Flat Rabbit Software is composed of a group of highly dedicated professionals striving to bring you the very best in computerized entertainment and productivity products.   For the most part FRS is made up of engineers bring years of computer program development skills to each project.   However, we did have to sneak in one lawyer type to take care of all the "TM, ©, ®, wherefores, and hereas's".

The goal of FRS is to bring you products you can use, and to make using them easy.   To this end FRS uses "shareware" for the distribution of it's products.   Simply put, you are welcome to use these products and when (well, okay, if) you find them useful then you are obligated to pay for them. This system works wonderfully.   You get the opportunity to check out the program before you pay for it.   We get the opportunity to distribute our products widely and quickly.   Of course, this system does have two extra requirements for payment.   First, we have to provide a product worthy of payment.   Second, you are on your honor as to making that payment.   Of course, we do make things a little sweeter when you pay.   Check out the "Register->Incentives" menu option for an explaination of what you get when you register this program.

We at Flat Rabbit Software thank you for your interest in this program.   If you find it useful, please register.   If you have comments, we'd love to here from you.   Until we meet again...
