

All copyrights and trademarks for material included in MacDoom Review belong to their respective authors and owners. Use of a term in this publication should not be regarded as affecting the validity of any trademark or service mark. Do not republish any works from MacDoom Review without first acquiring permission from the author or copyright owner!!

GT Interactive Software, id Software, Lion Entertainment, and Presage Software in no way endorse or support this publication or its contents. Nor do any other companies whose name or products might be mentioned herein.

This publication may not be sold for profit. It may be redistributed provided no fee is charged for content (reasonable download or media fees excepted). It may be included on a CD-ROM collection, BUT ONLY WITH PERMISSION.

Overwhelming thanks to contributors Jason Carter, Steve Duff, Two Gun Mojo, Danny Stuyck, Tarl Roger Kudrick, Aaron Burrough, Brett Wertz, Ethan Butterfield and Beau Mullis. Plus, thanks to everyone who wrote a letter to the editor, whether I used it or not. I enjoy reading my MDR mail more than anything, and I try to answer all that I can. Also, believe it or not, thanks to Microsoft for hiring me after my recent move to Seattle. And my deepest thanks to my wife, Jacqui, who actually enjoys writing for MDR! (What, does it show?!)

"Good, bad" sound and R.I.P. graphic from Army of Darkness-TC. (Special thanks to Sam Raimi and Bruce Campbell for warping my formative years, and helping me onto the path I'm on today!)

MacDoom Review logo designed in Adobe Photoshop 3.0.5 with help from Xaos Tools' TypeCaster plug-in. Game graphics by id Software, extracted using WinTex, with drop shadows and other effects added in Photoshop with assistance from Alien Skin Software's Black Box plug-ins.

No Microsoft products were used in the making of this e-zine, unless you count Internet Explorer. Oh yeah, and SoftWindows sort of counts. As a matter of fact, this entire issue was created based on a dream that Bill Gates once had. He's probably patented it, so we'll all get sued, and before you know it MDR will be assimilated.

Sweet dreams.

