

Date: Tue, 13 Jul 93 20:09:16 CDT
From: Eric's NeXT Fortune <fo6r@midway.uchicago.edu>
To: NeXT-icon@gun.com
Cc: fo6r@midway.uchicago.edu
Subject: Art is Everywhere - (except perhaps on Windows 3.1...)

Enscribed on the archway above the entrance to the Fine Arts Cinema is the statement "Only Art Endures." Well, I hope that some of this staying power rubs off on our lovely NeXTSTEP machines as we proudly display these artsy fartsy tiffs. Enjoy! ENDURE!

Rothko canvases are simple to iconize. Color might be a bit more entertaining. Several people told me how to have some Alpha channel action, so here's a second, perhaps more entertaining tiff.
Grapes are a common item in art pictures throughout time.
Ben Spide arachnid investigator. The invention of Richard Polt, this gumshoe has solved some of the biggest art and architectural crimes ever to cross the pages of a comic book.

- eric fortune
fo6r@midway.uchicago.edu
NeXTMail OK

Date: Sat, 17 Jul 1993 00:40:02 -0400
From: Scott Anguish <sanguish@digifix.com>
To: next-icon@gun.com
Subject: Re: Art-icons-Too
Reply-To: sanguish@digifix.com

Well...

Eric's Rothko canvas is timely... the cash strapped Canadian government just paid $1.8 Million for Rothko's Red #16... To bad we passed up the last publicly available Van Gogh 10 years ago for a mere $5 Million (now estimated at $100 Million)...