Procedures for Quick Start Only

Sign On At Mplayer

- 1 From the Start bar, select Programs, then Mplayer, and click Connect To Mplayer. Select the game you want to play.
- 2 Sign on with your member name and password. Mplayer checks your member name and password and transports you to a lobby.

If you don't have an Mplayer account, sign up for one now. Click here for details.

Find Players

- n Doubleclick a game offer to enter a game room and chat with other players. Click Ready To Play? to let the moderator know you want to play the game.
- n Click Auto-Match. Mplayer places you in a game room, finds other players, and moderates the room.
- n Create a new game offer. Click Create Room and you're the game room moderator. Ask other players to join you.

Launch Game

- If you clicked Ready To Play? in a game room, or Auto-Match, wait for the moderator to launch the game.
- If you are the moderator, wait for enough players to click Ready To Play?. Launch Game flashes when you have enough players. Click to launch the game.

Note: If you want to be part of the game launch and OK or M isn't next to your name on the roster, click Ready To Play?.

How To ... Procedures Start Here

How To ... Log On & Off Mplayer

Sign On At Mplayer

Before you can play games or chat with friends at Mplayer, you sign on at Mplayer.

- n First, Mplayer checks that you have the most current version of the software. If you don't, Mplayer automatically updates your software.
- n Then, Mplayer asks for your account information. Type your member name and password. Press Enter or click OK.

Member Name and Password

When you sign up for an Mplayer account, you are given a member name and password. Mplayer asks for this information when you access Mplayer member areas.

If you don't have an Mplayer account, you can sign up for one at <http://www.mplayer.com/join/join-home.html>.

Log Off Mplayer

You can exit Mplayer at any time by clicking the Close button in the top right corner of the Mplayer window.

How To ... Play Games

Visit Game Arcades

Each Mplayer game has its own arcade. An arcade is filled with interesting tidbits and offers, including game software, contests, tournaments, and scores. You can find out what you need to install, run, launch, and play the game at Mplayer.

- n If you are wandering the World Wide Web, you can jump to the Mplayer game page at this address -- <http://www.mplayer.com/play/games/games-home.html>. Click a game title to go to its arcade page.

Visit Game Lobbies

The game lobby is a place where you can view game offers, visit game rooms, and chat with other players who want to play the game.

There are lots of ways to get to a game lobby:

- From a game's Web page, click Browse Current Game Offers.
- From the Task Bar, select Start, then Program Files, then Mplayer, then Games. Click the game you want to play.
- From your desktop, find the game's MPI file and click it.
- From a game room, click Lobbies and doubleclick the game title.

Use Auto-Match

Looking for someone to play with? Use Mplayer's Auto-Match feature to let Mplayer find players, moderate the game room, and launch the game for you.

- 1 Go to a game page or game lobby.
- 2 Click Play Now on the game's arcade page, or click Auto-Match in a game lobby. Mplayer assigns you to an auto-match room, if one exists. Otherwise, Mplayer creates a new auto-match room and transports you to it.
- 3 Wait for Mplayer to launch the game.

How It Works

Mplayer waits for other players to click Auto-Match and routes them to your room. When the minimum number of players required to play the game are in the room, Mplayer begins a game launch countdown. Mplayer launches the game when the countdown reaches zero. If Mplayer finds the preferred number of players for best gameplay during the countdown, Mplayer launches the game immediately.

Pick A Game Room To Visit

You've decided which game to play and you are in the game lobby. You're ready to enter a game room, chat with other players, and play a game. How do you choose the best one?

Pick a game room that is open (not locked, full, or playing) and Near. Near means the game room has the kind of network connection and speed you need for fast-action gameplay. Far means the game room is not going to give you the kind of performance you need to have a great gaming experience.

Click here to see the different ways Mplayer displays game offers and what each means. Click Options and select Room Filters to change the rooms Mplayer displays.

Enter Game Rooms

- 1 Go to a game lobby.
- 2 Doubleclick a game offer name, or select a game offer name and press Enter.

Game rooms are associated with game offers. When you visit a game room, you join other players who want to play the same game offer. The room status determines whether you can enter a room and play the game offer.

You can also create your own game offer and moderate the game room. Click here for more information.

View Game Settings

- n Click the Game Settings button to view the Game Settings Panel.

