The store enables you to purchase not only CD ROMs, but also a huge range of books, videos and much, much more - all there for you to browse through using your Internet connection. Some of our titles have also been localised into other languages and more will become available on a regular basis. Dorling Kindersley also publishes award-winning, best-selling illustrated information books and videos for adults and children. See your local bookseller or DK Family Learning advisor for details. DK Family Learning is a sales operation that retails Dorling Kindersley CD-ROMs, books and videos through a network of self-employed advisors working on a commission-only basis selling direct to the public in homes, schools and offices. It offers an opportunity for individuals to make money by selling DK products to that vast sector of the population who rarely buy from bookshops. If you are interested in becoming an independent advisor please contact DK Family Learning in the US, the UK, Australia, Russia, South Africa or India at the addresses below and ask for more information. You will find below information about the English Language Suppliers, followed by Local Language Publishers
