© 1996 Firas El-Hasan

AddLink is a shell enhancement for Windows 95 and Windows NT 4.x, which allows the user to easily add links, or shortcuts, to any folder in their Start Menu. Using AddLink is much more convenient than manually adding the shortcut through Explorer or the Taskbar. It greatly simplifies the process of having programs start up when Windows starts. Just use AddLink to add any program to the StartUp folder in the Start Menu, and that program will automatically run every time Windows starts up.

Directions

- Start AddLink
- Click on the Install button
- Exit the program
  - To uninstall, run AddLink again and click on the Uninstall button

To use AddLink:
- Locate any file or folder that you wish to add to your Start Menu
- Right click on it, choose Send To, Start Menu...
  - Select the Start Menu folder you wish to add the shortcut to, and enter the description
