

Open Transport is Apple's new standards-based networking and communications software, including the new AppleTalk and TCP/IP control panels and software components. Open Transport requires a 68030 or newer processor, and cannot be used on this machine.