This one has a certain edgy quality - put this on your shelf and the eyes follow you around the room.

NeXTtv -> TIFFany 1 -> IconBuilder

I used TIFFany to select and stretch the image and get rid of some of the video noise. IconBuilder made the whites of the eyes whiter. The eyes belong to a newscaster on a local NYC news show.

I hope that you all have had fun with this e-mail group. I don't know about everyone else, but I get very strange looks from people that see my File Viewer shelf for the first time.

I've also included the icons for my Apps directory, derived from this icon. I tend to superimpose the name of the folder on some of the more nonsensical images I use. Because IconBulder doesn't let you use transparent paint I had to create a second image with just the text, change the text paint to a semi-transparent color, and pasted it on top of the face.

Later,
Tim
