Where to find The Ambrosia Times & other Ambrosia Software Goodies

America Online: While you're on AOL, choose "Keyword..." from the "GO TO" menu, type Ambrosia and hit the return key. You'll be taken to our forum, where you'll find a message base (for comments and questions) and a software library stocked with the latest versions of our software products.

CompuServe: While you're signed on CompuServe, use GO word Ambrosia to reach the Mac Vendor D area, where Ambrosia Software maintains a forum. There you'll find a message base (for comments and questions), a software library stocked with the latest versions of our software products, and a conference area for occasional live chats.

eWorld: Once online, choose "Go to Shortcut..." from the "PLACES" menu, type Ambrosia and hit the return key. You'll be taken to our forum, where you'll find a message base (for comments and questions) and a software library stocked with the latest versions of our software products.

ZiffNet: Offered by Ziff-Davis publishing, ZiffNet is a comprehensive information service available on both CompuServe and eWorld. For CompuServe Go Downtech and search on either Ambrosia or the actual product name. For eWorld use Go to Shortcut:Ziff.

GEnie: Ambrosia's support area is in the Macintosh Product Support Round Table, located on page 606. To get there, while signed on and in terminal mode, type M606 at any GEnie prompt. Our message base can be found by choosing option 1 from the page 606 menu. This will take you to the message boards. The Ambrosia Section can be found by typing SET 4. Our software library can be found by choosing option 3 from the page 606 menu. This will take you to the software libraries. Then choose option 8 to set the software library to Ambrosia's library, which is library 14.

Internet: Ambrosia Software's products can be found at the following FTP sites.

or sumex-aim.stanford.edu

For specific paths for individual products, contact us directly at AmbrosiaSW@aol.com.

WWW: Digital Madness runs an "unofficial but cool" Ambrosia page on the World Wide Web. It can be reached at:
