OVERVIEW

This version is intended for users of Microsoft(R) Windows 95 And Windows NT environment.

If you are using Microsoft Windows 3x or Windows For Workgroup you will have to download the 16 bit version 2.1 designed and optimized for those platforms:

This product enables you to store your business and personal names, address, phone numbers, email address, memo and anniversary and have these records at your finger tip with a great 20 search option. With address manager you will be able to store an anniversary date, which will start reminding you three days prior to that event, you will also be able to search for anniversary dates by month or day. You will be able to mark your records for printing or deleting. Print your records with or without return address to any size envelope or popular Avery label size and also have the ability to print detail customize address , store memo on each record, automatic detect modem and dial any phone number in your record. Eight (8) button storing names for speed dialling or manually dial your number. Store over 250 cities, over 300 state/Province and countries all at your finger tip while adding or editing your record. You may also import export to and from most of the popular database or ASCII delimiter files. I have tried to make Address Manager as user friendly as possible, for instance all first letter in ever field goes to upper case, if company field is blank then it skips title, same goes for address1 field, if that field is blank the cursor goes to email field. If you edit a field in the personal table and change to company table, if that person name exist in both tables Address Manager will move to that name in new table. You will also find the keypad is an easy and fast way to your records, simply by pressing a letter on the keypad will move to the first record starting with that letter and ever press after will move to the next record starting with that letter until no match is found. You can also move to next, previous, first or last record by the press of a button, record numbering keep track of record position and total record in database.