Some games have special settings that determine how the game starts out. For example, for Command & Conquer you can view the technical level, the number of units, the scenario, and other game-related information.

The moderator controls the game settings and can change them until the game launches. Use the chat box to request changes.

If the game doesn't have any special settings, the Game Settings button is dimmed or X-ed.

Check Games

Mplayer checks to see if you have the game installed on your system and it's ready for you to play. To check a game,

- If you are in a game room, click the Game Settings button and then click the Check Game button.
- If you are in an auto-match room, click the Check Game button.

For more information about the requirements and installation for particular game, click the Help Desk button and then click Help On A Game.

If you do not have a game installed, you can still visit the game lobby and rooms. However, you can't play the game.

Accept Game Offers

n In a game room, click the Ready To Play? button to accept the offer. An OK appears next to your name on the roster.

At this point, you are scheduled to play with any players in the game room who have accepted the game offer. They also have OKs next to their player names.

Wait for the moderator to launch the game. You can tell which player is the moderator by the big M next to the player's name on the roster.

If you decide not to play, click the Ready to Play! button. The OK is removed from your name on the roster.

Click here to learn how to create and moderator game rooms.

Wait for Game Launch

OK. I've accepted the game offer. What am I waiting for?

The minimum number of players have to accept a game offer before the moderator can launch the game. After the minimum is reached, the moderator can launch the game or wait for more players to accept the offer.

If you wonder what's going on, use the chat box to send a message to the moderator.

Stop Playing

When you stop playing a game, you end up in a game room with anyone who left the game at the same time as you did. You can

- n Chat with other players about what happened.
- n Play again.
- n Return to the game lobby and check out what rooms are available.
- n Click the Lobbies button to select and play a different game.
- n Log off Mplayer.

Different games have different ways to stop playing. See Help On A Game for more information.

Ways To Play A Game

Choose a game and go to the game's lobby. From the lobby you can

- n Use Mplayer's auto-match feature.
 - 1 Click the Auto-Match button. Mplayer transports you to an auto-match game room.
 - 2 Wait for other players to join.
 - 3 Wait for Mplayer to launch the game.
- n Join as a regular player.
 - 1 Doubleclick a game offer title. Mplayer transports you to the game room.
 - 2 Click the Ready To Play? button to tell the moderator you want to play the game.
 - 3 Wait for the moderator to launch the game.
- n Create a game room and become its moderator.
 - 1 Click the Create Room button to create a new game offer.
 - 2 Change the game settings, if the game has them. Click the Game Settings button, then click the Modify Settings button.
 - 3 Moderate the game room.
 - 4 Wait for enough players to accept the game offer.
 - 5 Launch the game.
- n Join a player who paged and invited you into a game room.
 - 1 Answer Page.
 - 2 Click Join to join the player.

Note: Each game has its own start up, options, and exit procedures. For more information, click Help Desk and click Help On A Game.

Notes About Game Offers & Rooms

- n You can only be in one game or chat room at a time.
- n You can visit a game room and chat with other players without accepting the game offer. When the moderator launches the game, you and any other players who haven't accepted the game offer remain in the game room. The first player to click the Ready To Play? button becomes the moderator.
- n If the moderator leaves the game offer, the moderator loses moderator status. Another player who has accepted the game offer, becomes moderator. If no players in the room have accepted the game offer, the first one to click the Ready To Play? button becomes the moderator.
- n If you are in a game room by yourself and you leave, the room disappears.

How To ... Moderate Game Offers

Become a Moderator

Here are some ways you can become a moderator:

- n Create a game offer – Mplayer creates a game room and you automatically become its moderator.
- n Click Ready To Play? in a game room that has no moderator (for example, after a game offer has launched).
- n Inherit moderator status when the moderator decides not to moderate in a game room where you have accepted the game offer.

Create Game Offers

- 1 Go to a game lobby and click the Create Room button. Mplayer displays the Game Offer dialog.
- 2 Enter the Offer Name.
- 3 (optional) Enter Moderator Comment.
- 4 (optional) Change the Number of Players.
- 5 (optional) Change the Age of Players.
- 6 Click OK.

Mplayer creates the game offer and transports you to your own game room. You are the moderator for the game offer. Your name appears on the roster with an M next to it.

