• We use many when describing a large quantity. It is usually used in a negative sentence.

Example:

There aren't many companies in that area.

In the affirmative form, many is replaced by a lot of (or lots of), plenty of, a great many or a large number of.

Example: She has lots of friends.