Mars Rover puts you in the pilots seat of the most advanced virtual space explorer created by man. Using your computer, experience the famous red planet from the comfort of your armchair. The surface racing beneath your rover, the canyon walls flashing past as you continue your explorations are all authentic reconstructions of Martian terrain data. When the rover stops you have full control to stop and carefully explore the alien environment. For Windows and Macintosh. Street price $29.95.

Distant Suns multimedia space program is a working model of the heavens on your desktop. Its a full-featured planetarium for finding objects in the sky -- even the new comets like Hale-Bopp. Its also a 3D model of the solar system. Hover near the planets, move your viewpoint high above the ecliptic and watch comets or spacecraft move. With hundreds of full-color pictures, over 60 minutes of space movies and the Nightly Grabbag (365 articles or projects of interest about every imaginable space topic), its an endless source of inspiration, wonder and knowledge about how the universe looks and works. For Windows only, CD only, about $50 street price.

Vistapro uses advanced fractal rendering to create stunning landscapes from digital elevation maps. Place a virtual camera on a topographic map and watch the view come to life! Add trees, water, snow, change the light; create photo-realistic pictures. Includes hundreds of digital maps of Earth and Mars plus a utility to make movies. IBM or Mac, CD or diskettes, about $50 street price

IBM or Mac, CD-ROM $399 30-station lab pack price is only available directly from Virtual Reality Laboratories.

Visions of Mars was produced by the Planetary Society. This CD is an exact copy of the one that will be flown to Mars in late 1996 aboard the Russian Mars Lander. It is a time capsule for future Mars colonists and contains a wonderful collection of Mars art, literature and even sounds. With over 70 books and short stories by famous authors, complete broadcast of the War of the Worlds with Orson Wells, pages of artists renditions of Mars, from comic books to oil paintings and personal greetings to the future colonists from Arthur C. Clarke, Carl Sagan and others, this collectors item is both interesting and historic. For IBM or Mac, CD only, about $35 street price.

Mars Explorer is a highly detailed color image of the surface of Mars. Choose from four magnification scales and the JPL images from Viking will be displayed. You can display feature names and even locate a feature by name. Using arrow keys allows you to scroll over the surface of the planet to examine details on the surface. For IBM (DOS) or Mac, about $35 street price.

Venus Explorer is similar to Mars Explorer, but with Venus data gathered from the Magellan spacecraft. Because of Venus thick cloud cover, the data is radar reflections, but these close-up views of our sister planet are the same ones scientists have been studying to discover Venus secrets. For IBM (DOS) or Mac, about $35 street price.