Offer Name

Enter up to 40 letters, symbols, and numbers for the game offer name. Other players in the game lobby see your game offer name.

Moderator Comment

Enter enticing descriptions and comments designed to lure players into your game room. Other players in the game lobby see your comments.

Number of Players

Change to increase the minimum number of players, or decrease the maximum number of players. For example, if you want to play Terminal Velocity with three or more players, you would change the minimum number of players from two to three.

Minimum Least number of players who must accept your game offer before you can launch the game

Maximum The most players the game allows, or the preferred number of players you want to accept your game offer before you launch the game.

Age of Players

Change to restrict the age of the players allowed in your game offer. For example, you can allow only players between the ages of 18 and 25 to play your game offer.

The default is usually set to allow all players into a game offer, unless the game is an adult game, or is restricted in some other way.

Moderate Game Rooms

When you moderate a game room, you assume certain responsibilities for the game offer. As moderator, you can

- n Launch the game.
- n Control game room options.
- n Control game settings for games that have them.
- n Lock or unlock the game room.
- n Change a player's gameplay status.

There are several ways to become a moderator.

Change Game Settings

The moderator controls the settings for game startup. Other players in a game room can view the settings.

- 1 Click the Game Settings Panel button.
- 2 Change any settings you wish. For more information about a particular game's game settings, click the Help Desk button and then click Help For A Game.

For example, for Command & Conquer you can set the technical level, the number of units, the scenario, and other game-specific options.

Note: Some games have special settings for game start up. Some don't.

Change Player's Game Status

- 1 Right-click a player's name on the roster.
- 2 Choose De-Select Member.

The OK is removed from the player's name on the roster. The player's game status button changes from Ready To Play! to Ready to Play?.

Lock Game Room

When you are in a game or chat room, right-click and choose Lock Room from the menu. Mplayer locks the room.
Only the moderator can lock a game room.

Unlock Game Room

When you are in a game or chat room, right-click and choose Lock Room from the menu. Mplayer unlocks the room.
Only the moderator can unlock a game room.

Launch Games

When enough players accept the game offer, the moderator sees the Launch Game button flash. The moderator can wait for more players to accept the game offer, or click the Launch Game button to launch the game.

All players with game buttons showing Ready To Play! are transported to the game. Players who didn't push down the Ready To Play? button remain in the game room. The next player to push the Ready To Play? button becomes the moderator.

Note: Only a moderator or Mplayer (in an auto-match room) can launch a game.

Stop Being A Moderator

If you are a moderator and you no longer want to moderate, you can

- n Click the Ready To Play! button.
- n Exit the game room.

How To ... Chat, Scribble etc. Procedures

Communicate With Other Players

There are many ways to communicate with other players. In a game or chat room, you can

- n Send and view messages. Click here for more information.
- n Scribble and draw on the Scribbleboard. You must be in a game or chat room to scribble. Click here for more information.
- n Talk using your microphone. You must be in a game or chat room to talk to other players with your microphone. Click here for more information.
- n Page other players who are logged in at Mplayer. You can chat back and forth, or invite them to join you in a lobby or room. Click here for more information.

View & Send Messages

View Messages

Messages from other players, messages you send, and messages from Mplayer appear in the chat viewport (part of the chat panel).

You can control whether you see messages about players entering and leaving a room.

- 1 Click the Options button.
- 2 Select the Notifications tab.
- 3 Mark/unmark Lobby Notifications and Room Notifications.

Send Messages

- 1 Point at the chat box and click.
- 2 Type your message.
- 3 Press Enter to send your message to the other players.

Right-click the chat box to change fonts, text color, and other options.

Chat Panel

Chat Box Use to create and edit messages, cut and copy text. Right-click the chat box to change the font type, size, and color. Send messages to everyone in the room or selected players.

Chat Viewport Displays messages between players and from Mplayer.

Splitter Bar Appears in between the chat box and chat viewport. Use to expand and deflate chat areas.

The chat panel appears in a lobby, game, or chat room.

Change Chat Settings

To change chat settings, point at the chat input box and right-click. Use the menu options to change the text font, size, and color:

Option	Action
Bold	Toggle boldface.
Italic	Toggle italics.
Underline	Toggle underline.
Point Size	Change the font size.
Font	Select a new font, or change a font's attributes including color, size, and emphasis.

