1. Lily Wong is not Garfield

You've obviously downloaded these files because you want to display lovely Lily Wong on your monitor. That's what I put them there for. But they're not meant to be free. Famous cartoon characters like Garfield and Snoopy earn their creators oodles of cash each time their images are sold on coffee mugs, shoelaces, chocolate bars and, yes, computer wallpaper and screensavers. Of course, I have neither a syndicate nor marketing clout. The only way I can get this image to you is to let you download it. I have no way of monitoring who has it, who's using it, and so on. I have no hired thugs (lawyers) to pounce on unauthorized users. Nevertheless, I am appealing to your sense of fair play to please register your Lily Wong wallpaper. Support "small-time" artists who work just as hard as Jim Davis, Charles Schulz and Garry Trudeau, but for about 0.00001% of the financial reward. Do you expect to receive free Peanuts® or Batman® products? Of course not! So register. It's cheap. Here's how:

2. Register your Lily

There are two advantages to registering your Lily Wong wallpaper:

- 1) You receive a clean conscience;
- 2) You receive free images in the future.

For only US$3.00 (yes, just three bucks), you can register your Lily Wong wallpaper. By registering, and providing your e-mail address, you will be entitled to receive at least one new Lily Wong screen saver or wallpaper image when it becomes available, sent directly to you via e-mail or FTP.

Simply print out the registration form and send in with payment. Your registration will be confirmed by e-mail.

Payment can be made by cheque (check) in US dollars (US$3.00), Hong Kong dollars (HK$23.40) or Singapore dollars (S$4.25). The equivalent amount in other currencies may be sent by cash, at your own risk. Sorry, but with banks charging US$13 to accept a foreign currency cheque, I obviously can't accept cheque payments in currencies other than the three above.

3. Colors and pixels

Images are formatted for 256 colors at 640x480 screen resolution. They will also work at higher resolution, but look smaller. If your monitor is set for 16 colors, Lily will look like she has a major case of skin rash.

4. Windows 3.x installation

1. Copy the files LILYWONG.BMP and/or SWIMLILY.BMP to your main Windows directory.
2. Open the Control Panel (in the "Main" program group).
3. Click on Desktop.
4. In the Wallpaper section, select CENTER. This is important! If you select TILE, the image will not align correctly!
5. From the Wallpaper drop-down list, select LILYWONG.BMP or SWIMLILY.BMP. If you don't see them listed, then either you have not copied the files properly to the Windows main directory, or your Windows is configured to look in another directory for Desktop images.

7. Go back to the Windows Control Panel.
8. Click on Color.

11. Select the color which matches Lily Wong's background. In most cases, this is the light blue in the second row, 5th from the left.
12. Click OK.
13. Reposition and/or resize your Program Group windows and other icons around Lily, so they don't overlap her.
14. In the Program Manager's Options menu, make sure "Save Settings On Exit" is selected.
15. Quit Windows and then re-start it.
16. In the Program Manager's Options menu, un-select "Save Settings On Exit".
