

Introduction:

This application was designed to help the user visualize the relationship between a function and its derivative. One of several functions is displayed. The user is asked to determine the shape of the derivative of the function. A tangent line is automatically drawn on the function curve and is controlled by a slider to help the user in the construction of the derivative. A score is generated based upon the user's accuracy.