existence before 1812, only 700 have registers dating back to 1538.
- 1558 Elizabeth again asked that parish registers be kept.
- 1597 Elizabeth ordered that parish registers be copied on parchment. She also ordered that a transcript be sent annually to the bishop.
- 1643-1660 Civil War Oliver Cromwell and the Puritans took over the government and churches. Many parish registers have gaps at this time, and some registers were destroyed during the war.
- 1653 Barebones Parliament ordered civil recording of births, marriages and deaths.
- 1754 New marriage law Each parish was to fill out a special form for each marriage.
- 1813 New forms were to be used for recording of christenings and burials. Printed parish registers usually stop at this logical date.
- 1853 New cemetery law Cities with overcrowded cemeteries could start civil cemeteries. Up to this time almost all burials were in churchyards.

REFERENCE BOOKS - to help you use parish registers and bishop's transcripts more effectively:

- 1. Lewis' Topographical Dictionary 1831 edition lists all places alphabetically. It gives parish, hundreds, archdeaconry and diocese jurisdictions on each hamlet and parish, along with a description and short history of each location. On film at Genealogical Library, Randolph Road.
- 2. Burke's Key to Ancient Parish Registers lists all ancient parishes alphabetically, and gives the date of the earliest entry in each parish register. On film at Genealogical Library, Randolph Road, and Annex of Library of Congress in Genealogical and Local History Room.
- 3. Parish Register Abstract lists ancient parishes by shires and hundreds with the date of entries in their existing parish registers.

REFERENCE BOOKS - ENGLISH RESEARCH:

PARISHES

I. GAZETTEERS.

1. Smith, Frank - A Genealogical Gazetteer of England. Contains location, Ecclesiastical jurisdiction, population and date of earliest entry in the parish register of Ancient Parish in England and the court it is and name of Nonconformist churches in the locality. This is an excellent brief gazetteer and can take the place of Lewis' Topographical Dictionary and Burke's Key if you only want the jurisdictions your locality is under. The book is only available, as far as I am able to determine, at the Genealogical Library on Randolph Road.

2. Bartholomew, John - Gazetteer of the British Isles. Only to be used if you cannot locate your place in any of the above-mentioned gazetteers.

II. MAPS.

1. Parish Maps of the Counties of England and Wales. Compiled by the Institute of Heraldic and Genealogical Studies, Northgate, Canterbury, Kent, England. The maps from all the counties of England have been obtained from the above publisher and published in a book form by Everton Publishers, Inc., P.O. Box 368, Logan, Utah 84321. This is excellent for giving the parish boundaries and the date each parish's registers began. It is at the library on Randolph Road.

2. Lewis also published a book of parish maps along with his gazetteer.

3. Gardner, Harland and Smith - Genealogical Atlas of England and Wales.

III. DIRECTORIES.

1. Crockford Clerical Directory. Comes out about every two years with a listing of the parish ministers and their addresses.

IV. BOOKS OF INSTRUCTIONS ON ENGLISH RESEARCH & HISTORY OF REGISTERS & PARISHES.

1. Gardner, David E., and Smith, Frank. Genealogical Research in England and Wales. 3 volumes. Easy to read and understand. At the library on Randolph Road.

2. National Index of Parish Registers, vols. I, II, II, V. In Library of Congress Annex and also Genealogical Library on Randolph Road.

V. PARISH REGISERS - AVAILABILITY.

1. Largest collection of both printed and microfilm registers are at the Genealogical Society in Salt Lake City. Those available are listed in "Parish and Vital Record Listing" on microfiche at library on Randolph Road. Names from these parishes have been extracted and placed in the CFI (Computer File Index) and are on microfiche cards at above-mentioned library.

2. Many others are available only by correspondence to England.

3. Some large libraries in the U.S. will have the printed parish registers. I understand the Peabody Library in Baltimore has one of the largest collections of the printed parish registers.

4. Inventory of Church Records of the British Isles. Edited by Ronald V. Jackson and Gary Ronald Teeples, Series 2, vol. 1. (Preface states it is a complete list of all known parish registers and non-conformist registers as are available. No claim to be a perfect complete list. Gives when registers started for that parish.) This is in the Annex, Local History and Genealogical Section of the Library of Congress. CD1068. A2T3. LH&G.

NON-CONFORMIST CHURCH RECORDS

Not many Non-conformist churches kept records before 1750. From 1750 to 1837 most are available:

1. All Non-conformist records in the Public Record Office in London have been filmed and are at the Genealogical Society in Salt Lake and can be ordered through their Branch Library here on Randolph Road.

2. Others would be available from County Record Office, libraries, or local churches in England.

PROBATE RECORDS

PROBATE RECORDS have an earlier starting date than parish registers, but many are written in Latin.

