The Saga Continues...

...down at the old Repair Shop.

Mime, the Dwarf had a problem. His ward, Siegfried had demanded that Mime repair the shattered sword of his Fathers' by nightfall. He tried to do this a number of different ways but the metals of the sword just would not bond together. Then, to make matters worse, a strange Wanderer dropped by and told him that his death would be caused by that blade he worked on. Mime, though fearful of a foretold death, was more fearful of Siegfried's anger, so he continued to work on the sword.

Night fell and Siegfried returned. The sword remained broken. Siegfried, furious at Mime, pushed him out of the way and set out to repair the blade himself. This time, the metals bonded and the sword once again became one. For only a Hero and one who knows no fear could reforge the great sword of the Volsung, NOTUNG.
