

BYEBYE.EXE V2.0

The saga of remote computing continues....

Since most of my remote computing is done on weekends, I found myself wishing that I could just set BYEBYE.EXE once and forget it.

Well, here it is. Now you can set the program to only activate on days that you know you will be doing your remote computing.

Simply run BYESETUP.EXE, choose "Selected" and you will be offered a monthly calendar. Set the time you want and double-click the day(s) and save. To add more then one time to a date simply set the second time and choose add. To erase a date simply double-click that date again.

Now add BYEBYE.EXE to your Windows startup directory. When Windows is started BYEBYE.EXE will check the date. If it is listed in the BYEBYE.INI file the program will stay active. If not it will end.

NOTE: BYEBYE.EXE, Setup and INI Files should all be in your Windows directory.

As always, if you find this program will be of use to you and you have not already registered. Please register TODAY. Send $5.00 to:

CBII Enterprises

1148 E. Grand St.

Elizabeth, N. J. 07201

For any comments or questions, You can reach me by:

CompuServe

AOL

Prodigy

76516,2650

CHBII

BMCC10A

Thanks for you support.

Stay tuned for further developments.....