1. Jurisdiction: Maps for each county showing the various court boundaries. (Blue Book Series published by the Church of Jesus Christ of L.D.S.) Excellent source for finding the name of the court in which wills and administrations were recorded for the area. Available at Randolph Road library.

2. All available wills and their indexes were microfilmed by the Genealogical Society of Salt Lake and are available for loan at their Branch Library on Randolph Road. Early wills to 1858.

3. Register of Great Britain Principal Probate Registry Calendar of Wills and Administrations, 1858-1937. They run up to the present time, but Genealogical Society of Salt Lake has the index to these wills for the dates mentioned. The originals are either in the Public Record Office or Somerset House in London.

4. Disadvantage of wills of England is that many common people did not bother to leave a will. On the other hand some did leave wills mentioning a few of their personal belongings so this source should be taken into consideration in English research.

CIVIL REGISTRATION

CIVIL REGISTRATION covers the period from 1 July 1837 to present.

1. Located at General Register Office, St. Catherine's House, 10 Kingsbury, London WC 2B6JP, England.

2. Index to Births, Marriages and Deaths is available from Genealogical Library in Salt Lake through their Branch Library on Randolph Road. 1837-1906.

3. Local Superintendent Offices. These local registration offices scattered throughout England are often better places to write for births than to the General Register's Office at St. Catherine's House.

a. To use the local superintendent you must know the name and number of the registration district. Microfilm MCC990269 at Randolph Road library has the maps showing registration districts and numbers.

b. General Register Office. The Official List of Registration Officers. Gives names and addresses of all superintendent registrars in England and Wales. (This will be available at the Randolph Road library when they have made a copy of my personal copy.)

c. Census 1961, England and Wales, Index to Place Names. Used to locate Registration District numbers. (I don't know if it is located in any library in the Washington area.) CENSUS RECORDS

CENSUS RECORDS, 1841-1871.

1. Census records for the above years are available on microfilm at the Salt Lake Genealogical Library.

2. Census records are at the Public Record Office in London for these years and later.

Main objection to this edition is that if the locality is a parish it does not give the names of the township or chapelries in the parish. But if the place is a township or chapelry it does give the parish it is in. It does however give quite a good description of the locality. Prefer to use Smith's Genealogical Gazetteer, or the 1833 ed. of Lewis on microfilm in Silver Spring.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

New Information on GRAVES-SPRIGG Ancestry

Dear Editor:

March 30, 1980

Although one hates to contradict a distinguished judge, I must do so as I descend from #1310 and #1311 on his chart [John PEARCE of Prince George's County and his wife Sarah SPRIGG. The writer is referring to the ancester table of Hon. Charles E. Moylan Jr., published in the April issue of the BULLETIN, pages 85-88].

Capt. Thomas GRAVES came to Virginia in the second supply ship, "Mary and Margaret" in 1607/8. He married in England, Katherine CROSHER/CROSHAW. Katharine and sons (1) John and (2) Thomas came later in 1616. They had issue in Virginia of (3) Ann, b. ca. 1620, married three rectors of Hungars Parish: 1st, William COTTON, and had daughter Verlinda (who married 1st. — BURDETT and 2nd — BOUGHTON in 1688); 2nd, Nath'1 EATON; and 3rd, Francis DOUGHTY; she died in Maryland, 1683. (4) Verlinda GRAVES, married Capt. William STONE; (5) Katherine GRAVES, married 1st, Capt. William ROPER, and had daughter Verlinda ROPER; 2nd, after 1650, Capt. Thomas SPRIGGE, who married 2nd Eleanor NUTHALL.

On Jan. 18, 1658, a patent was issued to Thomas SPRIGG who had transported himself, Catherine his wife, Verlinda ROPER, Nathaniel SPRIGG, Edw. BUSHELL, and Hugh JOHNSON for a tract called "Sprigley". Catherine was still alive in 1661 signing a deed that year. Read Adventurers of Purse and Person [by Annie Lash Jester, 2nd ed., 1964]. Also, I've found that vol. 15, p. 37 of Md. Archives states: Sarah SPRIGG daughter of Thomas and Katherine (ROPER) SPRIGG married John PEARCE, planter of Calvert County. Sarah SPRIGG married 2nd, as [his] 2nd wife, Enoch COMBS/COOMES. [Ed. note: Archives of Maryland 15:37 (Proceedings of Council, 1674) includes the appointment of Thomas Sprigg, Gent., as a member of the Commission for the Peace for Calvert County, but contains no reference to his wife or daughter.]

Prince George's County land records show Sarah COOMES 1727 gave son John PEERCE one negro man and cattle of her deceased husband Enoch COOMES. Signed [witnessed by?] Edw. Sprigg, Mary Peerce.

He can go to 15th Street N.W. [Washington, D.C.] near corner of Constitution Avenue and see a marker in the park. On the west side is our ancestor John PEERCE's name and year he bought land there--1685--and he died that year too. He owned what is now Lafayette Park.

