

Windows 95
Freddy Krueger
Startup/Shutdown Screens, Mark II
Read Me.rtf File:

Well, this is nice. I'm so very glad you -- whoever you are -- wanted so much to have these new Freddy Krueger startup/shutdown screens on your Windows 95 system.

Okay, here's what you do:

- View the various .bmp files. Keep in mind, they'll look elongated due to Microsoft's extremely odd way of handling Startup/Shutdown screens.
- Move the opening.bmp -- using the DOS prompt; it's easier -- it to the C:\ home directory and rename it to: LOGO.SYS
- Then, type ATTRIB +S +H +R LOGO.SYS
- StartUp is now done.
- When you're ready, move closing.bmp and closed.bmp to the main Windows folder.

- Go to the prompt, in your main Windows directory, type:

```
ATTRIB -S -H -R LOGO*.SYS
DEL LOGO*.SYS
REN CLOSING.BMP LOGOW.SYS
REN CLOSED.BMP LOGOS.SYS
ATTRIB +S +H +R LOGO*.SYS
```

exactly as you see above, answering Yes to any silly questions or confirmations.

- Shut Down Windows all the way, then restart your computer. Enjoy!

--

The Umpteenth Doctor

chandlec@edisto.cofc.edu

<http://www.cofc.edu/~chandlec/page.html>

All things related to Freddy Krueger are copyrighted things. I don't own them. That's why I don't charge a bloody thing.