

These artifacts demonstrate the relative wealth and prosperity of ancient Gamla. This type of lamp is well known from other first-century C.E. contexts. In other words, Gamla was not isolated from the trade networks of the day.