1. FREEWARE

Letteria is a freeware. Authors of this game, Les Quaternion Nudios, give you the permission to share this game by any means as long as all the following conditions are met:

1) The game is left intact. The game is considered intact when its contents are the same as if the game would be downloaded from www.lesqn.com. The game manual and this license also have to be included for the game to be considered intact.

Please note that this also means that all music files have to be included when you share the game. It is forbidden to share the Light version of the game. The Light version can be only downloaded and it can only be downloaded from www.lesqn.com, unless specifically permitted otherwise.

2) You do not claim credit for the game for yourself or anybody else except the real authors, Les Quaternion Nudios.

2. PLEASE LET US KNOW

Since Letteria is free for share, we keep ourselves no control of how far the freeware waters will take it. You need no permission to place the game on a website or on a cover CD accompanying a magazine (as long as all the conditions described in the section 1) are met), but we would surely love to hear from you - your message sent to lesqn@lesqn.com will be greatly appreciated!
