

INTEROFFICE MEMORANDUM

DATE:	August 26, 1991	FROM:	Info. Center
PRODUCT:	WordPerfect	VERSION:	5.1
RELEASE DATE:	ALL
SUBJECT:	Tables - Ownership Of Lines Within Cells

Because each cell in a table can have a line of its own, lines may appear as if they are not changing. For example, if a user changes the top line for one row of cells from single to dashed, yet the line still shows as a single solid line, have them move to the row above and change the bottom line to a dashed line.
