Credit Card Security

There are several ways we protect your card.

First, if you choose to send your payment directly through your modem (an option you will have later) you will be automatically use a secure private dial-up network. These are private telephone lines to which only you have access. No one else can listen on these lines. Your transaction is as secure as it would be if you were making a hotel or rental car reservation over the telephone. Indeed, our transaction is even more secure than this, since we encrypt your credit card number before sending it to our network.

Second, your card will still be secure if you choose to send your payment over the Internet. As you may know, the Internet, unlike the phone system, is a public network which allows many users to see information that is sent through it. This means that without protection, your credit card information would be exposed to the public.

The good news is that we encrypt that is protect your credit card information with the strongest security algorithms available. We license this technology from RSA Inc., the world's leader in public key encryption technology. This means that when you purchase software using this system, your credit card is safe.

Finally, you should be aware that we do not store your credit card number anywhere on the computer you are using. Once you have completed a transaction, you can freely let others use your computer without worrying about whether they have access to your credit card information.

If you have further questions about how we protect you to make sure that no one can compromise your security, please contact us at info@releasesoft.com or (650) 833-0200.

Pay through Internet

If you have Internet access, this is the easy way.

Pay by Modem

The computer is going to use your modem to make a toll-free (within U.S. and Canada) call to Release Software Corporation. Be prepared for Modem Setup.

Order by Phone

If you don't have a modem or don't want to register this program electronically, you can call a toll-free telephone number 24 hours a day and register over the telephone.

If you are calling to register a program, tell the operator your "Personal Code" that appears below. The operator will tell you a secret "Unlocking Code." Enter it and press the right arrow. This program will automatically become a registered copy.

Order by US Mail or FAX

If you'd rather pay by check, then choose Order by Mail/Fax. With this option, you will print out an order form on paper. You can also fax your order if you want to pay by credit card.

Overview

This software application is set up to run in a trial mode or as a demo version unless it has been registered. Certain features may be inaccessible or the application, in part or whole, may cease to operate after the trial period has expired.

It has been determined that this software application is a copy of a registered version residing on another computer. To enable this application to run as a registered version on this machine, the registered users name and application serial number must be supplied.

Description

Name of Registered User

Name of the user to whom the application is registered. This must match the name given during the Sales Agent registration process.

Serial Number

The serial number of the registered software application. This should be available from the registered version of the application, usually in the About display.

OK Button

After entering the name and serial number, select this button to enable the application to run as a registered version.

Defer Button

If you do not have the name or serial number available, you may select this button to defer supplying the information. The application will run in trial/demo mode. The next time the application is started, you will be prompted for this information again.

Demo Mode Button

Selecting this button will cause the application to run in trial/demo mode. You will not be prompted again for the name and serial number.
