

Check here to set the Display settings when this button on the Application Launcher is pressed.

Check here to launch the application when this button on the Application Launcher is pressed.

Press this button to change the button's icon.

Press this button to save the Display settings of those products that are checked in the Product Settings window.

Enter the desired name of the button to display when the mouse is over the button. Each button name must be unique within a group.

Enter the command line string to be used for starting the application.

This window contains a list of Canopus products for which the Display settings can be applied. Check the desired product(s) which you wish to be set when the button is pressed. The Desktop entry can be selected if you wish to just set the resolution and/or bitdepth.

Select the desired Group and its buttons will appear in the list box below.

The buttons within a group are listed here. A button can be added, deleted, moved, or have its settings changed from this property page.

Press this button to add a new button on the Application Launcher to the group listed in the Group box.

Press this button to add a space between the buttons on the Application Launcher. First a Application Launcher button must be selected in the list box to designate where the space will be inserted. A space can not be inserted at the ends of the Launcher tool bar.

Select the desired Launcher button in the list box and press this button to bring up the Button Settings dialog.

Select the desired Launcher button in the list box and press this button to remove it from the Launcher tool bar.

Select the desired Launcher button in the list box and press this button to move it up or left on the Launcher tool bar.

Select the desired Launcher button in the list box and press this button to move it down or right on the Launcher tool bar.

This window contains a list of groups which are available for display on the Launcher tool bar. Check the desired group(s) which you wish to be displayed.

Press this button to add a new group to the Application Launcher.

Select the desired group in the list box and press this button to bring up the Group Settings dialog.

Select the desired group in the list box and press this button to remove it from the Launcher tool bar.

Select the desired group in the list box and press this button to move it up or left on the Launcher tool bar.

Select the desired group in the list box and press this button to move it down or right on the Launcher tool bar.

