Inherit The Earth. The Inherit The Earth adventure takes the players to the Earth of the future, where humans have disappeared and animals, known as Morph, live on as the inheritors of the planet's fate. Players control the escapes of Rif the fox in his quest to find the precious artifact the Orb of the Storms, which he has been accused of stealing.

What follows is an amazing journey by Rif through the Wild Lands and ultimately to the ancient ruins of the humans. This long journey will test all of Rif's skills of diplomacy, ingenuity, and action. Players assist Rif as he undertakes this dangerous adventure to save his loved one Rhene, and help him solve the mystery of the Orb of Storms and restore his good name.

Night Trap. Digital Pictures has released its interactive   CD-ROM game "Night Trap" in its original version on the Macintosh platform.   This full motion live-action interactive title was first released on Sega CD in 1992 and was one of the two top-selling Sega CD titles that year.   A 3D0 version was released earlier this year. "Night Trap" became embroiled in controversy last December when it was targeted by Senators Lieberman (D-Conn.) and Kohl (D-Wis.) as an example of violence in video games during the Senate sub-committee hearings.

As in the original, the Mac version of "Night Trap" is 100% full motion interactive video. Game play takes place inside a mysterious lakeside house and comes complete with vanishing co-eds, bloodless bodies and bizarre intruders.   The player is enlisted as the agent of a Special Control Attack Team whose mission is to rescue the unsuspecting house guests before they are tracked down and fed upon by the blood-lusting vampire intruders. Game play involves controlling hidden cameras, triggering secret traps and eaves-dropping on private conversations to pick-up coded clues.

Requirements: CD ROM Drive, 25Mhz 68030 or better, System 7 or greater, 256 colors

Citadel of the Dead. MircoLeage and R.J. Best have announced the re-release of Citadel of the Dead under the MicroLeague label.

Somewhere in the distant fantasy past is a mighty fortress known as the Citadel of Light, ruled by Kraelich, the Wizard of Light. The peace and tranquility of the fortress was broken when the evil wizard, Thadok and his demon army captured the surrounding lands and cast a powerful spell upon Kraelich, imprisoning him in the fortress' dungeon lost forever deep in the Dimension of Frozen Souls. Unable to destroy the fortress, Thadok has sealed all within allowing no escape.

Enter our heroes: Mac gamers the world over! Gamers will love the challenge of organizing and deploying a Mac rescue party to save the Wizard of Light and restore peace to the Citadel and surrounding countryside. All heroes must face 13 levels of deep labynthian dungeon and hundreds of hideous creatures and traps, protected by the most basic weaponry, dozens of magical spells, and their wits.

Requires: System 6.05 or later, 4 MB RAM, Color monitor. SRP: $24.95.

Funny Fruit Faces. Seven Hills Software introduces Funny Fruit Faces™—software that provides thousands of face making combinations for endless hours of fun! Using just the mouse, kids create goofy grapes, anxious-looking pears, sly bananas, and other wacky fruit characters from a huge selection of fruits, body parts, and accessories. Fruits can be viewed on-screen, or printed to create personalized coloring books.

Pictures and spoken instructions guide kids through the game so they can enjoy playing without adult assistance. Parents can rest easy that the graphics are age-appropriate and children cannot access sensitive computer files or settings.

Funny Fruit Faces works with any Macintosh that has System 6.0.5 or later, a hard disk, and 2MB memory for B&W or 4MB for color. The suggested retail price is $49.95.
