NeXT Conversion Information

By: Doug Brenner <dbrenner@umaxc.weeg.uiowa.edu>
Date: January 1991
Notes: The font was known as ArchiMedium on the Macintosh; I changed this to Architecture-
           Medium.

Original Source Information

Site: um-mts.cc.umich.edu
Directory: pc2:
File: fo/architect
Author: David Ross

Original Author's Notes

Architecture Medium-font

I developed this font for use in my own architectural practice, looking to present a more "hand drawn" appearance to details and drawings printed on the laserwriter. The screen versions are marginal...I haven't spent any time touching up...but they are readable.

There are several other versions available :

Architecture light
Architecture bold
Architecture symbols

These can be very useful when preparing drawings and details.
If you would like the full set please send $25.00 to

D. Ross Associates
414 E. Cota
Santa Barbara, Calif.   93101

This font is free to use and distribute for non-commercial purposes.   If you feel so motivated you may send $25.00 to me at the address below and I will send you the latest versions, including Architecture Light, Bold, and the Symbols font, along with a greater variety (and cleaned up version) of screen fonts.

To use these fonts simply install whatever screen sizes you need into the system from the bit map file, then put the laserwriter version into your system folder-just like any other downloadable font.   Don't re-name anything though...use just as is.   If you have any problems you can leave me an E-mail message or drop me a letter.

Thanks to all those that may send $$...I am tired of being an architect and would like to be a wealthy playboy now.

David Ross