Overview

LPCView is a program that lets you graphically create, view, and edit pitch analysis files.   It uses programs used by Paul Lansky to create data sets based on a given input sound.   Once the data files have been created, LPCView allows you to view and edit them in an interactive manner.   The files can be zoomed, changed, played (in the case of pitch analysis files), and printed.