

BARDUSA

- This software was written in January 1997. The idea is to let children practise reading skills, and is most suitable for the age 6-8 years whom have just started to read a little.
My 7 year old son has helped me test out the levels, and he has also influenced me on animation and graphic effects.
- To start the installation: 1) Doubleclick the file "setup.exe" 2) You can now choose if you want to change the graphic driver, but you only need to do that if you have problems running the application. (If so, restart the installationprocess). 3) The setupprogram suggests a catalog/folder to install into, but this is up to you. 4) If you sometime later want to uninstall the program, the best thing is to delete the catalog/folder where you installed the program. (There is an "uninstall"program included, but this program also uninstalls the file cncs.dll (cncs32 in win 95) and dib.drv which are windows/systemfiles and this might be files used by other applications as well).
- Bardusa, and your, mission consists in finding objects by either jumping up or run/walk into, for example flag and book. It then pops up a question where one letter is missing in the word.
By clicking on the correct letter with your left mouse button, you get one point.
The points will follow the player through all 3 levels of the game.
- In the last level the player must first read the whole word, and then find the object that matches the word. This also gives the player one point.
- The player has 3 lives and certain difficult situations might lead to loss of one life.
In the last level there is a dragon who steal points from the player if he can't avoid running into it.
- Bardusa is moved by the 4 arrowkeys. He can walk: (right/left arrow), climb:(up arrow), duck: (down arrow) and jump: press two keys at the same time(up and right arrow) or (up and left arrow).
- If you want to enlarge the screen a little, you can press the F8 key or Options-Hide Menu. If you want the menu back, just press the F8 key.
- System requirements for your Pc: The game adjusts itself to the speed of your pc's cpu speed (Mhz), but as a minimum requirement your pc should at least have 33Mhz, 4MB RAM, VGA screen, windows 3,1 with a mouse and 16 bits soundcard.
