Episode #002
THE CORBOMITE MANEUVER
Jerry Sohl
Original Air Date: 11-10-66
Director: Joseph Sargent

A robot space ship blocks the path of the Enterprise and then attacks. Kirk retaliates and destroys the mechanism. A manned vessel then appears, and the voice of a ghostly monster, Balok, declares that the Enterprise will have to be destroyed in counter-retaliation. Kirk tries a bluff; he tells the alien that corbomite in the hull of the Enterprise, if fired upon, would explode and destroy both ships. With a superior tractor beam, the alien ship takes the Enterprise in tow. . .and the battle of wits continues, until Kirk ascertains that the other ship has only one inhabitant.

---

Episode #015
THE MENAGERIE PT.1
Gene Roddenberry

Original Air Date: 11-17-66

Director: Marc Daniels (The Cage Segments Directed by Robert Butler)

In the original Star Trek's only two part story, Spock contrives to take over the Enterprise and set her course toward Talos IV, a planet off limits to the Federation, He kidnaps Kirk's predecessor, Captian Pike, and while not relinquishing control of the ship, he turns himself in for court martial and a sure death penalty. Pike is a victim of radiation poisoning, and while mentally alert, is physically no more than a vegetable. Spock attempts to explain his actions by showing visual records of Pike's last visit to Talos IV, where Pike had been captured, placed in a zoo, and invited to mate with first one Earth woman then another. Part of his tortures consisted of masterful illusions that made him see one woman as many different women (This story is an expanded version of the original pilot episode, "The Cage").

Episode #020

THE ALTERNATIVE FACTOR

Don Ingalls

Original Air Date: 03/30/67

Director: Gerd Oswald

After a puzzling moment when the stars simply wink out, the Enterprise crew discover a single life form on a planet below; his name is Lazarus. Soon, it is discovered there are two virtually identical Lazaruses, but never are they seen together. One is insane and dangerous, the other rational and in pursuit of his mad alter-ego. They are from parallel universes, one positive, the other negative; and if the two men should ever meet, both universes, ours and the other would be obliterated. Which is what the mad one hopes to do but which one is mad and which one is insane?

1.23 Yesterday is Today

Episode #021
YESTERDAY IS TODAY
D.C. Fontana
Original Air Date: 01/26/67
Director: Michael O'Herlihy

Due to an accidental time-warp, the Enterprise becomes a 20th Century UFO. They observe a fighter plane tracking them, note that the plane is in danger of exploding, and rescue the pilot by beaming him aboard. Dilemma: they can't return the pilot to Earth, for his story, if put on record, might change history; and they can't keep the pilot with them, because, according to history, he must have a son who will be a key figure in the development of space travel.

Episode #023
 A TASTE OF ARMAGEDDON
 Robert Hamner & Gene L. Coon
 Original Air Date: 02/23/67
 Director: Joseph Pevney

The inhabitants of Eminar II and those of Vendikar have found no solution to perpetual warfare, so, centuries ago, they devised a cold-blooded quasi-solution: instead of the chaotic destruction of real war, they rely upon computers to select likely targets. If the computer says a certain building "would" be hit, the "victims" obligingly disintegrate the citizens inside. This time, the computers found an unsuspecting target: the Federation ship in orbit above them, the Enterprise.

1.26 Space Seed

Episode #024
 SPACE SEED
 Gene L. Coon & Carey Wilbur
 Original Air Date: 02/16/67
 Director: Marc Daniels

Among those in suspended animation aboard the SS Botany Bay, there's Khan, a genetically superior dictator who, in the Eugenics Wars on Earth in the 1990's, at one time ruled a quarter of the Earth. Now, reawakened by the crew of the Enterprise--and nursed by an adoring historian, Marla, he plans to renew his aims of conquest. He starts by commandeering the Enterprise.

The second motion picture, Star Trek II--The Wrath of Kahn, was based on this episode.

Episode #028
 CITY ON THE EDGE OF FOREVER
 Harlen Ellison
 Original Air Date: 04/06/67
 Director: Joseph Pevney

McCoy makes an ill-advised jump through a time portal, ends up in 20th Century America, and does something that alters the course of history. Unless Kirk and Spock can go back and prevent McCoy's blunder, the whole history of space exploration, including the construction of the Enterprise, will not have occurred. Kirk and Spock go back into the 1930's to a storefront mission during the Depression and wait for McCoy to arrive. Meanwhile Kirk falls very much in love with the very woman who holds the key to the two possible futures and who must be prevented from meeting McCoy.
