OddBalls

You might not want any of these folks as your neighbor-- but they'll work great in your design. Loopy characters of all types and stripes. Similar to our "Funny Bones" disc, but these are shot with image-appropriate backgrounds that add to the impact. What to look for: When shots like this are done with "people off the street", or even regular models-- they look amateurish, like they're "trying too hard". When they're done with skilled, highly trained character actors-- as here-- the result is high calibre imagery worthy of the professional use of humor in graphic design.