This will all be in a book on my ancestors to be published this year.

Sincerely, DOROTHY B. STEWART [5204 Whitesburg Dr. S, Huntsville, AL 35802]

[Ed. note: The point of this discussion is to determine whether Sarah SPRIGG, wife of John PEARCE, was the daughter of Thomas SPRIGG by his first wife (Katherine GRAVES) or by his second wife (Eleanor NUTHALL). Katherine (GRAVES) SPRIGG apparently was alive in 1661, but had died by 1668 when Thomas SPRIGG is shown as the husband of Elioner, orphan of John NUTHALL, deceased. (Archives of Maryland 5:34) The key to determining the mother seems to be the birthdate of Sarah SPRIGG. Effie Gwynn Bowie in Across the Years in Prince George's County, page 593, indicates that Catherine, the first wife "seems to have died without issue" (C.J.=Council Journals is given as the source), but this seems to be merely a guess. Sarah is listed there as a daughter of Eleanor NUTHALL. If, however, Sarah is the great-grandmother of Rachel ODELL (1717-1784), #163 on Mr. Moylan's chart, she could hardly be born much later than 1660, and therefore is more likely to be a daughter of Katherine GRAVES.]

The meeting was called to order at 7:33 p.m. by President William E. Miller, Jr. The minutes of the meeting held 2 April 1980 were approved as printed in the May BULLETIN, with one exception: added to the end of the By-Laws paragraph should be this sentence: "The new By-Laws as then revised were voted approved by a two-thirds majority." BOOK REVIEWS - - - - - - - - - - - By Shirley Langdon Wilcox, C.G.

BELLE AIR IN BOWIE; Its Families and History. Bowie American Revolution Bicentennial Committee. 1977. Purchased by the Society. $5.00 by mail from the publishers.

The bulk of the material in this paperback was researched and written by Bowie's unofficial historian, Mrs. Shirley Baltz. It has been carefully documented with a wide variety of sources being used to give as complete a picture as possible about the land called Belaire and the people who lived there. The land originally belonging to Robert Carvile was a 500 acre tract called "Catton." It was sold in 1698 to Colonel Henry Ridgley. Additonal adjoining lands were purchased and by 1721 when a new deed was drawn up there were 1410 acres and the tract was given a new name, "Belair." Col. Ridgley's widow Mary had remarried the Rev. Jacob Henderson and the land remained in their hands until 1737 when it was sold to Samuel Ogle and Benjamin Tasker Sr. Samuel Ogle soon bought out Benjamin Tasker, and then a number of years later, Ogle, at 47, married Benjamin Tasker Sr's daughter Anne who was not quite 18. When Gov. Samuel Ogle died in 1752 his wife's father and brother, Benjamin Tasker Sr. and Jr. became executors of the will and guardian of his son Benjamin Ogle. The years following found Benjamin Tasker Jr. overseeing 'Belair" and then after his death the responsibilities fell to Benjamin Tasker Sr. When Benjamin Ogle reached his majority he launched a suit to obtain the estate due him as heir of Samuel Ogle, his father; five years later he finally obtained possession of "Belair." In 1796 Benjamin Ogle I made a deed of gift of "Belair" to his son Benjamin Ogle II. After the death of Benjamin Ogle II parts of Belair" were sold but the section containing "Belair" Mansion became the property of his son George Cooke Ogle. Hard times fell on the family and it was finally sold in 1871, and the ownership changed hands frequently until in 1898 it came into the hand of James T. Woodward, and remained in the Woodward family for three generations before being bought by Levitt and Sons.

The appendix contains details of excavations at the Mansion site in 1976 and also tombstone inscriptions found in the Bowie area. The cemeteries covered are Belair, Hardisty, Enfield Chase Farm, Mitchell, Henry Mitchell Plantation, Bowie United Methodist Church, First Luthern Church of Bowie, Whitemarsh Roman Catholic Church/Sacred Heart, Cedar Hill, Bowie Family, Duckett, and Holy Trinity Episcopal Church.

COUNTY BY COUNTY IN OHIO GENEALOGY, by Petta Khouw and Genealogy Staff, the State Library of Ohio. Revised 1978. 93pp. Purchased by the Society.

Although the intended purpose of this book was to be a guide to the Ohio materials at the State Library of Ohio, it is so comprehensive that it is also useful to persons doing research elsewhere. Their collection is non-circulating but they will answer specific questions by mail and the procedure for such requests is outlined. For those visiting in person a map of Columbus is included as are their operating hours.

A county map is followed by pages on each county, giving date of organization, parent county or counties, and the name and zip code of the county seat. Then there is a listing of books and microfilms available on each county. The information on most counties covers one or two pages. Armed with what is available, the genealogist can then search out these records. It might be well to note that this guide does not include material that has been microfilmed by the LDS Church.
