Poesitro - the Guide!

[illegible]

Greetings

1.2 install

First of all, dFX can not be held responsible for any damage you think Poesitro might have caused. Just in case :-)

We have successfully tested Poesitro with the following configurations:

A4000/060-50/18MB
A4000/030-25/6MB
A1200/020-28/6MB
A1200/020-14/2MB

If you experience problems with Poesitro, contact us.

To install poesitro, just unpack the Poesitro.lha-file into an empty directory.

To run poesitro, just CD to that directory and type "execute poesitro".

Good luck!

1.3 intro

Introduction

Welcome to Poesitro!

I (Dep) hope this guide will give you all the answers. If something is unclear, please contact us!

Let's rip this off in the normal question-wise format:

What is Poesitro?

Poesitro is an interactive production, released with only one intention:

- To spread good poetry and texts! -

For your convenience, the lyrics have been splitted into 3 different categories. They are:

- depressive lyrics (dark)
- lyrics in some way connected with love (love)
- miscellaneous lyrics (misc)

The texts are written by both dFX-members and other persons/groups, both in Swedish and English.

We hope you will like our mixture of lyrics!

(all texts written by members of dFX are copyrighted by them)

Uhh.. Poetry?

Yes! This is a very nice form of art, and if you have never read poetry before, this is definitely a good time to start!

---

So, how do I read it?

See the Using Poesitro section for info on this.

1.4 using

Using Poesitro

The categories

When you start Poesitro, you will see a short introduction. Shortly after this, a picture and a mousepointer will appear on your screen. Clicking on one of the 4 large sections of the screen (displaying different graphics) will take you to the category associated with it.

The dFX-choice contains no lyrics, it's a presentation of the group, with some fun-to-know-things.

To exit, just click the exit-box in the middle of the screen.

The lyrics

Once you have selected a category, your disk will load and unpack the data associated with that category. This can take some time if you have a slow system and no fast ram.

You will then be presented a list of the texts available for this category. Use the arrow keys to choose the text you want to read, then press return. This will put you in Readmode.

To return to the categories-screen, just select the "Return To Main"-entry or press Escape.

Readmode

In readmode the arrow keys are used to scroll texts which are bigger than the screen.

To return to the list of texts, press return.