Contact Information

Name Your full name and form of address you prefer.
Email address Location where you receive electronic mail.
Phone numbers Daytime, evening, and fax phone numbers.
Mailing address Location where you receive regular (snail) mail.

Member Name

When you sign up for an Mplayer account, you choose a member name. The name you choose must be three to 16 characters long. It can include letters, numbers, hyphens, periods, and spaces. It must begin and end with a letter or number. You can only have one hyphen, period, or space in sequence. For example:

Allowed

dragon-5
Amazon
X.Warrior
Rock 1234

Not Allowed

dragon-5-
&($Amazon
X_Warrior
Rock 1234

When you sign on at Mplayer, Mplayer requests your member name and password. Other players can use your member name to page you and send messages. Your member name shows up on the roster when you are in an Mplayer lobby, game room, or chat room.

Password

A password is a series of five to 16 characters you use to sign on at Mplayer and access your account. A password prevents unauthorized people from using your account.

When you choose a password, avoid using common words or names. A combination of characters (upper and lowercase), numbers, and symbols makes your password difficult for other people to guess.

Do not give anyone your password, including people who appear to be representing Mplayer, Mpath, or game companies.

Account Creation Dialogs

Create Account: Startup

Welcome to Mplayer's Create Account Helper Program. Mplayer is going to help you create an account so you can start playing fast-action multiplayer games on the World Wide Web.

At any point, you can

- n Click Next to go to the next screen.
- n Click Back if you want to return to the previous screen.
- n Click Cancel if you don't want to create a new account at this time.

Click Next to enter your contact information.

Create Account: Contact Information

Name Your full name and form of address you prefer.
Email address Location where you receive electronic mail.
Phone numbers Daytime, evening, and fax phone numbers.
Mailing address Location where you receive regular (snail) mail.

Click Next to view the member name instructions.

Create Account: Member Name Instructions

Your member name is how you are identified at Mplayer. Read the information on the screen.

At any point, you can

- Click Next to go to the next screen.
- Click Back if you want to return to the previous screen.
- Click Cancel If you don't want to create a new account at this time.

Click Next to choose a member name.

Create Account: Member Name

Your member name identifies you at Mplayer. For example, other players enter your member name to page and send messages. Your member name appears on the roster when you are in an Mplayer lobby, game room, or chat room.

Choose a name that is three to 16 characters long. It can include letters, numbers, hyphens, periods, and spaces. It must begin and end with a letter or number. You can only have one hyphen, period, or space in sequence. For example:

Allowed	Not Allowed
dragon-5	dragon-5-
Amazon	&($Amazon
X.Warrior	X_Warrior
Rock 1234	Rock 1234

Choose wisely because a member name is forever. Later, you'll have an opportunity to create subaccount member names, so you can have more than one identity.

Click Next to choose a password for your account.

Create Account: Password

Choose your Mplayer password. It can be five to 16 characters length. When you choose a password, avoid using common words or names. A combination of characters (upper and lowercase), numbers, and symbols makes your password difficult for other people to guess.

When you sign on at Mplayer, you are asked for your member name and password. Your password prevents unauthorized people from using your account. Do not give anyone your password, including people who appear to be representing Mplayer, Mpath, or game companies.

After you choose a password:

- 1 Enter it in the Password box.
- 2 Enter it again in the Confirm Password box to make sure you typed it the way you wanted.
- 3 Click the Remember Password box, if you don't want to type your password every time you sign on at Mplayer.

Click Next to view billing plan information and instructions.

Create Account: Billing Plan Instructions

Your billing plan determines how you are billed for the time you spend at Mplayer. Read the information on the screen.

At any point, you can

Welcome to Mplayer

Welcome to Mplayer's Sneak Preview. Beta was a big success and many of the suggestions that you made have been incorporated. Throughout Sneak Preview, you are encouraged to play as much as you like. You will not be charged nor obligated to purchase anything for the duration of the testing period.

To make this an effective Sneak Preview, we ask that you participate and provide feedback when appropriate. During the process, you may be asked to take a survey which will help us to improve the product.

