Providing the Finishing Touch for Design and Communication Professionals

No matter how much of a perfectionist you are, there comes a time when your Adobe file must leave your capable hands in order to be output to film, paper, the Web, CD-ROMs, or to broadcast video. And it's usually against a hotter-than-hot deadline. That's when it is time to insist on an Adobe Authorized Service Provider. They have Adobe's seal of approval—as well as an exclusive support program that provides them with Adobe products, fonts, and technical expertise—which means you can count on expert help to run your files. So before you hand off another great project you've created with Adobe's software products, use this list to reach an Adobe Authorized Service Provider who specializes in the quality and services you need. For best results, always discuss platform and production details with your service provider before beginning or revising a project.

Production Experts from Adobe® PostScript® to the Internet

Adobe Authorized Service Providers include award-winning commercial printing companies, color prepress trade shops, imagesetting service bureaus, slide and presentation service bureaus, media/video centers, photo labs, and Adobe Acrobat® scanning service bureaus. Many now offer technical expertise on the Internet as well. Depending on their type of business, Adobe Authorized Service Providers can output Macintosh and Windows® files created with Adobe PageMaker®, Adobe Photoshop®, Adobe Illustrator®, Adobe Acrobat®, Adobe FrameMaker®, Adobe Persuasion®, Adobe Premiere®, or Adobe After Effects®. You can also count on them to have the Adobe typefaces you've used in your files.

Using the listing

The handy Acrobat bookmarks to the left can be used to quickly select sections of the listing by country, then state or province. Within each state or province, the listings appear alphabetically by city and then company. Be sure to look for related areas that may not follow each other alphabetically such as West Hollywood, South San Francisco, or East Rutherford. New members join daily, so check Adobe's Web site for an up-to-the-minute list of Adobe Authorized Service Providers in the United States and Canada (www.adobe.com/supportservice/aasp/listing). Look for links to member Web sites for a complete description of services.

Tell us about your service provider

We're looking for a few great stories about how your service provider came through for you on a project created with Adobe software. Send your comments by electronic mail to aasp@adobe.com.
