          Welcome to LoTo98, a new lottery predictor and checker ← program, with features that include, a compact and well designed GUI and the ability to generate numbers using different methods.

Although LoTo98 is new, the idea came from one of my previous programs called Lotto-P&C. Lotto-P&C has been around for a few years now, it has been rewritten in three different computer languages and was designed to use a command line interface. In recent years though, the CLI has become less used and so I decided rewrite it in ACE Basic and add a GUI.

LoTo98 basically does three things, it generates random numbers, stores them and checks them with the most recient draw. If thats what you need, then LoTo98 is the predictor and checker for you.

         Future
              LOTO98 was designed to be as easy to use as it could be within the GUI. To start the program you need to double click on the icon or type its name into the CLI.

Once you have done this you will be presented with a menu.

The program is split into four main parts, these include:

· The number generator – this section is used to generate random numbers using various methods. (currently only 2) once six numbers have been generated you can optionally add them to a board on the next section or print them;

· The database of boards – this is where you enter the numbers which need to be checked on the next draw (currently twenty five boards). If you don't want to use a board then press clear accept;

· The draw entry section – from here you enter the numbers that have just been drawn. They are then used to compare with the boards in the previous section and the result is sent to the next section;

· The results section – this section shows how many numbers match that of which have been drawn.

Over the next couple of months LoTo98 will be improved in the following ways:

· The executable will become smaller and faster;
· There will be more number generation methods;
· I will update the CLI version and include it;
· Added compatibility with lotteries in other countries.

All of the above can only be improved if you write to me
             with your ideas.

I may also convert my pools predictor and checker program from amos to ace basic. When I have time.

I may start on a new program called for birthday and some other secret projects.

              This title requires an Amiga, which has a hard disk (in order to save) and a printer (in order to print). The hard disk must have an sys:s assign (although this is the norm anyway).
