Ulead is a producer of award winning multimedia software in the international market. Founded in 1989, a handful of talented programmers had a vision of creating exciting software to enhance creative communication. Since then, "vision" has been the watchword of the company. All our programs use real world metaphors and images to help you see vague complex concepts as simple ideas that enable you to get your message across.

In 1990, we developed PhotoStyler, a sophisticated image processing program for graphics professionals. Aldus Corporation exclusively licensed the program from us in 1991. When Adobe Systems acquired Aldus in 1994, all trademarks and rights to PhotoStyler were sold.

In 1992, Ulead made a big splash in the retail market with ImagePals, an award winning image management tool that set the standard for others to follow. From there, Ulead expanded into the multimedia arena. Our first products were HQ-9000 and VideoStudio 1.0. A short time later, MediaStudio, a complete multimedia tool kit for those interested in the exciting word of digital video, and MorphStudio, where editing and special effects meld for miraculous animations were released.

Now Ulead's complete family of products is sure to meet anyone's most general or specific needs.

MediaStudio is ten integrated programs that comfortably work together to manage any multimedia project. The beauty of this system is that you can do specialized work using a small module instead of tying up system resources with memory reserved for unnecessary tasks. MediaStudio divides the programs into three categories:

Management - where organizing and viewing files is always in sight. Album, Multimedia Converter, Viewer, and CD Browser satisfy every need.
Editing - where your creative talents come to life. Image Editor, Morph Editor, Audio Editor, and Video Editor give you total control.
Capturing - where any image, video or audio source is yours for the taking. MediaStudio is TWAIN compliant and has Screen Capture, Video Capture, and Audio Editor to help you obtain anything.
