Curling for Windows - Important Information

Note: This file must be included with Curling for Windows. If it is not included, or is altered in any way, the program will fail to run.

Product Description

Curling for Windows allows two players to play a game of Curling. It is also intended as an educational aid to the novice, introducing the terms and strategy of the game.

In order to ensure that this program reaches you virus-free, it includes Virus Protection. Each time this program is run, a series of tests will be run on it. Almost all viruses will fail at least one of the tests. If any of the tests fail, a warning message will appear, and the program will fail to run. If this should happen, you would be well advised to purchase an antivirus software package, and use it to test your entire system.

It is worth repeating that the software will test itself, and only itself, for changes which may be due to a virus. The author accepts no responsibility for damage caused by a virus which is capable of circumventing the tests.
