This program is a program which I designed for my wife who is an art therapist. She is basically computer illiterate, so I made a program which is as idiot proof as possible. My goal is to refine this first little package into a marketable piece of software. I would like input from any health care or psychological provider who would like to use a program such as this. Since is version 1.0 written for an Art Therapist, I realize that many of you looking for such a program will find many limitations. I would like input in order to make a product which would cross all types of fields.

Send any suggestions to:
