Thanks

Thanks go to:

Several netters were kind enough to send me suggestions (most of them polite) on how to do several things I was finding difficult.   I've always appreciated the net culture and the friendly way people help one another. Thanks to each of you who answered my questions and pleas for help.

In addition, I'd like to thank for having the vision to provide such a fine system.   We complain and gripe about a lot of things, but the NeXT with NeXT Step is still the finest thing for programmers that I've ever seen and I've been around since we wired boards to program computers and have programmed everything from an 088 Collator to a Z80 chip to a Cray.

Steve Jobs
