

The indefinite adjectives (or pronouns) little, a little and much express a notion of quantity and are used before an uncountable singular noun.

- We use little to stress a very small quantity.

Example:

There is very little juice left.