Work in a familiar environment. The Symantec Visual Page™ interface is similar to most spreadsheets or word processors. This makes it easy to jump right in and begin Web-page development.

One-step publishing. Upload your Web pages directly to your FTP site with the click of a button. There are no complicated commands to fool with.

Create business pages with real impact. With Symantec Visual Page™, you get all the tools you need to create powerful Web pages that really speak to your audience. Changes made to the page are dynamically reflected in the HTML code, and vice-versa.

- Start with text and add simple effects such as bold, italics, and underlining just like you would in a word processor. Adding bullets, tables, and graphics is just as easy.
- Add frames by selecting a single menu option. To resize them, simply drag and drop the border.
- Add graphics to your Web pages with a mouse click. As you reposition graphics using drag and drop, wrapped text will automatically adjust.
- Create quick links and anchors by either typing the link into the easy "Link To" window, or drag and drop the linked object into your text.
- Look like a pro by adding radio buttons, check boxes, pop-up menus, option lists — just choose from a menu.

What you create is really how it will look. Symantec Visual Page™ is a true WYSIWYG Web authoring environment, which means there's no guesswork as to how your pages will look in the browser.

Edit HTML and see the results fast. Symantec Visual Page™ creates all the HTML code for you automatically. However, should you want to fine-tune it, you can edit and view the results instantly.

Do it all with one program. Using the Symantec Visual Page™ environment, you can test your links, view your Java™ apps, and go back and edit the site without loading any additional programs or the memory-hungry browser.