To provide feedback:

- n If your Internet connection and web browser are working, please provide feedback at our web page -- <http://www.mplayer.com/mplayer-feedback.html>.
- n If you prefer sending your feedback through email, our email account for feedback is mpathbeta@mpath.com.
- n If your PSI Internet connection isn't working, contact PSI directly at (717) 770-1705.

Why wasn't I included in the game launch?

You have to click Ready To Play? to be part of a game launch. The icon next to your name on the roster tells you whether you are going to be part of the launch.

Show me the icons.

My microphone's not working right!

Here's a long but informative discussion about setting your microphone gain. It gives you insight into your Soundblaster soundcard, too (if you have one). You can use it to figure the best setting for other soundcards, too.

When you double click on the little speaker in the system tray you see the mixer panel. This has some slider knobs. Did you know:

- n There are 3 different panels (AUDIO OUT, RECORD, VOICE COMMAND)
- n You can select different sliders on each of the three panels
- n You make this selection by selecting PROPERTIES in the file menu

An interesting point to note is that you are either looking at the Audio Out sliders or the record sliders. You never see both on the same screen. This is made confusing by the presence of a MICROPHONE slider on both screens.

If you don't see a MICROPHONE slider, check the properties again. There are little check boxes to enable individual sliders. There is an OUTPUT slider, and a RECORD slider.

To have a great microphone experience you need to:

- 1 Display the audio OUT sliders.
- 2 Turn down the MIC slider. All the way down. Mute it if you can.

On the OUTPUT slider window, the mic slider is your enemy. It feeds your MIC signal straight to the speakers via the analog mixer. This causes feedback. It makes your ears hurt. It irritates people around you. And it does not in any way increase the loudness of your voice as heard by people on the far side of Mplayer.

- 3 Display the RECORD sliders.
- 4 Find the MIC slider and turn it up. Do not mute it!

On the RECORD slider window, the mic slider is your friend. Even with it all the way up, you may not be as loud as you would like (but you might be, so check out your VU METER and stuff before going on.) Now that you muted the MIC FEEDBACK SLIDER, you can turn this puppy up as high as you like. You hear a squeal? Then go back and MUTE that output mic slider!

- 5 Just under the RECORD mic slider is a button "ADVANCED. Push it and turn on AGC (Automatic Gain Control). You hear a squeal? Go back and mute that OUTPUT mic slider! Tolerate no squeal! That AGC sure is nice, but now you are too loud. Check your Vu Meter.

Guess what? When the AGC is ON, the RECORD mic slider sets the maximum level! It's brilliant! Turn the AGC on, Crank the RECORD mic slider down until the Vu Meter is cool. You will never have to change your settings again!

You may have to crank the RECORD mic slider down pretty low if your mic is good and your AGC is powerful, but you can easily set your level with the Vu Meter.

Just The Facts

- n Don't be confused into thinking you can see output and record sliders on the same screen. There are two different microphone sliders. They are not the same thing.
- n The OUTPUT mic slider should be DOWN, OFF, MUTED to prevent feedback.
- n The RECORD mic slider should be set to make Vu Meter nice when speaking in a normal voice. IF AGC is off, this slider will probably have to be set pretty high. If AGC is on, maybe a lot lower setting will seem nice.
- n The AGC does NOT squeal if you were successful in setting the OUTPUT mic slider. The RECORD mic slider sets the max AGC level, when AGC is on.

About The VU Meter

There are green squares, yellow squares, and red squares. The scale is logarithmic (3dB per step, thanks to Mister Binary Numbers). TrueSpeech sounds great up until you hit red, then gets crackly. VoxWare sounds good in the green, wheedly in the yellow, and unintelligible in the red.

The Vu Meter is only displayed when you are recording speech (another indication that you are broadcasting embarrassing sounds you didn't realize you were broadcasting).

Everyone suddenly disappeared from the game room.

You probably entered a game room in which all the players had accepted the game offer. The game launched just as you entered the room. At this point, you can

- Continue chatting with other players in the room.
- Become the moderator and launch a new game.
- Click Ready To Play? to become part of the next game launch.

Leave and visit a different game room.

I logged in & couldn't change my member name.

You probably signed on as a subaccount member. If you want to change member names, you need to log out and sign on with a different name. You can only change member names while you are logged on with a master account member name.
