Description

The TCB_SortGrid enhances the TDBGrid as supplied by Borland. Because the TCB_SortGrid has a TDBGrid as its base, all the functionality of the TDBGrid is contained within the TCB_SortGrid. There are a few important changes to the TDBGrid.

- The TCB_SortGrid can be printed by using the separately sold Printit or Reportit from Caltz Bros.
- The grid can be sorted by clicking on a column's title
- Ascending sort by clicking on the left hand side of the column's title.
- Descending sort by clicking on the right hand side of the column's title.
- Revert to no-sorting by clicking in the middle of the column's title.
- DBImages can be displayed as images and not just as (graphic)
- DBMemos can be displayed as text and not just as (memo)
- Rows can be resized.
- Tables can be sorted if an index exists
- Queries can always be sorted.
- Supports the sorting of the detail in a master-detail relationship.

AllowSort

DisplayDBImage

DisplayDBMemo

AllowSort Property

Applies to

TCB_SortGrid component

Declaration

property AllowSort: Boolean;

Description

Indicates if sorting is allowed in the TCB_SortGrid. The default is True. If sorting is allowed then the sort cursor appear when the cursor is moved over the titles of the grid. and sorting takes place when the user clicks the left button when the sort cursor is displayed.

SortCursors

Applies to

TCB_SortGrid component

The following 3 additional cursors are included for the TCB_SortGrid. They appear when the property AllowSort is set to True and the cursor is moved over the Grid Titles:

This cursor indicates that the sort order will be in Ascending order ie. from A to Z

This cursor indicates that the sort order will be in Descending order ie. from Z to A

This cursor indicates that there will be no sorting. It is usually used to revert back to an editable grid (See limitations on the Contents page)

Limitations

Applies to

TCB_SortGrid component

The contents of the TCB_SortGrid can be edited. The Grid cannot be edited when it is linked to a live Query on a non-SQL (Local) table. This is because of limitations in the BDE. However if the query is set back to non-sort mode by using the cursor then the grid can be edited again.
