Once items have been added or removed from an Image Integrator library, the changed library may be saved. To save the changes made to the library, select the Save item from the File menu found on the Image Integrator palette. This saves the altered library by overwriting the previous version.