The Wii console has revolutionized how people play games. But more importantly, it has enticed new players into the world of video games by offering a variety of entertainment, information and communication channels that add value to the system and make it a device the entire family can enjoy.

- Nintendo Channel*: This channel lets users rate their favorite games and view videos of developer interviews, products made for Nintendo systems and other special programming. Users who opt into the service can also wirelessly download demo versions of Nintendo DS™ games directly to their Nintendo DS family of systems.
- Game-Specific Channels: Some games, including Wii Fit™ Plus and Mario Kart™ Wii, come with special channels that are installed on the Wii Menu and offer different features. For example, the Wii Fit Channel lets users run the “Body Test” portion of the software even without the game disc, while the Mario Kart Wii Channel* lets players compete in tournaments, check worldwide rankings, see when their friends are playing and download ghost data.
- Wii Shop Channel*: This is the online storefront and download station on the Wii console, where users may download channels or use Wii Points™ to download new WiiWare™ games and classic Virtual Console™ games. A bay for an SD memory card (or High Capacity SD card – both sold separately) lets players expand the internal flash memory and launch downloaded games directly from the cards.
- o WiiWare: The WiiWare section of the shop features a constantly growing library of more than 220 downloadable video games created for Wii by both established developers and independent up-and-comers.
 - o Virtual Console: More than 350 classic video games can be downloaded to the Wii console from the Virtual Console section of the shop. Download a wide variety of games originally released on the NES™, Super NES™, N64™, Sega Genesis™, Sega Master System, TurboGrafx-16™, TurboGrafx-CD, NEOGEO and Commodore 64. Original arcade versions of select games are also available. A Classic Controller™ or Classic Controller Pro™ (each sold separately) is required to play some games.
- Mii Channel: Fun characters created in this channel can be used across a variety of Wii software. Mii™ characters can be stored in a user’s Wii Remote™ controller and taken to a friend’s house to play on another Wii system. Each member of the family can have his or her Wii Remote personalized with up to 10 Mii characters. Various games incorporate Mii characters directly in the game play.

- Internet Channel*: This channel changes the relationship between a user's home, the television and the Internet. People can surf the Internet right from the comfort of their couches. This channel is compatible with Adobe Flash and JavaScript.
- Check Mii Out Channel*: This channel builds on the huge phenomenon of Wii owners creating fun Mii characters of themselves and their friends. Users can browse through and download a huge variety of Mii characters posted by other creative Wii users, and post their own Mii characters to showcase their artistic abilities. Users can also participate in competitions to create the most accurate likeness of a person or theme suggested by Nintendo.
- Everybody Votes Channel*: This channel asks Wii users to cast their votes on a variety of topics. Three questions surveying either regional or global opinions are open at any given time. Up to six people in one household can cast their votes and predict how the majority of people will vote. After the polls close, users see results displayed graphically using Mii characters. Users can even submit a suggestion for a future poll question to Nintendo.
- Wii Speak Channel*: Users who buy the Wii Speak™ microphone get a code that allows them to download this channel from the Wii Shop Channel* at no extra cost. This channel lets friends and family members around the world who also have a Wii Speak microphone chat through their Wii consoles in a fun environment. It picks up the voices of all the people in the vicinity: Instead of passing a handset from person to person, everyone can have a conversation as though they were in the same room. Only users who have traded Friend Codes can connect with one another using Wii Speak.
- News Channel*: Users can access news from the Associated Press with the touch of a button. When connected to the Internet, the WiiConnect24™* service automatically updates this free channel and organizes it in a variety of categories. Users can see where news is happening by viewing the location of news stories on a 3-D globe.
- Forecast Channel*: Users can access free local weather forecasts in just seconds. The WiiConnect24* service automatically updates local weather information, which is provided by Weathernews. Users can view forecasts for cities around the world on a 3-D globe.
- Photo Channel: This channel allows users to display digital pictures stored on an SD memory card (sold separately) on their television screens. Users also can manipulate the photos in a variety of fun and creative ways, such as creating mosaics, puzzles or slide shows. They can draw, add stamps and copy and paste. They also can change the "mood" of photos by brightening them, converting them to monochrome, inverting the color or changing them to stark black and white. The Photo Channel provides a fun and easy outlet for people to edit their digital pictures. After exchanging Wii Numbers with other Wii owners, users can share pictures by attaching a photo to the Wii Message Board.

Disc Channel:	This channel allows users to play either Wii game discs or the entire library of Nintendo GameCube™ discs.
Netflix*:	Netflix members who own a Wii console can enjoy thousands of movies and TV episodes streamed from Netflix via Wii. Streaming from Netflix via the Wii console is provided at no additional cost to Netflix members who have a plan starting at $8.99 a month. A required Netflix instant streaming disc can be requested at www.netflix.com/Wii .
Wii Message Board:	Users can leave messages for other family members on a calendar-based message board. They can also use the WiiConnect24* service to send messages to other Wii owners over the Internet after exchanging Wii Numbers. The service also allows for incoming messages from Nintendo, including announcements and updates regarding current or upcoming channels, and even software additions, such as a new map or weapon for a game. Specially designed games can constantly be updated, thereby extending their playability.
