

Near Metullah a winter stream falls down an embankment in Upper Galilee. During the winter months it rains in excess of 36 inches in much of Upper Galilee, so scenes like this are not rare. Only in the dry summer do the fields turn yellow from the sun, but ready to harvest (John 4:35).