Load your Dropship with deadly combat vehicles and fly, drive and shoot your way through a massive enemy-infested photo-realistic terrain. Your decisions affect the outcome as your wingmen and ground forces rely on your guidance and support. Reveal a tale of military might and political intrigue as you and your co-pilot take out tactical targets to cripple enemy strongholds.

Background:

Dateline 2050 and the world is increasingly gripped by escalating levels of conflict and political instability.

Both the United Nations and Nato have become increasingly ineffective in dealing with these outbreaks of hostility. As a result the International Heads of Government disbanded both of these organisations and created a new unified international army - The United Peacekeeping Force (UPF), tasked with identifying and eliminating any hostile threat anywhere in the world.

You start the game as a new recruit to the Dropship squadron of the UPF. After your initial training period is completed you will be thrown into the heat of battle....

Storyline Overview

A new power has come to the fore in China. Although NOT democratically elected this new regime seems to be complying to all international law and therefore the United Peace Force (UPF) remains more concerned with trouble-spots in Sahara, Colombia and Kazakhstan. However over the course of the game you learn through your wingman and co-pilot (events unfold in FMV) that this new regime is squashing all resistance with brutal force and worse still, attempting to build a new super technology that will render the UPF's attempts to create world peace - obsolete. The player must play through missions to uncover this storyline and eventually attack the headquarters of the sinister regime, taking out the super-technology and galvanising prospects for world peace.
