Tool Chest

For over twenty years, "tools" have been some of our best-selling subjects. Why? Because a wrench is "leverage"; a plumb bob is "precision" and a hammer "hits hard". The trick is to photograph the tool with its metaphor in mind. That kind of experience-- and attention to the "message" a tool conveys-- is what makes these shots stand out from similar ones you'll see. What to look for: Variety of perspective (you won't find flat, boring knock-offs here) and effective light "sculpting" for three-dimensionality. Clipping paths.
