

Base SAS[®] software, the foundation of the SAS System, includes a fourth-generation programming language and ready-to-use programs called procedures. These integrated procedures handle data manipulation, information storage and retrieval, descriptive analysis and report writing. Also included is the SAS Display Manager System, a full-screen editing facility for interacting with all parts of a SAS program. On-line help also is available.